FRENCH ASSEMBLY GIVES MENDES-FRANCE VOTE OF CONFIDENCE ON GERMANY

PREMIER WINS BY WIDE MARGIN IN BALLOTING ON REICH REARMING

350 for, 113 Against Motion — Many Speakers Urge Tightening London Plan to Control Bonn Forces.

PARIS, Oct. 12 (AP) — The French National Assembly today gave Premier Mendes-France a resounding vote of confidence, indorsing the London accords for West German rearmament.

Official results gave the Premier 350 votes against 113 opposed. An absolute majority is 314. Of the opposition votes, as expected, 99 came from the Communists. Abstentions, mostly by deputies of the Popular Republican Movement, totaled 152.

The vote reversed the position of the Assembly which, on Aug. 30, killed the European Defense Community plan to rearm Germany as a member of a continental defense force. The vote then was 319 to 264 against EDC.

Proposal Supported.

With its vote the assembly indorsed the principles of the nine-nation London plan to bring West Germany into an expanded Brussels treaty and into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Brussels treaty, signed in 1948, includes Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. The plan now is to add West Germany and Italy.

But many speakers in the debate which preceded the ballot made it clear large segments of French opinion want the London plan amended or tightened up to put more controls on any new German army and to provide more political and military integration.

Foreign Ministers of the nine nations who met last month in London will meet here Oct. 21 to continue their discussions on details of the plan. Experts would then draft a treaty text for ratification in the various national parliaments. Mendes-France has said he wants to submit it to the French Assembly before the end of the year.

Paul Reynaud, wartime premier who was a leading advocate of EDC, severely criticized Mendes-France, saying the Premier had only succeeded in reviving an independent German army. Addressing the Premier, Reynaud said:

"If you spent half as much energy getting the EDC through Parliament as you have in getting an independent German army, you could have saved the EDC."

Urges Amendments.

Reynaud insisted that, however the vote might turn out, a heavy majority of the Assembly oppose the rebirth of an autonomous German army and want the London accords amended to prevent this.

Rene Pleven, who as Defense Minister four years ago formally proposed the EDC, said France still requires assurances against an independent German army, and guarantees similar to those in EDC should be written into the London plan.

The Socialist party's national executive council assured Mendes-France of victory last night when its members voted to authorize the 100 Socialist deputies to support the Premier.

But just before the vote deputies of the MRP, a Catholic party slightly left of center, announced they would abstain. The MRP, the party of Georges Bidault and Robert Schuman, held the view the London agreement did not go far enough toward political unification of Europe. But Mendes-France had not counted on MRP support.

There have been increasing signs that the Socialists may be taken into Mendes-France's coalition Government. The Premier has expressed the desire for the party's support and had made efforts to meet its position on both international and domestic affairs.

Mendes-France staked the life of his Government on the confidence vote. Failure to gain a majority would have meant his resignation and possibly new national elections.

Colorado Has Snow.

DENVER, Oct. 12 (AP)—Several high Colorado mountain passes were covered with snow today. The state patrol reported slick roads in the Vail pass area, where three inches of snow had fallen; in the Leadville-Dillon area, where two inches coated the ground, and at Climax near the summit of Fremont pass, where the snow measured four inches.

U.S. SAYS RED ARMS PLAN CONCEDES ONLY ONE POINT

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 12—New Russian proposals for disarmament and ultimate elimination of nuclear weapons "appear to open an avenue for further discussion," James J. Wadsworth, deputy United States representative, told the United Nations Political Committee, today. He added, however, the Kremlin had compromised clearly only on one issue.

"We recognize that on one, and only one, important matter the Soviet has taken a clear and unambiguous tone which somewhat narrows the differences which have separated the Soviet Union and the free world," Wadsworth said in a five-point summary of American views of the revised Russian proposals.

"The Soviet Union now has conceded that 50 per cent of the agreed reduction in armed forces and conventional armaments may take place before any action to prohibit nuclear weapons," he said.

Wadsworth recalled that Andrei Y. Vishinsky said the Soviet did not contemplate a system of control which would inspect all places which might be potential arms producers such as "button factories which turned out weapons to kill Germans," during World War II. By that construction, a nation could prevent inspection by posting signs: "Keep out—button factory," Wadsworth pointed out.

As to an international control agency with reasonable powers to enforce its decisions and discipline transgressors, Wadsworth said Vishinsky, in his speech yesterday, "thoroughly dispelled that hope" by giving responsibility for punishment to the Security Council where the veto privilege exists.

"He made it clear the control organ, where there is no veto, could do nothing to punish violations," Wadsworth continued "No violations can be

HURRICANE HAZEL HITS HAITI, MOVES TOWARD CUBA

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 12 (AP)—Hurricane Hazel thrashed across the western tip of Haiti today and moved northward toward eastern Cuba, about 100 miles away. Its forward pace was about eight miles an hour.

The United States Navy ordered all civilian personnel to evacuate its big base at Guantanamo bay. Ships put out to sea to ride out the storm.

No reports have been received here on damage in Haiti, but Port-au-Prince, the capital, was unscathed.

Winds of 115 miles an hour covered only a small area near the center of the hurricane but gales reached outward 125 miles in all directions.

Hazel now is 675 miles southeast of Miami. The Weather Bureau said there is only a slim chance that it would curve toward the mainland but the possibility has not been ruled out. After Cuba, the next land in the hurricane's path, if it continues its present course, will be the southeastern Bahama islands.

TRIESTE PARTITION DIVIDES HOUSE INTO 2 COUNTRIES

TRIESTE, Oct. 12 (AP)—Farmer Luca Eller watched sadly today while an Allied commission put his kitchen in Italy and the rest of his house, along with the vineyard apd ox stall, in Yugoslavia.

The British-American-Yugoslav commission painted a yellow stripe up one side of the house, across the roof and down the other. It marked the new border agreed upon in settling the Trieste free territory dispute.

Eller, an Italian, pleaded with commission members to leave his whole house in Italy, but the Yugoslav members would not agree.

Farmer Giusto Samec moved out of his house recently after being told it would got to Yugoslavia. Today the commission readjusted the border by 40 yards and put Samec's house back in Italy. He and his family moved back in.

BRUSSELS TREATY GROUP TO BE GIVEN A NEW NAME

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Brussels Treaty Organization is to be renamed the Western European Union if Italy and West Germany are admitted as new members, the British Foreign Office said today.

A spokesman said the title was agreed upon by the seven members of the projected alliance. In addition to the two ex-enemy states of World War II, it will include the five original Brussels nations — Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

'UNITY' STRESSED IN PACT BETWEEN MOSCOW, PEIPING

New Agreement Calls for Consultation in 'Every Case' of Mutual Interest.

MOSCOW, Oct. 12 (UP)—The Soviet Union and Communist China were aligned today under a new agreement of "mutual understanding" seen in Moscow as the answer to the West's Southeast Asia defense treaty.

The agreement, announced in Peiping yesterday, calls for consultation between the two Communist states in "every case" of mutual interest.

A "complete unity of views" by Russia and China on the international situation was reported in a joint communique. The 3000-word declaration went on to condemn United States influence in Formosa as well as the Southeast Asian defense treaty.

Suggests Confeernce.

The joint communique suggested a new international conference on Korea's future and announced Soviet withdrawal from Port Arthur, the valuable Manchurian port west of Japan. Port Arthur has been under foreign occupation for almost a half-century.

Russia and China extended to Japan a joint invitation offering to normalize relations and develop "extensive trade."

The agreement consisted of eight declarations and communiques. It covered closer physical ties through scientific, technical and industrial aid from Russia and a new rail link.

It was negotiated in Peiping, the Communist Chinese capital, by Soviet Communist party First Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

Technical Co-operation.

Mikoyan and Chinese Vice Prmier Li Fu Chun signed the five-year agreement on scientific and technical co-operation between the two countries. Specialists will be exchanged by the two nations to give technical assistance and acquaint each other with their achievements.

The agreement also provided for the Soviets to lend another $130,000,000 to Communist China for industrial development and a boost of previously agreed shipments of Soviet goods to China by $100,000,000.

The communique said that the Soviets were withdrawing from four "mixed" Chinese-Soviet companies in non-ferrous and rare metals, oil, shipbuilding and civil airlines.

China has "accumulated the necessary experiences and can themselves direct the operations of the enterprises," the communique said.

Film Double Doesn't Care to See Eisenhower---He's a Democrat

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12 (INS)—A Hollywood studio gatekeeper and ex-cowboy actor, who is doubling for President Eisenhower in a new movie, says he has no "particular" desire to meet the President.

His reason? He is a Democrat.

Al Steele, 58-year-old bit player and a deadringer for Mr. Eisenhower, portrays the chief executive in "The Long Grey Line," a motion picture depicting life at West Point. The scene which features Steele as the President was shot some weeks ago, but the event has been kept a deep, dark secret at White House request.

"They didn't shoot me full face," Steele said. "Maybe my profile looks more like the President."

Asked how he would like doubling for the President in real life, Steele said:

WELDON SPRING SITE CHOSEN BY AEC FOR URANIUM PROCESSING UNIT

$33,300,000 Plant in St. Charles County to Be Operated by Mallinckrodt Works — 1300 to Be Employed.

Selection of the Weldon Spring Ordnance Works site in St. Charles county for a $33,300,000 uranium processing plant, to employ about 1300 persons, was announced today by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The facility, scheduled for completion within three years, will be operated by the Mallinckrodt Chemical Works of St. Louis, which since early in World War II has operated uranium processing facilities at 65 Destrehan street, adjoining the main Mallinckrodt plant here.

The AEC announcement, made by S. R. Sapirie, manager of the commission's Oak Ridge (Tenn.) operation, said that another $6,500,000 would be spent to enlarge processing facilities at the Destrehan street plant.

Feed Materials Plant.

Function of the Mallinckrodt operation, known as a "feed materials plant," is to convert high-grade uranium ore and concentrates into highly purified uranium compounds or metal. The AEC said completion of the new facilities "will substantially increase the nation's production of these materials for use in atomic energy programs."

Only about 200 acres, at the east end of the 2100-acre Weldon Spring manufacturing area, will be occupied by the new plant, which will consist of a purification unit, chemical unit, foundry and auxiliary facilities, the statement said.

"It will not be necessary for the AEC to purchase or reclaim any privately owned or occupied land," the announcement continued. "Operation of the new facility will not involve any noise, odors, waste or other characteristics which would be objectionable to neighboring areas.

"No environmental radiological hazard will be created and plant operations will be consistent with the high safety standards and records of similar AEC facilities."

Experiment Area Not Affected.

At Washington, AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss told United States Senators Thomas C. Hennings Jr. and Stuart Symington of Missouri that the Weldon Spring activity would in no way affect use by the University of Missouri of 8025 acres at the site, on U.S. Highway 40 west of the Missouri river, as an agricultural experiment station.

This acreage, part of an original total of 17,289 acres used for TNT production in World War II, was turned over to the university in 1947. Another 6944 acres went to the Missouri Conservation Commission for a game refuge, known as the August a Busch Wildlife Area.

The remaining "manufacturing area" of the site remained under Government control, and it is on this area that the uranium facility will be built.

Plant Design.

The AEC announcement said selection of an architectural engineering firm to design the new facilities was in progress, and that "a significant portion of the construction work is expected to be by contractors selected on the basis of competitive lump sum bids."

About 2000 workmen will be employed on the two St. Louis area jobs at the peak of construction, expected to be late in 1955, the AEC said. Average number of employes over the three-year construction period will be about 1000, it was said.

ANALYST FREED, BAIL CUT DESPITE U.S. PROTESTS IN SECRETS THEFT

Judge Reduces Bond to $10,000—Government Tells Court It May Be Years Before Damage Can Be Appraised.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 12 (AP) — Joseph S. Petersen Jr. was let out of jail today after his bond was cut from $25,000 to $10,000 despite Government protests that the charge against him is "just one step short of treason in seriousness."

Petersen posted a cashier's check after United States District Judge Albert V. Bryan reduced the bail under which Petersen had been held since last Saturday. The judge held the lower amount sufficient to assure the former Government scientist's appearance for trial.

Petersen, for 13 years an employe of the super-secret National Security Agency, is chargged with obtaining secret documents "with intent or reason to believe" they would be used to injure this country or to aid a foreign nation.

The foreign nation has not been identified, and Petersen's attorney, David B. Kinney told Judge Bryan that as far as he knows it could be "any country from Afghanistan to Zanzibar."

Had Sensitive Information.

Arguing against reducing the bond, John F. Reilly of the Justice Department's internal security division told the court, Petersen had available to him "some of the most sensitive intelligence information available in this country." In fact, Reilly said, the case is one of such sensitivity that he himself got a special clearance before entering the case.

The information available to Petersen, Reilly said, affected not only foreign affairs, but possible future military operations.

"There is no way at this time that the Government can appraise the damage these acts may have done to national security," Reilly said. "It may be years before we can."

Defense Attorney Kinney argued the $25,000 bail fixed by a United States commissioner was far in excess of the amount necessary to assure Petersen's appearance when wanted in court.

Kinney said that during World War II he worked side-by-side with Petersen in the National Security Agency and that Petersen always had been a law-abiding citizen who "had no intention of injuring his country."

Petersen, 40 years old, brought from the Alexandria city jail, was in court during the brief proceeding.

Guilt Not at Issue.

Judge Bryan said the question of Petersen's guilt or innocence was not before him, but only the question of the amount of bond required to assure his future appearance. The judge asked Reilly whether he had any information that Petersen, if freed on bond, might intend to leave the country.

Reilly replied he had no such information, but that the more serious the crimes are, the greater the possibility that this would be the case.

The judge then asked Reilly whether he had any reason to believe that Petersen, if released, "can continue the offense with which he is charged."

Reilly said that Petersen has knowledge of the inner workings of the National Security Agency and that he is less likely "to disclose what is in his head" if held in jail.

After the argument, Judge Bryan said he is of the opinion that $10,000 bond is sufficient.

Bond, the judge observed, cannot be used to punish a defendant in advance of conviction. And, he said, Petersen "stands absolutely innocent" unless and until he is convicted.

Kinney said Petersen's personal savings amount to less than $1000. He added, however, that the "life savings of his family" were available for $10,000 bond.

Petersen was dismissed by the National Security Agency Oct. 1.

JET PLANE FALLS; PILOT, 2 CHILDREN, MOTHER KILLED

CLINTON, Md., Oct. 12 (UP)—A mother and two small children were killed today by a jet fighter plane after its pilot had plummeted to death in an unopened parachute.

John W. Vaughan Jr., 24-year-old grocery clerk whose family was wiped out, was himself badly burned. His wife, Dorothy, died from burns less than four hours after a pilotless Air Force F-85 Sabrejet plunged into her backyard and exploded as she was hanging up clothes.

Her children, Dorothy, 4, and John III, 2, were killed instantly while at play.

The pilot, who bailed out just before the crash only to plunge to death in the woods, was Lt. Robert B. Sandberg of Wenatchee, Wash., stationed at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

DIXON-YATES CONTRACT GIVES RISK-FREE 9 PCT. RETURN TO POWER GROUP

COMBINE GIVEN RIGHT TO PLEDGE AGREEMENT TO PAY OBLIGATIONS

Deal Approved by FPC, General Accounting Office and in Most Details by TVA—Copies Sent to Congressmen.

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1954, Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—The long-secret Dixon-Yates contract contains numerous provisions giving the private power combine a virtual risk-free guarantee of earning 9 per cent on invested capital of $5,500,000, the Post-Dispatch learned today.

The controversial document has not yet been made public, but the Post-Dispatch obtained access to it. Copies were mailed yesterday to members of the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, scheduled to meet Nov. 4 to consider the Administration-sponsored power deal.

Draft Is Ninth One Drawn.

The Oct. 1 contract draft, the ninth to be drawn up in three months of negotiations, contains these main provisions protecting the Dixon-Yates combine against loss

That the contract lets the Dixon-Yates group figure Federal income taxes into its "basic capacity charge" to the AEC, although the agreement obeys a decision of Congress that the AEC eannot pay or reimburse the utilities directly for their federal income taxes.

That without the consent of the AEC, the Dixon-Yates group may pledge or transfer the contract at any time to pay off debts connected with construction of a $107,250,000 steam-electric generating plant at West Memphis, Ark.

The utilities group is freed to deliver electricity because of "cause beyond control of the company"—but the AEC must keep up its payments to the private group as if service had been continuous.

Approved by Agencies.

The controversial contract has been approved by the Federal Power Commission, the General Accounting office and the Tennesee Valley Authority, the Post-Dispatch learned.

The letters accompanying the contracts also disclosed that:

1. FPC Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall wrote to the Atomic Energy Commission Sept. 30 that the new draft of the agreement was "fair and reasonable to the Government."

2. Acting Comptroller General Frank H. Weitzel, head of the General Accounting Office, approved the contract's legality in a letter Oct. 5 to AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss.

3. Brig. Gen. Herbert D. Vogel, TVA chairman, assured Strauss Sept. 30 that he believed the contract would be "in a form satisfactory to TVA."

The Dixon-Yates group has formed the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. which would build and operate the steam-electric plant to supply 600,000 kilowatts of power to TVA in exchange for the same amount now supplied by TVA to the AEC for use at Paducah.

Approved Earlier Draft.

FPC's approval of the contract brought up to date its approval of an earlier draft. Acting Chairman S. L. Digby, in a letter Aug. 26 to Kenneth D. Nichols, AEC general manager, took note of the "specialized nature" of the contract. He concluded:

"The commission's technical staff has had the opportunity to review the plant construction costs and operating costs on which the contract rates are based, and has found them to be in line with current costs for large coal-burning steam-electric generating stations in the region. The staff has also reviewed the terms and conditions of the proposed contract and notes that, because of the special conditions involved, they are somewhat different from the normal utility contracts we are called upon to review.

"After consideration of all of the factors involved and viewing the contract as a whole, the commission is of the opinion that the proposed contract with the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. is fair and reasonable to the Government."

Weitzel, speaking for the General Accounting Office, withdrew earlier objections to the contract. He told Strauss that an amendment by Senator Homer Ferguson (Dem.), Michigan, specifically authorizing such contracts, made it a legal

Wilson's Dog Metaphor About Jobless Stirs Storm of Protest

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

'I've Always Liked Bird Dogs . . . One Who Will Get Out and Hunt for Food,' He Says.

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson was the center of a storm of protest today over a dog metaphor he used at a press conference yesterday in reference to the unemployed in labor-distressed areas.

Wilson told reporters that, while he had "a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change (unemployment) catches 'em . . . I've always liked bird dogs better than kennel-fed dogs. You know, one who will get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

After reading published reports of the "bird dogs" statement, CIO and United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther sent a five-page telegram to President Eisenhower, demanding that Wilson "publicly retract" the statement or "be asked to retire from public life."

Wilson made the remark in answer to reporters' questions on the placing of defense contracts in labor-distressed areas.

Trapscript Issued.

After stories of the press conference appeared in Detroit papers, the Michigan Republican State Central Committee, early today, issued what it said was a tape-recorded transcript of the unemployment part of the press conference. It follows:

"Question: Mr. Wilson, there's considerable criticism, that although promises have been made of defense work for distressed areas such as Toledo, it was brought up the other day when Dr. Flemming (Arthur Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization), was there, by Mr. Gosser (Richard Gosser, CIO United Auto Workers vice president) that they haven't had performance. Is it possible to actually put defense contracts into a city like Toledo?

"Answer (Secretary Wilson): You see, actually it's smart to put work where there's plenty of workmen. But this defense business of the country is too serious a business to look at it as though it was 'made work' and just something to dish out to keep somebody busy. It's too serious a business for that. And it's got to be placed where people can get it done.

"I'd like to tell you a story that happened to me—an incident that happened to me down in Washington—a group of people came in like you're talking about from a distressed area—so-called labor surplus area—and they pointed out that it was so classified. And one of them made the complaint, this is a little over a year ago, in addition, he said, 'You know, you've just reduced the draft. In our district there are 110 more young men that won't have to go to the Korean fight now and that'll add to our unemployment.' And the idea that a 19-year-old boy could be drafted and sent to Korea to be shot at and he didn't have

WILSON NOT COLD TO MISFORTUNE, SAYS PRESIDENT

Eisenhower Comments on Secretary's Dog Metaphor on Unemployment.

DENVER, Oct. 12 (AP) — President Eisenhower, commenting on Secretary of Defense Wilson's remarks about unemployment, said today he never has found Wilson "in the slightest degree indifferent to human misfortune."

The President said he is sure "initial newspaper reports did not fully reflect what Mr. Wilson said or meant" at a press conference in Detroit yesterday.

At that conference Wilson said that while he has "a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change (unemployment) catches 'em . . . I've always liked bird dogs better than kennel-fed dogs." He added: "You know one who will get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

When he read published reports of Wilson's remarks, CIO President Walter Reuther sent Mr. Eisenhower a telegram demanding that Wilson "publicly retract" the statement or "be asked to retire from public life."

No Reply to Reuther.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House Press Secretary, said in response to questions that Mr. Eisenhower had not replied "yet" to Reuther's telegram.

Snyder dictated to reporters an Eisenhower statement which said at the outset about Wilson:

Snyder said Wilson told him by telephone from Detroit that "it is ridiculous" for anyone to think he was applying his press conference remarks to the unemployment situation generally. Snyder went on to say, in effect, that the Secretary's remarks had a very limited application.

Snyder was asked here why Mr. Eisenhower felt it necessary to issue a statement on the Wilson episode before making any reply to Reuther's telegram.

"The fact remains that he (the President) made it," Snyder replied. "I don't probe the reasons."

Possible Political Impact.

Asked then whether Mr. Eisenhower was concerned about the possible political impact of Wilson's remarks, Snyder put this question of his own.

"Does the statement (by the President) reflect concern?"

Snyder got no answer on that one from the reporter who had put the question.

After declaring he never has

Speaker's Stand Rigged to Warn Windbag, Blast Him If He Goes On

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Oct. 12 (AP) — An "electronic lectern," a reading stand complete with stoplights and smoke bomb, quickly punctured the windbag who rambled on too long at a convention here yesterday.

Gadget-minded scientists at a meeting of the Standard Oil Development Co. required all speakers to use the special lectern.

An amber warning light flashed from the lectern when a speaker had two minutes left of his allotted time. A red light told him when his time was up. If he droned on after the final signal, fumes from a smoke bomb drove him to his seat.

SECURITY RISK FIRINGS REPORT SETS OFF A NEW POLITICAL UPROAR

Democrats Label It 'Hoax' and 'Rotten Politics'—Republicans Say It Backs Up Their Claims.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (UP) —The Administration's latest report on security risk firings set off a new political uproar today that is likely to rage until the Congressional battle is settled in the Nov. 2 election.

With the crucial balloting three weeks off, Democrats and Republicans lost no time in injecting the report into the struggle for control of the Eighty-fourth Congress. The report said 6926 Federal workers have been fired or had resigned under the Eisenhower Administration's loyalty-security program.

Republicans promptly said the report backs up their claim that the Administration has diligently ferreted out subversives and other security risks who wormed their way into the Federal service under 20 years of Democratic rule.

Democrats countered that the report was a "hoax" and "rotten politics." They said it was deliberately rigged to lure voters to Republican candidates next month.

2611 Outright Dismissals.

The report, issued yesterday by Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, said that the total number of ousters included 2677 outright dismissals and 4315 resignations.

The new total compared with the 2486 dismissals and resignations reported by Young last March.

Senator Olin D. Johnston (Dem.), South Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Senate Civil Service Committee, challenged Young to swear that the ousted employes include a "single Communist." He called the report "nothing but politics and rotten politics at that."

But Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said the report "completely vindicates" Vice President Richard M. Nixon in his statement that the Administration has been ousting Communists, fellow travelers and security risks from the federal payroll "by the thousands."

Noting that Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell had called Nixon a "liar" on the basis of a news account of this statement," Hall said:

"Mr. Mitchell is now left holding the bag. He is also exposed as having perpetrated an all-time high in political chicanery."

Mitchell retorted that President Eisenhower said some months ago that Communism-in-government would not be a campaign issue. Mitchell said this was before "the Maine election and before the prospects of a national defeat was brought before the President by his political advisers."

'Security Risk Hoax.'

"Since that time," he said, "the Republican leadership and the Republican National Committee, in a last minute effort to deceive the public, have revived the administration's security risk hoax."

He said that Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. asserted last December that the Administration had got rid of all Federal employes suspected of Communist tendencies and that Nixon later said it had finished "cleaning up the mess in Washington."

"Since Brownell and Nixon have made these speeches, the number of so-called security risks has grown in the Republican garden from 2400 to 6900," Mitchell said.

"Are we to conclude from these figures that the Eisenhower Administration has added 4500 subversives to the Government payroll since Brownell said they had all been cleaned out and dismissed?"

By the Associated Press.

Chairman Edward H. Rees (Rep.), Kansas, of the House Civil Service Committee said the Administration is preparing a report on the 1743 dropped for subversive activities or associations.

Rees said the report will set forth specifically what constitutes subversive actions. The report, being prepared by the Civil Service Commission, "is presently being given a security clearance by the Department of Justice," he said.

Rees said in a statement issued by his office that he requested the report and fixed an Oct. 20 deadline for its submission to his committee.

Rees said Young's annoucement that 1743 employes were separated for subversive activities or associations underscores "the importance of the prompt action taken by the Eisenhower Administration."

"I am particularly interested in just what type of background information was available in the past with respect to employes who went 'sour' in the service," he said.

"I believe, in most instances, we will find there was adequate advance notice of the subversive activities, the subversive association, or the membership of subversive organizations of Federal employes who have sold out their own country to foreign countries.

"I refer particularly to such individuals as Alger Hiss, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, the Rosenbergs, and others."

Neither the new report nor the last previous one issued in March gave any indication as to how many suspected subversives had been fired and how many resigned, nor whether in the latter category there had been hearings to determine whether allegations against the separated employes were valid.

"A commission with adequate powers would of necessity also have the authority to take effective action whenever it found a violation," Wadsworth argued. "We do not infer by this that the commission would have its own army which could be used to punish a violator.

"It would, however, have certain powers including the right to suspend allocations of fissionable material to an offending country and to close down factories utilizing fissionable materials," Wadsworth said.

Vishinsky yesterday asserted specifically that such action must be directed only to the Security Council where it would be subject to veto.

Question of Timing.

On the question of "timing" or determining stages when specific steps toward disarmament and final abolition of nuclear weapons are to undertaken in the arms reduction program, Wadsworth said that the Russian suggestions that nuclear arms be abolished and controls imposed "simultaneously" are "merely vague and requires further study."

Simultaneous is "a pretty word," he added, "but as we have pointed out on many occasions, in this context it is literally meaningless. Mr. Vishinsky in his statement yesterday gave a new meaning to the word. He said that prohibition of nuclear weapons and the institution of international controls must be completed within the same period.

"In other words, we must simultaneously complete building the house and moving into it. This, of course, is an improvement on the old Soviet proposal to move into the house before it is built. But suppose it never does get built? Mr. Vishinsky has substituted for his old formula, which was impossible, a new formula which is merely vague and requires further study."

Wadsworth said he was uncertain whether he understood Vishinsky's proposal for arms reduction from 1953 levels of armed forces and budgets to agreed levels in two stages. The American delegate said he had "studied the paragraph in English and French" and to him "it had no meaning whatever."

"How do we determine the levels to which armed forces are to be reduced?" Wadsworth wanted to know.

"We are still hopeful these Soviet proposals represent an important step in the direction of an agreed disarmament program. They must, however, be clarified and elaborated. Large segments of the disarmament program are not touched at all in these proposals.

"This was clearly pointed out by the representatives of the United Kingdom and France. There is a tremendous amount of hard labor ahead of us before we can turn any of the proposals now before the general assembly or the disarmament commission into a practical disarmament program.

Regard for Security.

"If the Soviet Union has really abandoned its policy of disarming the free world without disarming the Soviet bloc, this is indeed a change of policy. Until the Soviet Union shows some regard for the security of other states, until the Soviet Union looks on disarmament as a means of avoiding war rather than as a stepping stone to strategic advantages for itself, there can be no progress toward disarmament.

"The first ray of hope that we have received in many years from the Soviet Union was the proposal made last month by the Soviet representative to this assebly. The ray was considerably dimmed, but not extinguished entirely, Mr. Vishinsky's statement yesterday."

The United States is motivated by four ideas, Wadsworth continued. First, it wants disarmament; second, the conviction that a way to that goal may be found; third, sincere eagerness to rid the world of the threat of nuclear war, and, fourth, universal peace and security.

To that effect, the United States insists on a disarmament plan which will cover all arms from bayonets to high explosives, nuclear or otherwise and will continue the demand for provision in the plan for adequate safeguards to make certain national pledges are carried out.

Avenue Opened.

"The present Soviet proposals do appear to open an avenue for further discussion," Wadsworth concluded. "It must be emphasized that these proposals, like past Soviet proposals, are merely a beginning. We hope there has been a real change in the Soviet outlook, a change that will make possible measureable progress toward the goal a genuine and lasting peace.

In a brief exchange when Wadsworth concluded, Vishinsky argued that a disarmament enforcement and atom control agency could not have powers of punishment as any breach of treaty would constitute a threat to peace. Dealing with that was in the sole province of the Security Council, he said.

Wadsworth replied that Vishinsky now confirmed speculation that the Kremlin would not permite enforcement without veto.

In his explanation yesterday, Vishinsky said Russia had no intention of standing on its demand for one-third arms reduction across the board, and "still favored proportional reduction" by great powers on pre-determined levels.

Vishinsky declared Russia had proposed the "simultaneous" creation of an enforcement agency with a treaty on controls and the prohibition of weapons of mass destruction. Although, the Kremlin had never proposed a world disarmament conference, it was not opposed, he said, adding: "As we cannot reach agreement on our basis, we accept your basis.

"This does not mean that we accept all your conditions. This is not unconditional surrender."

As early as 1947 and even earlier the U.S.S.R. "had the atomic weapon." Vishinsky crowed, but had persevered in demanding the prohibition of those weapons and the establishment of international control. Therefore, he continued, Moscow had not altered its consistent "policy for peace" by accepting the Anglo-French document as a basis for negotiation.

"With some changes, the French-United Kingdom suggestions of last June are not "contradictory to the principles defended by the U.S.S.R. on arms reduction and the prohibition of mass destruction," he said. He said the Geneva conference, at which an Indochinese truce was attained with the aid of Peiping (Red) China had "proved the efficacy of international parleys.

Most Notable Reverse.

The Soviet Union still favored unconditional prohibition of nuclear weapons, Vishinsky went on, but would not insist on that as a first step for disarmament negotiations. This was the most notable reverse of the Soviet "new look," but Vishinsky found that, in complicated fashion, it was a Russian suggestion to get on with disarmament anyway.

He pointed out that both the Franco-British proposals and the new Russian scheme provided for two 50 per cent arms cuts to "agreed norms" from 1953 levels, but that the West's plan did not call for the same scale reduction in military budgets. He said any difference in timing of arms reduction and a treaty abolishing weapons of mass destruction was immaterial.

U.S. OFFICIALS IN FORMOSA TO DISCUSS MORE AID

'Little War' Subsiding, but Refugees Say Chiang's Planes Bombed Canton.

TAIPEH, Formosa, Oct. 12 (UP) — Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson arrived today to discuss further United States financial aid for Formosa with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Robertson arrived as the "little war" between Nationalist and Communist China appeared to be quieting down.

(However, refugees arriving in Hong Kong today report that Chinese Nationalist planes on Monday bombed Canton's White Cloud airfield, the largest in Communist-held South China. They said they had no knowledge of the casualties or damage inflicted by the Nationalist raiders.)

Robertson was accompanied by Frank Turner of the Foreign Operations Administration and Walter McConnaughy, director of the State Department Office of Chinese Affairs.

Robertson's visit follows the completion of a far-reaching study of the Nationalist economic situation by a team of American experts invited here by the Chiang government.

The group was headed by Robert Steffan. Last week, it forwarded its recommendations to the Nationalist government, with a duplicate reported sent to the United States Government.

The Steffan report was unofficially described as taking a rather optimistic view of the Nationalist financial policy as a whole. But it recommended overhauling some parts, as well as greater co-ordination among government agencies.

Meanwhile, the official Central News Agency said more than 300 small craft had been moved from Shanghai moorings on the Red-held mainland to the Chushan islands. In addition, it said more than 5000 newly trained and equipped troops from Shantung province have arrived in the islands. The Chushans are north of the Nationalist-held Tachen islands.

Gen. Chang Yi Ting, Nationalist military spokesman, said there were no new developments at Quemoy, a trouble spot in the past few weeks. Scattered artillery duelling continued there.

Chang announced that the daily press briefings on the "little war" which started Sept. 3 will be discontinued "until a new situation of significance" developed.

(In Washington, the State Department refused to answer questions about Robertson's surprise trip to Formosa. The Associated Press said he is expected to smooth ruffled Nationalist feelings over the reported American request to limit attacks on the Red mainland to guerrilla-type raids.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—A former high school teacher and newspaper man in the Ukraine told a subcommittee of the House Committee on Communist Aggression yesterday how he aided in exhuming the bodies of 9439 people killed by the Soviet secret police between 1938 and 1940 and dumped into mass graves in his native city of Vinnytsia.

Petro Pavlovych told the subcommittee his father-in-law, arrested in 1938, was later identified among the bodies by the boots he wore.

The witness testified that after the Soviets had left the Ukraine and a Nazi administrator had been appointed for the city of Vinnytsia during World War II, a delegation of the residents obtained permission to investigate suspected mass graves in areas that had been placed off limits by the Communists.

Tells of Grave Sites.

Pavlovych, a member of the Ukrainian commission that investigated the Vinnytsia massacre, testified that 39 graves containing 5644 bodies were found in a pear orchard just outside the city; 42 graves containing 2405 bodies in a wild, overgrown section of an orthodox cemetery in the city's outskirts, and 14 graves containing 1390 bodies in a recreation park where he described as the Coney Island of Vinnytsia.

Pavlovych said the commission had also investigated a garage on the grounds where the NKVD had its headquarters, and found evidence that the garage had been used as the place of execution.

He said the victims had been shot through the back of the neck and the head and many of them had their hands tied behind their backs. He said a document was found ordering the executions but that in a space provided for reason of the executions, only a code number was used.

Displaying racks of photographs taken at the time, Pavlovych said that when the bodies were exhumed in June 1943, by his commission, "thousands and thousands of persons came from all over the Ukraine in an effort to identify some of the bodies."

Anti-Discrimination Plea.

Another witness, Joseph Schwarz, Brooklyn, N.Y., told how he had interceded without success with Ilya Ehrenburg, Communist Jewish writer, to relieve the discrimination displayed against Jews by Soviet authorities in a Moscow factory during the war.

He said that instead of relief he had been dismissed from his job, arrested and shipped in a boxcar to a Siberian slave labor camp.

Arrested in Poland, he testified he was eventually returned there along with other Poles and finally made his way to this country as a stateless person.

A third witness, Ivan Pushkar, Passaic, N.J., told how he was arrested in 1931 and sent to Siberia along with "about a million other slave laborers" to work on a parallel track for the Trans-Siberian Railroad.

He told how, after he was freed and returned to a Ukrainian coal mining village, the NKVD had given him a pass one evening and instructed him to be at the local railroad station next morning.

Food Prices Cut.

When he arrived, he said, the usual "army of ragged, hungry orphan children" had been driven off and the station restaurant was stocked with food. Prices, he testified, were 100 per cent lower than usual.

"I was given a bottle of beer and told to sip it slowly. I wondered, 'what is coming off around here?'"

The occasion marked the arrival of a delegation of foreign diplomats, he said. He stated that he overheard a Russian guide telling one of them: "These people here are workers waiting for trains to take them to their jobs."

As soon as the diplomats had "taken off toward Moscow," Pushkar said, "up went the old prices in the restaurant and we were told to 'cut out your tongues about what you have seen here.'"

LOYALTY TO U.N. AND OWN NATION 'DO NOT CONFLICT'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said yesterday a U.N. employe's loyalty to the international organization did not conflict with his duties as a good citizen of his own country.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief United States delegate who had criticized a handbook about conduct for U.N. staff members, said, "the Secretary General's statement seems to clear the matter up, and naturally I am glad."

Hammarskjold said it was "most misleading" to paraphrase the report as saying employes should put loyalty to the U.N. over that to their own country.

"The board has not said so, and it does not mean it," he declared. "Being loyal to the United Nations means observing the discretion, impartiality and independence necessary for the operation of any international organization. It also means following instructions given by the responsible organs of the organization, irrespective of personal views or interests."

PROFESSIONAL UNIT FOUNDED BY ATOM EXPERTS

Purpose Is to Spread Peacetime Nuclear Information as Provided by New Law.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) —The "world's first professional society" of atomic technicians was organized yesterday with a stated purpose of fostering the national and international spread of peacetime nuclear information made possible under the recent revision of the Atomic Energy Law.

The organization, known as the American Nuclear Society, is a nongovernmental group, but it announced it had the blessing of the United States Atomic Energy Commission through Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, and also the good wishes of Representative W. Sterling Cole (Rep.), New York, chairman of the joint congressional atomic committee.

The society was organized at a closed meeting held at the National Academy of Sciences. It was formed by what was described as a 29 member "representative group" of some 13,000 scientists and engineers "engaged fulltime in governmental, industrial and educational aspects of atomic energy activity in the United States."

Among the members of the group was Dr. C. A. McCullough, representing the Monsanto Chemical Co. of St. Louis.

Announcing it already had 200 charter members signed up in addition to the organizational nucleus, the group said:

"The organizing committee and charter memberships include many of the most prominent people working in this nation's atomic energy program. Included are the technical directors of each of the governmental and industrial laboratories now working on the five year program of nuclear reactor development recently announced by the United States Atomic Energy Commission."

The society listed among its principal objectives:

1. Fostering the advancement of nuclear science and technology in the United States—including peacetime atomic power—through "interchange of information and ideas in all fields of (peacetime) research utilizing nuclear techniques."

2. Helping promote international co-operation on peacetime applications of atomic energy.

HICKEY BACKS SURVEY JIBES AT MULTI-STORIED SCHOOL BUILDINGS

He Says Instruction Department Has Long Opposed Expensive Type of Construction and Frills.

The Board of Education's instruction department opposed construction of multi-storied school buildings of the type criticized in the A. T. Kearney report on non-teaching operations in St. Louis public schools, Superintendent of Instruction Philip J. Hickey said today.

The report singled out the new five-story technical high school, now under construction, for specific criticism. Construction of a multi-storied building, rather than a lower structure occupying more space, resulted in increased building costs, the report maintained.

Hickey told the Post-Dispatch "there is much to be said" for the survey's criticism of the technical high school.

As a matter of principle, he said, the instruction department "has been advocating smaller school buildings for years," in the belief that multi-storied buildings require greater structural strength, leading to higher construction costs.

Final Say-So.

However, Hickey pointed out, the board's building department and architectural staff have final say-so on what form new school buildings are to take, and the instruction department has no authority in this field.

The technical high school will cost an estimated $6,000,000. It is intended to replace Hadley Technical High School, which will be converted to an all-purpose high school.

School Building Commissioner V. Harry Rhodes, whose department was criticized by the survey team, told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday he had not read the report and had no comment on it.

Rhodes, who is in Los Angeles attending a convention of school officials, said he co-operated with experts sent here by the Kearney firm for a six-month study of non-instructional operations.

Opposed Frills.

Hickey said the department also had opposed the practice of incorporating architectural "frills" in new school buildings. The report found that "expensive decorative treatment" at some new schools was another factor leading to increased costs.

Specifically, Hickey said he questioned added "architectural motifs and embellishments" at the new Busch and Nottingham elementary schools.

The high cost of building, together with increased space requirements, a shifting population and "obsolesnece of present facilities," the Kearney report said, "preclude monumental architectural concepts."

"It was a waste of taxpayers' money to build a building such as the new vocational high school," the report declared.

Discussing the survey report in general, Hickey said he thought it "worthy of extremely careful consideration." He said he plans a full study of the report's recommendations where they affect the instruction department.

Postponement Recommended.

The School Board's planning committee recommended yesterday that construction of two proposed schools be postponed until money is assured to equip schools now under construction.

The action was taken as a result of recent disclosure that the 1951 school bond issue lacked about $900,000 needed to complete the program originally planned.

The committee also suggested that Superintendent Hickey advise the board on which projects the remaining bond issue funds should be used. Approximately $1,300,000 will remain after schools presently under construction are equipped, it was estimated.

Affected by the recommendation for postponed are, the proposed 18-room Ames elementary school and a 24-room structure originally planned for the Missouri 1-6 public housing project in the DeSoto-Carr area.

Rule Change Suggested.

In an effort to end the difficulty of estimating school construction costs, the planning committee recommended a change in board rules.

The proposed amendment would provide that no appropriation for a new school could be approved until the board had before it full information on site, building and equipment costs.

Under present rules, estimated cost of equipment often is not known until after construction has actually begun.

Unforseen expenditures not contemplated when the school bond issue was approved in 1951, together with continued increases in construction costs, changes in the city building code and expansion of the public housing program were among factors causing the shortage of funds, the committee found.

ST. CHARLES COUNCILWOMAN HURT AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

Mrs. Marcella Wilson, St. Charles councilwoman, suffered a severe cut on the forehead, possible fracture of the skull and a possible fractured ankle yesterday when an automobile in which she was riding collided with a St. Louis bound Burlington train about seven miles northwest of St. Charles. She was in serious condition at St. oJseph's Hospital in St. Charles.

Charles Wardlaw, owner of Wardlaw Motor Co. of St. Charles, driver of the machine, was treated for shock. Mrs. Wilson, 1916 Krekel place, Democratic nominee for collector of St. Charles county, and Wardlaw were returning on a country road to the city for an appointment when the accident occurred, state highway police said.

Witnesses said the train was traveling about 90 miles an hour when it struck the right side of the vehicle. The machine was dragged about 150 feet, turned over and demolished, they said.

JUDGE D. L. C. JONES INDORSED FOR COURT TERM IN COUNTY

Douglas L. C. Jones has been indorsed for another term as judge of Division No. 5 of the St. Louis county circuit court by 110 practicing lawyers of St. Louis and the county, it was announced today.

The recommendation that Judge Jones, who was appointed by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to the newly created division, be elected to a full term at the Nov. 2 election, described him as "a competent, able, honest and outstanding lawyer and jurist as evidenced by his splendid record in private practice and on the bench."

In announcing the indorsement, John Raeburn Green, chairman of the Non-partisan Lawyers' Committee for Judge Jones, said that lawyers from both political parties had joined in approving him. Green said there was a need for retention of Democratic judges in a county long under control of the Republican party.

RUGGERI'S CO-OWNER, WAITER RE-ARRESTED ON LIQUOR COUNT

Henry P. Ruggeri, co-owner of Ruggeri's Restaurant, 2300 Edwards avenue, and a waiter, John A. Zarinelli, were rearrested yesterday on a state liquor tax charge growing out of alleged sale of whisky Sunday evening.

They were first taken into custody Sunday after Lt. John Doherty and Cpl. Jeremiah Sullivan of the police morality and liquor squad said they were served whisky by Zarinelli. Hearing in police court was set for Oct. 26.

Miniature bottles in which the drinks are alleged to have been served to the detectives bore no Missouri liquor tax stamps, police said. The bottles did have Wisconsin stamps.

POLICE ARREST TWO MEN WHO ROBBED STORE OWNER

Two young robbers who held up Joseph Ring in his grocery store at 4300 Randolph place and fled with $45 yesterday were arrested later by police.

A witness reported that the robbers drove away with two women in an automobile bearing an Arizona plate. Police saw the machine parked near Twentieth and Ferry streets. They arrested two men and two women in a flat in the 4300 block of North Twentieth street. A revolver and $44, much of it in silver, were found on the premises.

The men, who officers said were identified by Ring and admitted the holdup, were booked as Raymond J. Wettling, 3200 block of California avenue, and Lonard Steve, 5500 block of Maple avenue. A third man who, police said, owns the revolver, is also held.

MISSOURI PRISON GUARDED AFTER SOUTH DAKOTA RIOT

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 12 (AP)—Highway patrolmen were called back to emergency guard around the walls of Missouri's riot scarred penitentiary today.

About 15 patrolmen were posted outside the prison to prevent any outbreak of riot fever as a result of disturbances at the South Dakota state prison.

Col. Thomas E. Whitecotton, state corrections director, said the troopers were called as a precautionary measure after "some talk" by guards of possible trouble. No trouble developed as prisoners took their outdoor exercise on the playground inside the walls. Central Missouri patrolmen have been on a standby basis since helping to quell a disastrous riot Sept. 22 in which four convicts were killed an more than 30 were injured.

MAN IS STRUCK AND KILLED BY STREETCAR NEAR HOME

Henry Silverstein, a clerk, was killed by a streetcar today when crossing the street near his home, 6165A Delmar boulevard.

Witnesses said Silverstein, 64 years old, apparently became confused in traffic and stepped into the path of a westbound Delmar car. Woodson Bryan, 3824A Kennerly avenue, the operator, dropped the wheel guard, and Silverstein was carried a distance of 20 feet before the car stopped. He was pronounced dead at City Hospital.

ROMANIA'S TWO LEADING JOCKEYS ESCAPE TO WEST

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 12 (AP) — Romania's two leading jockeys, who said they had "more than enough" of life under Communism, escaped to West Berlin Sept. 23 after riding in a Communist racing meet in East Berlin.

The Voice of America today identified the two as Aristide Cucu and Joan Pall, Romania's No. 1 and 2 jockeys. Now under the care of the United States escapee program, they gave statements for broadcasts to Romania and other countries behind the Iron Curtain.

On the day of their escape, Cucu said, they managed to slip away from their guards at the track and board a train to the center of East Berlin. "In East Berlin," Cucu said, "we simply boarded a streetcar and rode into West Berlin. It was amazingly easy."

RACKETEERING INDICTMENT AGAINST HAVEY DISMISSED

A labor-racketeering indictment against Leo F. Havey, AFL bricklayers' business agent, was dismissed on technical grounds today by United States District Judge George H. Moore.

United States Attorney Harry Richards announced his office would immediately seek a new indictment from the federal grand jury.

Judge Moore, sustaining a defense contention, said the existing indictment was "insufficient in law and fails to state a cause of action against the defendant." Havey's lawyer, Daniel P. Reardon, had argued the charge failed to allege extortion.

TWO BEER TRUCK DRIVERS ROBBED OF $117 AND $195

William Dawson, driver of a beer truck for Anheuser-Busch, Inc., was robbed of $117 yesterday by two men after making a delivery at 901 Aubert avenue. Dawson said the robbers were Negroes armed with a pistol and a knife.

A short time later Frank Kotouchek, also a driver for Anheuser-Busch, Inc., was held up in the 5000 block of Lotus avenue by two Negroes, who took $195 and ordered him to drive on. One robber carried a revolver.

NEED FOR OFFICE SPACE DOWNTOWN IS UNDER STUDY

Dallas Real Estate Man Calls Present 96 Pct. Occupancy 'Very Unhealthy.'

The need for additional office space in the downtown section was one of the problems taken up today by members of the Urban Land Institute in their study of the city's requirements for growth.

"The extremely low vacancy rate in downtown office buildings here constitutes a very unhealthy condition," Henry S. Miller, Dallas real estate man remarked on being informed that the present occupancy rate is 96 per cent.

"A merchant with no goods to sell can't expect to do business," he declared. "You need more than 3 or 4 per cent vacancy to attract new business into downtown St. Louis."

There is 3,000,000 square feet of office space downtown but only 115,000 square feet, scattered in small amounts through 18 buildings, is vacant, Isaac F. Cook Jr., president of the St. Louis Real Estate Board, reported yesterday.

Real estate experts consider a 90-per cent occupancy rate ideal for a city's downtown district. In 1929 the rate here was 89 per cent. Then came the depression, and 600,000 square feet was vacated in the period from 1930 to 1932. Contraction continued until a low point of 65 per cent occupancy was reached in June of 1936.

Things began to pick up in 1941 under impetus of the war; 750,000 square feet was absorbed from 1941 to 1946, and in October of 1946 the occupancy rate was 99.44 per cent. It remained around 99 per cent for the next two or three years.

From 1946 to 1954, Cook reported, the Government vacated about 150,000 square feet of space, and an additional shrinkage of 500,000 feet was caused by decentralization. But most of the space thus vacated was rented to old tenants who were expanding and to new tenants.

To demonstrate that confidence in the future of downtown St. Louis is not lacking, he cited expansion and rehabilitation programs undertaken by the First National Bank, Mercantile Trust Co., Farm & Home Savings & Loan Assn. and other firms.

CALLS ILLINOIS ONE OF WORST STATES FOR TRAFFIC SIGNS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP)—Peoria's traffic engineer said yesterday that Illinois is "by far one of the worst states in overabundance of traffic control signs."

Daniel J. Hanson told the convention of the Illinois Municipal League excessive posting of streets and highways has resulted in a "very alarming" rate of disobedience. Hanson said there were too many school crossing, go slow, stop, and similar signs.

Dr. James W. Clarke Gets Call To Teach at Princeton Seminary

THE REV. DR. JAMES W. CLARKE

The Rev. Dr. James W. Clarke, minister of Second Presbyterian Church for the last 10 years, today was called to a teaching post at Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N.J.

He has indicated that he will accept the Princeton offer, but today explained, "I will not give my answer until I have conferred with the session (ruling body) and trustees of Second Church."

Dr. Clarke is the preacher on the Sunday morning simulcast, "The Protestant Hour," on KSD and KSD-TV, Post-Dispatch stations. He is in his ninth year on radio and his fourth on television. The half-hour simulcast is sponsored by the Metropolitan Church Federation.

At Princeton Seminary he will teach homiletics (preaching) and be chairman of the department of homiletics and public speech. Dr. Clarke was professor of homiletics at McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, from 1941 until he was called to the St. Louis church in 1944. Both McCormick and Princeton seminaries are conducted by the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

The professorship at Princeton which Dr. Clarke will occupy is a new chair named for Francis Landey Patton, who was president of Princeton University from 1888 to 1902, and president of the seminary from 1902 to 1913. Dr. Patton died in 1932.

At Princeton Dr. Clarke will have a full teaching schedule for 32 weeks out of the year.

The recent General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church named him its national preacher of the year, an honor that includes delivery of a sermon in February, next year, in the National Presbyterian Church, Washington, D.C. President and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower are members of this church, and they have heard Dr. Clarke there twice. The President, then Gen. Eisenhower, also attended the Sunday service at Second Church, St. Louis, when he was here during his campaign for office in 1952.

Dr. Clarke has been a popular preacher in St. Louis from the start of his ministry here. The large Second Presbyterian Church at Westminster place and Taylor avenue is crowded every Sunday. On radio and television the pastor has a large listening and viewing audience.

He was president of the Metropolitan Church Federation in 1951. He is president of the board of directors of Lindenwood College, St. Charles, and a member of the board of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo.

Dr. Clarke was born in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1891. He decided to enter the ministry when he was 17 years old, and was only 19 when he was sent to a mission field in Northern Manitoba, Canada, where he preached to lumberjacks.

In World War I, he enlisted as a private in the Canadian Army, was wounded twice, and decorated for bravery under fire at the battle of Amiens. He came out of the war a major.

After the war, Dr. Clarke resumed his education and was graduated from McGill University and Presbyterian College, Montreal. From 1932 till 1941 he was pastor of Knox Church, Winnipeg, mother church of Presbyterianism in Western Canada.

Mrs. Clarke died in 1951. A son, James, an Air Force pilot, was killed in 1943. Another son, George, lives in St. Louis, and two daughters live in Canada.

PLANS ARE MADE TO TELL VOTERS OF COUNTY POLICE

Speakers' Bureau to Explain Reasons for Proposed Change in Enforcement Setup.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

A campaign to inform St. Louis county voters about the proposed charter amendment for a county police department was under way today following an organization meeting of the Bi-Partisan Citizens Committee for Better Law Enforcement yesterday.

Walter L. Metcalfe, attorney and committee chairman, told 50 of the 103 committee members attending the meeting at the courthouse at Clayton that if the proposition is rejected by voters at the Nov. 2 election, it will be only because they are insufficiently informed.

"It's up to us to make sure that every voter knows all the facts about this proposition," he said.

H. Jackson Daniel, attorney and a member of the committee speakers' bureau, said his group was prepared to furnish speakers at meetings of all kinds throughout the county to explain provisions of the amendment.

A budget of $10,000 for the campaign was announced by G. A. Buder Jr., committee treasurer, who said $1000 already had been raised. Persons wishing to contribute were invited to send money to the county Chamber of Commerce, 8003 Forsyth boulevard, Clayton.

Arthur B. Shepley Jr., a committee member and chairman of the Citizens Committee on Law Enforcement which drafted the amendment, said campaign workers should stress the fact that the county department would not be more expensive than the present sheriff-constable system of law enforcement, but would be far more efficient with the new department removed entirely from politics.

Metcalfe said the campaign should emphasize also that the proposed department would not be "metropolitan," since it would affect only unincorporated areas, with county municipal departments invited to co-operate. Smaller municipalities could contract with the county for services of the department.

Drafters of the amendment considered proposals for a metropolitan department to include St. Louis, but did not adopt any of them because of the city's high police budget, Metcalfe said.

Wilson's Dog Metaphor Stirs a Storm of Protest

'A Lot of Sympathy.'

"And I've got a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches 'em—but I've always liked bird dogs better than kennel-fed dogs myself. You know, one who'll get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell. I'm getting out of the press conference area now, I think.

"Question: How long will we have a surplus of workmen here, Mr. Secretary, in this area?

"Answer (Secretary Wilson): Oh, the new models get into production in November and December—maybe a few people go back South when it gets a little cold—I think you'll about balance out by Christmas."

Wilson was in Detroit to speak at a $100-a-plate Republican banquet last night. He had no comment on Reuther's telegram.

"Until I saw this story (a published report of Wilson's interview), I had believed we were decades past the day when allegedly civilized men thought such things, let alone expressed them aloud and in public," Reuther said in his telegram. "I regret that I was so sadly mistaken in estimating the degree to which big business had acquired at least the rudiments of a social conscience.'

Cites 1953 'Recruiting.'

Reuther said the auto industry had "scoured the country in 1953 for recruits to meet production schedules which they knew could not be maintained for more than a few months."

"After the production spurt has ended, these recruits were dumped on the street to become burdens on the taxpayers," Reuther said.

He said as a result of "this callous use of these temporary recruits . . . the workers regularly attached to the industry were later added to the rolls of the jobless."

"These workers are now 'dogs' to your grinning Secretary of Defense," Reuther said. "Those who were recruited from other areas are presumably the bird dogs'—they have served their purpose of turning over the profit-kill to their masters and now should 'go back South when it gets a little cold.'

"The industry's regular workers—toward whom it might be expected that men like Wilson might show some little sense of responsibility in gratitude for the profits they have produced for the industry—they are the 'kennel dogs.'"

Reuther said "Wilson would like them to abandon life-long savings invested in their homes, take their children out of school and wander like gypsies over the face of the United States seeking jobs that do not exist."

He said, "Perhaps this is another example of Mr. Wilson having again put his foot in his mouth publicly." He hoped that was the case, he said. But, if it is, "Mr. Wilson should retract publicly and apologize to the unemployed."

"If it is not—if Mr. Wilson's point of view is a considered opinion—then he should be asked to retire from public life, for such a point of view is immoral and incompatible with the purposes of government," Reuther said.

At Cleveland, George Meany, the president of the American Federation of Labor, asserted Wilson showed a "complete disregard" of the American people and a "complete ignorance of what it means to be unemployed."

In an address to the convention of the AFL Bricklayers Union, Meany added that Wilson's attitude was what could be expected of a "business man in the Government."

"The millions of unemployed in the United States should be of some concern to the Administration, to the country as a whole and to Mr. Wilson of the General Motors Corp.," Meany said.

Reuther told the President the 1,500,000 UAW-CIO members, together with workers all over America, are now waiting to see whether "your Secretary of Defense expresses the attitude of your Administration toward the unemployed workers."

Other Comment.

Others quick to comment on Wilson's remark were Senator Olin D. Johnston (Dem.), South Carolina; Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep.), Michigan; Ferguson's Democratic opponent in the November senatorial election, Patrick V. McNamara, and Clifford P. Case, New Jersey Republican senatorial candidate.

Ferguson, addressing a Republican rally in Grand Rapids, Mich., last night, took exception to Wilson's remark.

"I would not express myself in the same way—as Wilson—about unemployment," Ferguson said, adding:

"I realize this (unemployment) can be beyond the control of any individual. Any unemployment is a calamity to the man, his family, his city, state, and the nation."

'Typical of . . . Administration.'

"His (Wilson's) quotation," McNamara said, "can be compared to Marie Antoinette's when she was told the starving people had no bread. She said, also with a grin, 'Let them eat cake.' (McNamara referred to a remark attributed to the Queen of France at the time of the French Revolution.)

"This quotation should be expected from a man who has previously stated, 'What is good for General Motors is good for the country.'"

In Washington, Johnston said: "I think Secretary Wilson will live to see the day he'll regret his remarks. It is very unfortunate for a man in high position to make such a statement."

Case, campaigning in Jersey City last night, said:

"I have not seen Secretary Wilson's statement, but as reported to me it is simply incomprehensible."

In his evening address Wilson indicated the Eisenhower Administration will ask Congress for higher military appropriations "for the years immediately ahead."

Wilson said that defense agencies have been spending money the last two years at a rate more than six billion dollars a year higher than new appropriations voted by Congress.

This spending has reduced a back log of available but unspent funds, he said, eliminating "the excess financing (appropriations) of prior years."

He went on to say:

". . . Appropriations of new money for the years immediately ahead should be and probably will be greater than the total amount appropriated for fiscal '55 and more in line with our actual expenditures."

Congress appropriated just under 30 billion dollars for defense for the year ending next June. The previous years' appropriation was a little over 34 billions.

Wilson said the 1955 defense money bill "is nearly 12 billion dollars below the last projected budget of the previous Administration for this year." Nevertheless, he said, "through stopping waste, the elimination of duplication and through better planning, this reduced budget still provides for the steady increase in our military strength."

Featured Speaker.

Wilson was the featured speaker at the G.O.P. dinner. Defense aids said this would be Wilson's only frankly political speech of the election campaign.

Leonard W. Hall, Republican National Chairman, said in a recent speech that all Cabinet members except Wilson and Secretary of State Dulles would hit the political hustings in behalf of Republican candidates. Their special duties in the field of high policy, he indicated, would keep them out of the campaign.

Wilson said Michigan voters must re-elect Senator Ferguson and send a full Republican slate of House members to Washington "to assure full support for the President's program." Otherwise, he said, "the desire of the people of Michigan to clean up the mess in Washington will be thwarted and frustrated."

Democrat Assails 'Gross Callousness Toward Misery.'

TRENTON, N.J., Oct. 12 (UP) — Representative Charles R. Howell, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, said today remarks by Defense Secretary Charles Wilson about the nation's unemployed belong in "the age of the sweat shop."

"If Mr. Wilson said what he is quoted as saying, and if he meant what he said," Howell declared," this Administration must stand trial before the voters on Nov. 2 on the indictment of gross callousness towards human misery."

Karsten Sends Wilson Telegram Demanding He Resign.

Congressman Frank M. Karsten (Dem.), First District, in a telegram sent today to Defense Secretary Wilson, demanded that Wilson submit his resignation, asserting that Wilson's "humiliating remarks" and "utter lack of concern for the people" disqualifies him for public service.

Karsten, who is seeking reelection, told Wilson his remarks are "bitterly resented" by 75,000 unemployed men and women in the St. Louis area.

Representative Melvin Price (Dem.), East St. Louis, said Wilson's stand was the "typical attitude" of the present Administration.

"Big business wants a labor surplus so it can dictate terms to the working man," Price said.

AMATEUR BALLOONIST FAILS AGAIN IN TRY FOR LICENSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (UP)—Garrett Cashman, an Albany dancing master, failed to get off the ground today in a balloon flight planned for civil aeronautics officials and television cameras. It was too windy.

Cashman inflated 269 yellow and nine red surplus weather balloons with helium, tied six sandbags under his seat and tried 10 times to float himself and his aircraft, called "Uplift Number One," above Flushing airport. Every time the wind bounced him back to earth.

Cashman, who was arrested by Albany police for unlicensed areial shenanigans after his first flight last month, wants an experimental license as navigator of the home-made floating machine. This was his second attempt to qualify for a certificate.

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (AP).

Following is the telegram which Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO and the CIO United Auto Workers, sent to President Eisenhower last night after Defense Secretary Wilson's press conference in which he discussed unemployment and other topics:

FOLLOWING are shocking excerpts from tonight's Detroit News story of the press conference held in Detroit today by your Secretary of Defense, Mr. C. E. Wilson:

"Wilson also commented that while he had 'a lot of sympathy' for the jobless in surplus labor areas, he always 'liked bird dogs better than kennel-fed dogs.' With a grin, he added: 'The bird dogs like to go out and hunt around for their food, but the kennel dogs just sit on their haunches and yelp.'"

(Reuther's statement was based on early news reports of the press conference.)

Another of the Defense Secretary's statements was that he expected employment in Michigan to 'balance itself out' by Christmas, as new models get into production 'and maybe a few workers go back South when it gets a little cold.'

Until I saw this story, I had believed we were decades past the day when allegedly civilized men thought such things, let alone expressed them aloud in public. I regret that I was so sadly mistaken in estimating the degree to which big business had acquired at least the rudiments of a social conscience.

Corporate Irresponsibility.

The unemployed to whom Mr. Wilson referred in such brutal terms are jobless in substantial part because of the irresponsibility of his corporate colleagues in General Motors and other major auto corporations. In the spring of 1953 they scoured the country for recruits to meet production schedules which they knew could not be maintained for more than a few months.

According to Business Week magazine, the Buick Division of General Motors alone had help-wanted ads in the newspapers in 64 cities in 11 Southern states. After the production spurt was ended, these recruits were dumped on the streets to become burdens on the taxpayers of the automotive centers.

The Detroit public relief offices at one time this year operated on night shifts to take care of the applicants as a result of this callous use of these temporary recruits who were lured from their homes and families by glowing promises of attractive jobs. The workers regularly attached to the industry were later added to the rolls of the jobless. Part of their year's work had been given to the temporary workers the industry had brutally tossed aside after they had served their purpose.

Spread to Independents.

Moreover, the totally irresponsible production race of the major corporations for larger shares of a shrinking market soon spread unemployment to cities like South Bend and Kenosha, where their independent competitors operate. The major corporations were content to drive the smaller and weaker auto producers to the wall rather than to take steps co-operatively with them to develop and support national economic policies designed to enlarge the total market for automobiles by enlarging purchasing power.

The worst victims, however, were and are the industry's workers and the communities in which they live. As of September, there were 195,000 jobless in the Detroit area alone.

These workers are now "dogs" to your grinning Secretary of Defense. Those who were recruited from other areas are presumably the "bird dogs"—they have served their purpose of turning over the profit kill to their masters and now should "go back South when it gets a little cold."

The 'Kennel Dogs.'

The industry's regular workers, toward whom it might be expected that men like Wilson might show some little sense of responsibility in gratitude for the profits they have produced for the industry—they are the "kennel dogs." Wilson would like them to abandon life-long savings invested in their homes, take their children out of school and wander like gypsies over the face of the United States seeking jobs that do not exist.

The one and one-half million members of the UAW-CIO, together with workers all over America, are now waiting to see whether your Secretary of Defense expresses the attitude of your Administration toward the unemployed workers.

Perhaps this is another example of Mr. Wilson having again put his foot into his mouth publicly. If it is, Mr. Wilson should retract publicly and apologize to the unemployed. If it is not—if Mr. Wilson's point of view is a considered opinion, he then should be asked to retire from public life, for such a point of view is immoral and incompatible with the purposes of free government.

ST. LOUIS ENGINEERS GET THAILAND SURVEY CONTRACT

The St. Louis engineering firm of Sverdrup & Parcel, Inc., Syndicate Trust Building, has been awarded a $27,000 contract for a reconnaissance survey of a $7,500,000 highway project in Thailand, it was announced today at Washington.

Four engineers for the firm, John McGavock, Percy Michener, Harold Cox and William Rush, departed for Bangkok by air last week to prepare a report on which to base a construction contract with another firm. Negotiations for a contract as consulting engineers during the construction are being conducted by Sverdrup & Parcel, it was stated.

Part of the financing of the highway project will be through a $3,000,000 grant from the United States. The route will be from Saraburi, near Bangkok, to the now isolated northeast plateau, a distance of 200 miles.

CONVICTED AS PASSER OF BOGUS BILLS

Former Illinois Highway Dept. Employe to Be Sentenced Oct. 26.

Elmer Hake of Nashville, Ill., a former employe of the Illinois Highway Department, was found guilty yesterday by United States District Judge Fred L. Wham at East St. Louis of passing and possessing counterfeit $10 bills. He will be sentenced Oct. 26.

The bills in question were found on Hake when he was arrested last June 30 at Okawville, Ill. He said he did not know they were counterfeit, saying he received them from Carl Zerse, a printer and engraver, also of Nashville, in payment of a debt.

Zerse, who was sentenced to two years in the Federal Medical Center at Springfield, Mo., last week after he pleaded guilty to counterfeiting charges, testified Hake was a partner in the illegal undertaking, with the job of passing the bills.

Hake, who once served as a member of a federal grand jury in Judge Wham's court, had waived a jury. He was convicted of passing a $10 bill at a Sunfield (Ill.) grocery last March and with possession of about $80 in such bills when arrested.

Plates from which the bills were made had been seized by Secret Service agents when they arrested Zerse at his home last June 30.

DISPUTE SETTLED, NEWSPAPERS PRINT AGAIN IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 12 (UP)—A compromise settlement of a union jurisdictional dispute last night ended a one-day tieup of Britain's big national newspapers with a combined circulation of 20,000,000.

The presses started rolling again in Fleet street as soon as union officials announced an agreement on the resumption of work at the tabloid Daily Sketch. The terms of the agreement were not made public immediately.

All of London's national newspapers which circulate throughout the country from widely scattered plants stopped publication in solidarity with the sketch. A jurisdictional dispute over the temporary replacement of three vacationing printers stopped the presses here.

It was th biggest newspaper stoppage since the 1926 general strike in Britain.

TAX LAW BARS POLITICAL WORK BY CHARITY GROUP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews yesterday warned charitable and other tax exempt organizations that the new tax law deprives them of their tax exempt status if they take any part in politics.

Andrews said district revenue offices "have been alerted to this important change in the law." He underscored the new provision just three weeks in advance of the Nov. 2 election.

The new law, passed last summer, exempts religious, charitable, scientific, literary and educational organizations from paying income taxes if their activities meet specified standards. So did the old law. But the 1954 revenue code added a provision specifically requiring that the organization "does not participate in, or intervene in (including the publishing or distributing of statements) any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office."

WILSON NOT COLD TO MISFORTUNE SAYS PRESIDENT

found Wilson "in the slightest degree indifferent to human misfortune," Mr. Eisenhower went on to say in his statement:

"This Administration respects the dignity and is concerned with the welfare and prosperity of all our nation's citizens. It is liberal in all matters affecting human problems and seeks in every way to enlarge the opportunities open to Americans.

Economic Dislocations.

"It is unfortunately true that in spite of record peacetime employment there are areas suffering economic dislocations as the aftermath of war and inflation. Every one of these is engaging the earnest and persistent efforts of the Administration so that all our people may participate in a constantly rising peacetime prosperity."

Snyder said it was his understanding that Wilson would have more to say on the matter in Detroit today.

Snyder was asked whether the White House say "nothing objectionable" in what Wilson said in Detroit yesterday.

"The President's statement stands," Snyder replied.

The next question was: "Does the White House have any objection?"

DIXON-YATES POWER CONTRACT APPROVED BY FPC

agreement in his opinion. He added, however:

"I am sure you will understand that this decision is limited to the legal questions discussed above, and has no bearing on the necessity or desirability of the contract, which is for administrative determination."

Gen. Vogel told Strauss that TVA's approach was "based on our understanding that TVA will be kept whole, sharing costs only to the extent of benefits received."

He continued: "If arrangements between our agencies are completed on that basis, the greater part of our contract with Mississippi Valley will not be of direct concern to TVA. None of the provisions determining the cost of the power would affect TVA's costs unless the contract were canceled by AEC and an interim period should occur in which the power would be assigned to TVA."

The latest copy of the contract, dated Oct. 1, was sent to TVA Oct. 4 by R. W. Cook, AEC's assistant general manager for manufacturing. Cook wrote that the new draft contained all of the suggestions discussed with TVA. He added: "We look forward to our next meeting now scheduled in Knoxville for Oct. 11." Results of that meeting have not been disclosed.

Original Tax Plan.

Federal income taxes, under the original Dixon-Yates proposal, were to be repaid directly to the power combine by the AEC. However, this was prohibited by an amendment to the new Atomic Energy Act offered by Senator Albert Gore (Dem.), Tennessee.

Weitzel concluded that the new contract provision, under which the AEC would repay the federal income taxes indirectly through the "base capacity charge," would comply with the Gore amendment. William Mitchell, general counsel of the AEC, quoted the Senate-House conference report on the bill and Senator Gore himself as saying that the amendment was not intended to keep the utilities from including federal taxes in figuring their rates.

A provision permitting Dixon-Yates to transfer the contract appeared to support a statement by J. D. Stietenroth, ousted secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi Valley Generating Co., before the Senate Anti-Monopoly subcommittee last week.

Stietenroth said Middle South, as principal partner in Dixon-Yates, would get the benefits if the contract proved to be a "gold mind," but could push off the obligations to its subsidiary operating company if the contract turned out to be "a while elephant." Mississippi Power & Light is a subsidiary of Middle South.

'Act of God' Clause.

Another provision says the company shall not be held responsible—but shell be paid all the same—if it ever should fail to deliver electricity because of "act of God, fire, flood, explosion, strike, sabotage, an act of the public enemy, civil or military authority, insurrection or riot, an act of the elements, failure of equipment, or inability to obtain or ship materials or equipment because the effect of similar causes on suppliers or carriers."

A cost analysis included with the documents estimated the annual cost to the Government under the Dixon-Yates contract at $20,746,000 including Federal income taxes, and $18,465,000 not including the Federal income taxes. These figures were for an assumed fuel cost of 19 cents per million B.T.U.

The analysis showed that, with the taxes included, Dixon-Yates power would cost the Government 3.99 mills per kilowatt hour—higher than any other AEC power source except Electric Energy Inc. This firm, made up of utility companies including Middle South and Union Electric Co. of Missouri, is building a plant at Joppa, Ill., to supply the AEC at Paducah.

With taxes excluded, however, the Dixon-Yates rate would be the lowest of all AEC sources. There is disagreement over which is the fairer comparison.

The utilities group takes its name from Edgar H. Dixon, president of Middle South Utilities, Inc., and E. A. Yates, president of the Southern Co., who have formed the Mississippi Valley Generating Co.

URGES EDUCATING PUBLIC TO SEEK ADVICE OF LAWYERS

Luther M. Bang, Austin (Minn.) attorney, last night urged members of the Bar Association of St. Louis to set up a public relations program to educate people to the importance of seeking legal advice.

Bang said that lawyers are falling financially behind other professional groups because people frequently are reluctant to discuss their problems and get professional aid.

The association has announced that a series of educational radio and television programs designed to show the public how lawyers operate in the public interest will be started soon.

MISSOURI JURORS TO GET HANDBOOK ON THEIR DUTIES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 12—The Missouri Supreme Court has amended its administrative rules for the courts to permit trial courts to make available to prospective jurors copies of a "Handbook of Information for Jurors," prepared by the Missouri Bar.

The handbook, or guidebook, is designed to provide persons called for jury service with general information about their duties, conduct, court practices and what is expected of them.

Judges of trial courts, under the new rule, may direct the sheriff to serve the handbooks on prospective jurors when they are summoned, or the judge may distribute the booklets to the panel members as they report for duty, or the judge may instruct the jury on the matters involved after it is impaneled.

The new rule, to be designated rule 3.30, will become effective on July 1, 1955.

Senator Beall Asserts Increase Was Unjustified and There Was No Shortage.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) —Senator Beall (Rep.), Maryland, said today that unjustified coffee price increases cost the American consuming public "an estimated $293,000,000" from January to August.

Beall made the statement at a public hearing by a Senate Banking subcommittee. The group called New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange officials before it for questioning about charges by the Federal Trade Commission that the exchange has engaged in unlawful restraints of trade contributing to the rise in coffee prices.

"There is no evidence of a coffee shortage today nor during the last year to justify the increase in price," Beall said.

The first witness, FTC Chairman Edward F. Howrey defended his commission's attempted crackdown on the exchange, and exchange president Gustavo Lobo Jr., countercharged that the FTC has been "biased and inaccurate" in its allegations.

Both Howrey and Lobo read prepared statements to the subcommittee. These dealt primarily with a report the FTC issued last July which contended that manipulation of the market, rather than considerations of supply and demand, were responsible for spiraling coffee prices.

Howrey said that since the commission will sit as a quasi-judicial body on its formal charges against the exchange it would be improper for him to detail those accusations now.

Lobo said the exchange will defend itself vigorously before the FTC, but that he hopes his testimony before the subcommittee will "show on what flimsy grounds" the FTC's case is based.

Beall called for Federal regulation of the exchange, a step Lobo said it will resist.

Rejects Explanation.

Beall said that witnesses at hearings before his subcommittee last spring "attempted to justify the spiraling coffee prices as a natural result of the July 1953 frost in Brazil and increased world wide consumption." He said he rejects those contentions, adding:

"A rise in coffee prices accurately reflecting these factors would not have been intolerable to the consumer, nor caused the President to announce that the FTC was conducting an extensive investigation and the Senate to order this inquiry."

He said the FTC, in its July report found that manipulation of prices is a "black mark against certain elements of the (coffee) industry." He said the subcommittee's own studies "lead us to agree."

The FTC's formal complaint named four exchange officers and eight members as well as the exchange itself.

The FTC yesterday gave them 20 days to answer the accusations, which the exchange informally denied. The action could lead to a final FTC order, after hearings, to cease the practices complained of.

The exchange's vice president, Leon Israel, voiced hope that the Senate inquiry and other investigations "will go into this matter thoroughly so that we can refute the FTC allegations in detail."

"We deny the latest charges of the FTC as we have denied other unfair and inaccurate charges against the exchange in the past," Israel said in a statement issued in New York. "Furthermore, we welcome any fair and impartial investigation of the trading practices on the exchange . . ."

STEPHEN MITCHELL, NOT HE, ON WAY OUT, SHIVERS SAYS

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 12 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas says it is Stephen Mitchell, not Shivers, who faces a political demise.

Mitchell, national Democratic chairman, predicted in Washington last week the impending "political demise" of the Texas Governor, a Democrat who supported Eisenhower in 1952.

Shivers also told reporters here yesterday he hoped the Democratic national convention would provide a "nominee and platform worthy of support." He said he thought dissident elements of the Democratic party could be brought into harmony only if Mitchell should step out and be succeeded by what he called a "moderate" such as Senator Clements of Kentucky.

Contempt of Court.

Another Saucer Story.

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A Los Angeles man reported seeing a flying saucer land in MacArthur Park and "a little man in a white suit get out."

A truck then came and carted away both the saucer and the little man, the observer said. He would have got the truck's license number, he said, except that the fog closed in and he couldn't see anymore.

Good Hunting.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (UP)—Gar Stead went hunting over the weekend. While he was away police shot a 50-pound bobcat that broke into Stead's basement.

HENDRICKSON SAYS HE WON'T VOTE AGAINST McCARTHY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) —Senator Robert C. Hendrickson (Rep.), New Jersey, said today he would not vote to censure Senator McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, on a charge that McCarthy denounced him in "vulgar and insulting" language. If that point is presented to the Senate for a roll-call vote, Hendrickson said in an interview, "I will vote 'present' on it."

McCarthy called Hendrickson "a living miracle without brains or guts" in 1953.

A special committee has said McCarthy should be censured for having used "unjustified" slurring language about the 1952 Senate Elections subcommittee on which Hendrickson had served in an investigation of McCarthy's conduct. Another censure count is based on charges that McCarthy had subjected Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker to "inexcusable" abuse earlier this year.

Hendrickson declined to say how he will vote on the other two censure charges against McCarthy.

But on the remark McCarthy had aimed at him for signing the elections subcommittee's report, Hendrickson said:

"It was a very undignified thing for a Senator to say, but I certainly don't carry any resentment."

SERGEANT CONFESSES $1400 BANK ROBBERY

Jefferson City Recruiter Caught Shortly After Tuscumbia (Mo.) Holdup.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 12 (UP)—An Army recruiting sergeant, Perry J. Hudspeth, 34 years old, was held in jail today after Highway Patrol officers said he confessed to robbing the bank of Tuscumbia, Mo., of about $1400.

Hudspeth was caught in a patrol roadblock two hours after the holdup. He told patrolmen he used a toy pistol bought in a dime store here.

The robber entered the Tuscumbia bank yesterday, unmasked and bareheaded. Brandishing a pistol wrapped in a handkerchief, he handed the assistant cashier, G. R. Barry, a paper bag and told him to "fill 'er up."

Highway Patrol officers said they found $1480 in the trunk of Hudspeth's car.

The regular Army recruiter here, Master Sgt. L. C. Repschlaeger, said Hudspeth was transferred to Jefferson City from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., in July to be with his wife who had undergone major surgery. The couple has four children.

The recruiting officer said Hudspeth, a veteran of 16 years in the Army, served in Europe and the Pacific during World War II.

BEDELL SMITH HERE, WARNS U.S. NOT TO RELAX

Former Under Secretary Doesn't Think World Tensions Will Ease for 3 Years.

There appears to be little prospect of marked easing of world tensions within the next two or three years, former Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith said yesterday in a press conference at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. here.

"That's one of the things you hope for, but do not expect," Smith said. "One thing will affect it, of course. Within the next two years the free world will be stronger collectively, as nations rather than in a military sense. As we grow noticeably stronger there should be some easing of tension."

Asked whether he agreed with a recent comment by Madame Pandit of India, former president of the general assembly of the United Nations, that there had been visible improvement in Russia's attitude lately, Smith replied:

"I guess my old eyes are still a little obscure. I haven't seen any change since the shooting down of that last plane.

Sees No Reason to Relax.

"I'm afraid I'm a little skeptical about sudden changes in Russia, after three years in Moscow. I see no reason for us to relax. Tensions are easing in some places in the world, but they are being balanced by increased tensions elsewhere."

A retired Army general, Smith is a former Ambassador to Russia. He also represented the United States at many diplomatic confererences, including the one at Geneva last July when France and the Communists were working out a cease-fire agreement in Indochina.

His visit to St. Louis was for a conference with J. S. McDonnell Jr., president of the aircraft firm, on plans for the observance of United Nations day in Missouri on Oct. 24. He was accompanied by John N. Fox of New York, president of the Minute Maid Corp., who is national vice chairman of the United States Committee for the United Nations. McDonnell is regional vice chairman of the committee.

Smith addressed a luncheon of business and civic leaders at the Noonday Club, speaking on the importance of the United Nations to the United States.

"The United States, as distinguished from the authoritarian nations, can operate only with an informed public opinion," Smith said. "This is particularly true of the foreign policy field.

Valuable Forum.

"The United Nations furnishes a valuable forum where the views of the two major segments of the world can be discussed. On the basis of these discussions these views can be assessed and weighed by thinking people throughout the entire world.

"Some great apprehensions have been expressed about the future of the United Nations. Many people contend it is controlled by Russia. This is not true, of course. Russia has stultified the purposes of the U.N. security council through exercise of its veto, of course, but it does not control the U.N.

"The U.N. has made other valuable contributions. Under the aegis of its foreign policy committee, for example, it has taken an interest in the formation of such groups as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the more recent Southeast Asia group.

"The feeling against the United Nations in some parts of the United States is basically an uninformed reaction. Only through meetings such as this can the U.N. build the support it needs in the United States."

Smith retired as Under Secretary of State on Oct. 1, ending 43 years of government service. In World War II he was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief of staff. He now is vice chairman of the board of directors of American Machine & Foundry Co. in New York.

HOOVER TO VISIT ADENAUER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) —Former President Hoover has accepted an invitation to visit German Chancellor Adenauer. Diplomats understand that Hoover will visit West Germany about Nov. 21. PRISONERS RIOT IN SOUTH DAKOTA, HOLD TWO GUARDS

One Hostage Freed—Convicts Demand Inquiry on Conditions at Penitentiary.

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., Oct. 12 (AP) — Rebellious prisoners at the South Dakota state penitentiary agreed today to return to their cells and release two guards still held as hostages if Mayor Fay Wheeldon of Sioux Falls would head an impartial committee to investigate conditions at the prison.

Wheeldon said he would accept the responsibility "if they will let me do it." He went into conference with Warden G. Norton Jameson, saying he would give the prisoners his answer after talking with the warden.

After the conference, Warden Jameson said there would be no decision until he had consulted with Gov. Sigurd Anderson. Jameson and Anderson met about noon after the Governor drove here from Pierre.

As an evidence of their good faith, the convicts released one guard, Melvin DeYoung. They had held three guards all night.

"We are turning this guard loose so you can see he is all right and he can tell you the others are all right," said Floyd Lindbergh, a life-term prisoner who acted as spokesman for the prisoners.

Waiting for Reply.

He said the other two guards, George Reid and E. F. Lambertson, would be held until Wheeldon makes his reply.

The prisoners, in conference with the warden and the Rev. Mr. Maurice Wessman, presented a long list of suggestions, but made only one demand—for an impartial investigation of prison conditions.

In their conference with prison officials and reporters, the spokesmen for the convicts said "we would never have had this trouble" except for the presence on the prison staff of two men.

They named B. H. Plymate, assistant deputy warden, and Arnold Veghlan, captain of the guards, whom they said had "heaped innumerable indignities upon prisoners."

Among "suggestions" offered by Lindbergh were: More medical attention, dismissal of Plymate, more education and recreation facilities, revision of pardon and parole procedures, and setting up an inmate council as a liaison between prisoners and prison officials.

The riot exploded shortly before 6 o'clock last night in the dining room just as the prisoners were finishing their evening meal.

Through the night, only occasional shouts and the sounds of shattering glass broke the silence of the cell block. Many of the 300 prisoners were seen milling around in the corridors.

Heavy iron gates separated the riot area from the rest of the prison.

The convicts were just finishing their evening meal when a cry of "Let 'er go" touched off the uprising. Plates and cups began flying through the mess hall in all directions.

Arnold Veghlan, captain of the guard, ran to the doorway leading to the kitchen and blocked the passage with steam from a nearby hose. None of the men tried to break through the steam to the kitchen where they would have access to knives and other cutlery.

Tear gas was used to herd the men from the mess hall to the hallways of their cell blocks. Many ran there on their own accord when the disturbance broke out.

One death occurred in the rioting. Warden Jameson said Harry High Elk died after drinking hair tonic in the night.

The three hostages were on duty in the cell blocks. A fourth guard, Loenard Skurda, hid in an upper tier of the cells and was later permitted to leave the cell block unharmed.

Gov. Anderson said, "in my opinion, the cause of this riot was the agitation in newspapers and over the radio to charges made by the Democratic candidate for Attorney General, Fred Nichol of Mitchell."

Nichol had charged the prisoners were mistreated.

Nichol disagreed with Gov. Anderson's view, adding that it was more likely the riot was caused "by the diplorable conditions that exist and have not been corrected, although the Governor has known about them for longer than a year."

DEMOCRATS GET AID FROM SENATE CAMPAIGN GROUP

Some Incumbent Candidates Receive as Much as $10,000 Where Race Is Close.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) —The Democratic Senate Compaign Committee is helping foot campaign bills for party candidates rated by the committee as having good chances of winning Republican seats.

Leslie L. Biffle, secretary-treasurer of the campaign organization, gave out some of the figures today, showing contributions as high as $7000.

The committee also is mailing checks to Democratic incumbent Senators who have tough opposition. In those cases the checks run as high as $10,000.

Committee strategists profess to be confident that the Democrats can overturn enough Republicans to take control of the Senate starting next January.

Help for Glen Taylor.

Among the Democratic candidates getting help is Glen H. Taylor, former Idaho Senator who bolted his party in 1948 to run with Henry A. Wallace on the Progressive party ticket as the vice presidential candidate.

Taylor now is trying to unseat Senator Dworshak. Taylor was sent a check for $3000.

Biffle said another Democratic candidate whose chances appear to be improving is Patrick V. McNamara of Michigan who is battling Senator Ferguson, the Senate Republican policy committee chairman. A $5000 check will go to McNamara, Biffle said.

Other Contributions.

Other contributions sent to Democratic nominees considered by the committee to have a good chance to unseat Republicans are:

Kentucky—$5000 to former Vice President Alben W. Barkley, running against Senator Cooper.

Massachusetts—$5000 to State Treasurer Foster Furcolo, running against Senator Saltonstall.

New Jersey—$5000 to Representative Howell running against former Representative Case for the seat now held by Republican Senator Henderson.

Illinois — About $10,000 to Senator Douglas, running against Republican Joseph T. Meek.

Ohio—$6000 to Senator Burke, running against Representative George Bender.

Delaware—$10,000 to Senator Frear, running against Representative Warburton.

PUBLIC HEALTH GROUP CONDEMNS CIGARETTE HABIT

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 12 (AP) —The Public Health Cancer Association voted yesterday to advise the public to stop smoking cigarettes in order to reduce the incidence of lung cancer.

The resolution said there was now sufficient evidence of a relationship between smoking cigarettes and lung cancer.

It urged American youth to "ponder well the question of whether the risk involved (in cigarette smoking) is worth the pleasure gained."

The resolution, offered by Dr. Morton L. Levin, assistant New York state health commissioner, was passed by a 13-3 vote.

Dr. Levin said 24 of those present did not vote, but many of them were not members of the association. He said that, to his knowledge, the association was the first public cancer group to specifically advise the public against smoking cigarettes. The association is composed principally of public health officers and professional persons working to combat cancer.

BUSSES TO ROLL TOMORROW AFTER 128-DAY WALKOUT

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 12 (UP) — Continental Trailways busses were scheduled to roll again tomorrow on a limited scale after 128 days of idleness because of labor difficulties.

The long tie-up ended Sunday. It had involved 298 drivers and some 300 to 350 other employes.

Service will begin in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Colorado, Arkansas, Nebraska and Illinois tomorrow. Full service will be resumed as soon as the busses are put through maintenance checkups. The strike began June 5. Settlement was announced jointly by G. L. Carpenter, general manager of the line, and Charles Luna of Dallas, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

TIPTON BECOMES STATE CHIEF JUSTICE

Conkling Finishes Term—Judges Rotate in Top Post.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 12—Judge Roscoe P. Conkling of the Missouri Supreme Court yesterday completed his 20½ month turn as Chief Justice, and turned the administrative job over to Judge Ernest M. Tipton, next in line for the post.

Under the court practice the position of Chief Justice, which embraces many burdensome duties as well as the honor of heading the seven-member court, rotates among the judges in the order of seniority.

The Constitution authorizes a judge elected by his associates as Chief Justice to hold the post for four years. However the practice has been for each incumbent to resign the post at the end of one seventh of his 12-year term to make room for the next in line.

Election of Judge Tipton as Conkling's successor as Chief Justice was unanimous by his associates, without necessity of campaign.

The Chief Justice job carries no additional emoluments except the privilege of working longer hours.

3 Years for Church Embezzler.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 12 (INS)—John Nansson has been sentenced to three years at hard labor for "gross embezzlement" of $72,800 in church funds. He confessed he had spent the money on "antiques and high living."

NEHRU SAYS HE WANTS TO RETIRE 'TEMPORARILY'

But Indian Prime Minister Emphasizes He Won't 'Withdraw Into Wilderness.'

NEW DELHI, Oct. 12 (UP)—Prime Minister Nehru said today he would like to "retire temporarily" as the head of India's government.

But he emphasized that he has no intention of "withdrawing into the wilderness."

Nehru, who earlier had described himself as weary and anxious to be relieved of the duties of leading India's ruling Congress party, said he would welcome temporary retirement as prime minister in order to regain freshness of outlook.

At the same time he announced, in a letter to the state chiefs of the Congress party, that he will not seek election as party president next month.

Sources close to the Prime Minister said Nehru wants to groom an acceptable Congress leader as his successor both as Premier and as Congress President.

Names mentioned for this designation include Morarji Desai, chief minister of Bombay state, and B. G. Kher, former Indian high commissioner to London.

Nehru assured his party followers that while tired "I am in good health and as fit as any person of my age can expect to be."

DIRKSEN CANCELS SPEECH IN BEHALF OF CLIFFORD CASE

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 12 (AP)—Senator Everett M. Dirksen (Rep.), Illinois, will not be able to make a planned appearance in New Jersey in behalf of Republican senatorial candidate Clifford P. Case Oct. 15.

The announceemnt was made last night by Republican state chairman Samuel L. Bodine, who said he received a call from Harold Rainville, a member of Dirksen's staff, requesting that the Illinois Senator be "released" from the engageemnt.

Rainville, in Washington, said Dirksen would campaign in Illinois Oct. 15 because no detailed campaign tour had been arranged for the Senator in New Jersey.

Plans for Dirksen's appearance in New Jersey had been made at a White House conference last August at which both Case and the Illinois Senator were present.

AUSTRIA REPORTED AGREEING TO 4-POWER TREATY TALKS

VIENNA, Oct. 12 (AP) — A high government source said today Austria has agreed to a Soviet suggestion that four-power talks be held in Vienna on an Austrain state treaty.

The cabinet announced it was sending a note to the Soviet ambassador here on a recent Russian proposal that talks be opened at the ambassadorial level. The announcement did not disclose the contents of the Austrian answer, but the government source said Austria agreed on the ground it could not turn down any proposal which might lead to its long delayed indepencence.

The Austrians suggested several months ago that the Big Four ambasadors in Vienna sit down to discuss a relaxation of some of the occupation burdens. The West agreed to the Austrian proposal, but wanted foreign ministers instead of ambassadors to meet. Russia proposed the ambassadors discuss the treaty anyway.

THAILAND DELEGATE SETS VISHINSKY RIGHT ON SMILE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 12 (UP)—Thailand had to make a little speech today to make it clear to the United Nations Political Committee that a smile is just a smile.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky, in a statement on disarmament, denounced the "ludicrous" theory that the Soviet Union would export revolution. Waxing emotional on the "fantastic nature" of this theory, Vishinsky noted the smile of Thailand's Prince Wan Waithayakon and said, "I see that Thailand's representative seems to agree with me."

Prince Wan then asked for the floor to remark: "It is dangerous to interpret my smile. I always smile."

Artist Must Fix His Attic Stove; Queen Is Coming to Pose for Him

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Portrait painter Pietro Annigoni admits he feels more at ease in his studios than in Buckingham Palace, but Queen Elizabeth II might not if he doesn't get his stove fixed.

Annigoni has been commissioned by the ancient Fishmongers Guild to paint the Queen's portrait and Her Majesty has agreed to pose at 15 sittings in the artist's Kensington walkup studio.

"The Queen is so thoughtful," said the Florence painter. "At Buckingham Palace I should have felt awed. Here I shall feel at ease."

The stove, an outsized pot-bellied affair such as is used for heating British army barracks, stands in a corner of Annigoni's studio.

Last week Annigoni started a portrait of the Duchess of Devonshire. Before putting paint to canvas he stirred up the stove.

A roar from the squat heater shattered the artistic setting. The lid shot into the air. The door blew open. Soot and black smoke billowed over the room. Red hot embers poured on the carpet, and the Duchess, sitting three feet away, showed symptoms of fright. But no one was injured.

"The studio does not warm up very quickly," he painter said. "The Queen will have to sit near the stove to keep warm. I shall have to have it fixed."

Chrysler Shows Three-Tone Cars In Big Drive to Regain Sales

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1954, Pulitzer Publishing Co.)

DETROIT, Oct. 12—An event which has just taken place here is likely to dwarf in significance anything that the political candidates may say in the campaign now being waged in Michigan. In a showing that any Broadway producer might have envied, the Chrysler Corp. displayed yesterday for the benefit of 500 press, radio and television critics its dazzling 1955 model cars in brilliant colors, applied in some instances not merely in two tones but in three.

While every automobile company offers new models about this time every year, there was a special reason in the upheaval going on in the automobile industry why this showing should have attracted such wide attention.

Chrysler, according to figures published by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, showed a drop in production of 45.8 per cent for the first six months of this year as compared to the first six months of 1953. That is an astonishing thing to happen to a corporation listed among the top 10 in the United States. At the same time Ford showed an increase of 40 per cent.

Monopoly Issue.

The brilliant new models of the Chrysler, De Soto, Dodge and Plymouth are meant to recapture the share of the auto market lost this year. They are a challenge to the increasing concentration in General Motors and Ford, the two giants accounting through sales of all their models for a fraction more than 84 per cent of the total market at the beginning of September. The issue of ever increasing monopoly is wrapped up in this effort.

This matter of competition versus monopoly has a direct bearing on unemployment which ties it into the current political campaign. With increasing boldness the Democrats are claiming, not only here in Michigan but elsewhere, that a ground swell of resentment and disillusion foreshadows a Democratic victory in both House and Senate. No small share of this resentment they attribute to the unemployment in certain industrial areas, conspicuously in Detroit where, according to the estimate of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, 13.1 per cent of the labor force was unemployed on Sept. 15.

Chrysler is concentrated in Detroit, which is one reason for a peak unemployment figure of nearly 300,000, with 209,000 claiming unemployment compensation, in the week ending Sept. 23. Model changes always mean seasonal unemployment in this state where so much of the motor industry is centered.

In an introductory speech preceding the showing, L. L. Colbert, president of Chrysler, said that by the middle of November the corporation would have nearly 160,000 people at work throughout the United States. This, he told the audience in the gaily decorated circus tent in which the showing was held in suburban Bloomfield Hills, would be an increase of 50,000 over the average of the last six months.

That does not include the suppliers of Chrysler nor all the businesses large and small that directly or indirectly depend on the giants of the automobile industry in an economy increasingly dominated by automobile production. So if the public goes for these models and Chrysler regains the share of the business it has lost—the drop was from about 20 per cent to less than 13 per cent—a big stride will have been taken to relieve unemployment in some of the worst areas. And the Democratic prophets of gloom and doom, as the Republicans call them, will thereby be refuted.

Certainly Chrysler has shot the works in the present challenge. Colbert said that the company had spent more than $250,000,000 in designing and retooling to produce cars with new bodies, new cassis, new colors, new upholstery.

The company brought more than 250 writers and commenators from outside the state to see the show. In the phraseology of the theater it was a dazzling production with a ballet and a cancan chorus. Henry Ford I and his old black tin Lizzie must have been revolving in their respective graves. The heralded new "forward look" was done in pompano peach, in violet and gray and taupe, in lime green, in all the colors of the rainbow with chromium used in new swept back, streamlined way. Upholstery fabrics were shot through with silver threads and designed to look like cut brocades.

Race for Survival.

Behind the hoopla is a grim race for survival in an industry that has seen 1500 companies fail. While Chrysler suffered a 45 per cent drop in production in the first half of '54, the independents lost 64.7 per cent. This explains the merger of Studebaker and Packard in one company and Nash and Hudson in another, with reports that the four former independents have plans to merge in one firm which can compete collectively with the giants. Kaiser-Willys has virtually stopped production except for the jeep and Henry Kaiser recently announced that he intended to take part of his production facilities to Argentina in a deal with the Peron regime to make automobiles there.

The profits figure of the first six months show the concentration even more clearly. General Motors announced a record high of $425,000,000 for the first half of the year as compared to $313,000,000 for the same period in 1953. Chrysler's profits were down from $44,136,000 to $15,791,000.

Of the 84 per cent of the busness held by the big two General Motors has about 53 or 54 per cent and Ford the balance. The two giants have, of course, such great resources that if they should decide to cut prices they could drive all competitors out in short order. But as executives of these companies have frequently remarked, this is the last thing they want to do since they are fearful of the accusation of monopoly power. Although they lack the advantages of large scale operation, the smaller companies must pay the same rates for labor and the same prices for material in labor and commodity markets also organized on the giant pattern.

Defense Orders.

Another and even more serious aspect of the monopoly issue—certainly from the political viewpoint—is the concentration of defense orders in General Motors. Senator Henry M. Jackson, Democrat of Washington, obtained figures from the Pentagon in Washington showing a net increase in contracts for G.M. in the first 18 months of the Eisenhower Administration of $1,704,300,000. This contrasts with a net decrease of $395,000,000 for the rest of the automobile industry. While this comparison may serve as political ammunition in the current campaign, Jackson and others, Republicans as well as Democrats, have been sincerely concerned over the growing concentration of defense production in a few plants.

It can be demonstrated that this is more economical and more efficient. But whether it is also in the best interests of national security in the atomic age is a question that can be rightfully raised whether in political season or out.

Recently Chrysler underbid G.M. on a government contract for 1500 Patton tanks to be produced at Newark, Del. The Chrysler bid was $88,000 each as compared to G.M.'s $93,000. This was in contrast to an earlier tank contract when G.M. underbid Chrysler, one consequence being that Chrysler was then virtually out of defense production.

The determined note both in politics on the Republican side and in industry is one of optimism, a note sounded over and over again. The total production of cars this year is expected to reach 5,300,000. In introducing his new line Colbert predicted that in 1955 the industry would exceed that total. That, of course, will be the real test as to whether the smaller competitors can stand up to the power of the two giants.

To Head Safety Council.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. George Craig Stewart, Army transportation expert, has been appointed general manager of the National Safety Council. Gen. Stewart will be retired from the Army Oct. 31 and take his Council position next month.

South African Premier Malan Resigns in Surprise Move

White Supremacy Advocate Gives No Reason for Retirement Nov. 30.

DANIEL F. MALAN

PRETORIA, South Africa, Oct. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan, 80-year-old fighter for white supremacy and racial segregation in the Union of South Africa, dramatically announced to his cabinet last night that he had irrevokably decided to retire from office Nov. 30.

He will give up his seat in Parliament from Piketberg and retire to his home at Stellenbosch, in Cape Province. He gave no reason for his decision.

Diplomats in London speculated that Malan's retirement probably was due to three reasons: (1) His declining health; (2) The recent illness of his wife, his closest political adviser, and (3) Recent differences with Nationalist party strong man Johannes G. Strydom, who long has urged stronger race segregation measures and establishment of a republic.

Malan, the National party chief, did not name his successor, but political circles believe he has chosen Finance Minister N. C. Havenga, who in 1951 merged his Afrikaner party with Malan's faction to form the present National party.

Speculation on Strydom.

There was speculation that Strydom, Nationalist leader in the Transvaal and a Cabinet member, might be a candidate for the top post. However, observers believed Malan had taken steps to line up his successor.

The Nationalists hold majorities in both houses—94 of the 159 in th · Assembly and 29 of 48 in the Senate. The next elections are scheduled for 1958.

Malan became Premier in 1948 after his Nationalists won parliamentary control from the United Party of the late Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts. During the next six years he fought to advance his "apartheid" policy of white supremacy and racial segregation, and to whip up sentiment in the Union to the point where he could make it a republic outside the British Commonwealth.

Clashed With UN.

He clashed with the United Nations over his racial policies, which were attacked by Indian Prime Minister Nehru's government. He ignored repeated efforts to establish UN trusteeship over Southwest Africa, the former Germany colony which South Africa administered under a League of Nations mandate and in effect made a part of the Union in 1949.

However, Malan's government co-operated with the UN military effort in Korea and promised to join the West in any war with Russian-led Communism.

As Smuts's opposition during World War II, Malan openly favored the Nazis. The Nationalists demanded neutrality for South Africa, and Malan campaigned unsuccessfully in 1943 with the promise "to cease active participation in the war" if elected.

But Malan's biggest controversy resulted from his determination to keep South Africa's 2,500,000 whites supreme over its 9,500,000 Negroes, Asiatics and half-castes. The opposition United Party pushed for a moderate, democratic approach. Malan, of Boer ancestry and a Dutch Reformed Church minister before he entered journalism and politics in 1915, represented strong-arm control.

When the courts declared unconstitutional a key measure of his apartheid program, he sought to set up Parliament as the nation's highest court.

G.O.P. 'HARD MONEY' MEANS HARD TO GET, SAYS DEMOCRAT

One of the first things the Republican Administration did after it took control of the Government two years ago was to institute a "hard money" policy, Gregory J. Nooney, real estate dealer, said today.

"That is, it made money hard to get for loans to small business men and farmers," he said. Nooney, who was chairman of the Greater St. Louis Volunteers for Stevenson Committee which campaigned for election of former Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois as president in 1952, spoke at St. Louis Democratic Campaign Headquarters.

"A tight money policy chokes the entire economy," Nooney said. "By 1953 the Republican Administration had to reverse its policy and by last January it had to admit the Democrats were right, tight money had helped to bring on the recession."

DEATH ASKED FOR 13 JEWS IN EGYPT MILITARY TRIAL

CAIRO, Oct. 12 (UP) — The prosecution demanded today that an Egyptian high military court impose a death sentence on 13 Jews accused of spying and sabotage.

The defendants, headed by Israeli army officer John Darling, were accused of supplying Israel with military, economic and political secrets as well as sabotaging public and foreign diplomatic buildings. Their aim, the prosecution said, was to obstruct an agreement between Egypt and Britain on the Suez canal.

Darling is said to have fled. Among those in custody are Max Beneth, automobile agency executive, and Dr. Mazook, a physician.

MARGARINE USE RISING; RECORD SET LAST YEAR

...ever, Industry Be...ves Pace Is Slowing —Production in 1954 ...unning Ahead 6 Pct.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—After a dozen years of spectacular growth, consumption of margarine in this country continues to climb. But the industry sees signs that the pace is slowing.

By this time, however, the vegetable oil spread has become an established part of the American diet. Since the beginning of World War II, consumption has climbed nearly a billion pounds — from 363,000,000 pounds a year in 1941 to 1,292,000,000 last year.

Production in 1953 set a new record, but the increase was the smallest in four years. It's still going up, however; the National Association of Margarine Manufacturers says output this year is running 6 per cent ahead of 1953.

S. F. Riepma, president of the association, estimates that per capita consumption of the cheaper table spread will reach about eight pounds this year. Per capita consumption of butter, he says, is expected to be approximately nine pounds.

According to Riepma, margarine contributes about one-sixth of the food-fat calories and about one-half of the food-fat vitamin A to the national diet. It contributes $120,000,000 yearly to farmers' cash income, he adds, by using about a billion pounds of vegetable oils and 215,000,000 pounds of skim milk annually.

Such antimargarine legislation has been swept away in recent years. Since 1939, twenty-six states have removed rules against yellow margarine and various taxes and other restrictions have been eliminated. In 1950, Congress repealed the 64-year-old federal taxes and fees on sales of yellow margarine. Until that was done, yellow margarine was taxed 10 cents a pound by the Federal Government.

Restrictive laws still are in force in some states. They range from rules against the use of margarine in restaurants and public institutions to taxes and license fees on sales. Two states—Minnesota and Wisconsin—prohibit the manufacture and sale of factory-colored margarine.

Singing Commercials Signalize Changing Trend in Yugoslavia

Free-Enterprise Markets, Old-Fashioned Newspaper Also Signs of Easing of Communist Grip.

By FRED M. HECHINGER
The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

BELGRADE, Oct. 12 — An American who knows life in Communist countries is startled to find radio commercials, including the singing variety, interrupting broadcasts on the Yugoslav state radio.

"Where did you get those divine shoes?" asks a charming female voice. And the reply: "Oh, I found them just yesterday at the Blank store in Belgrade, and they have hundreds more just as handsome. Why don't you go and see for yourself?"

Even after this surprise, I was hardly prepared for the next shock. A top-level Yugoslav government official—a Communist, of course, for Yugoslavia is still run by a single authoritarian party using the Communist label and methods—told me that "you Americans don't fight hard enough for the liberation of Soviet satellites."

He also said one of the dangers to Western defense is that there are too many "Cominformists" in the French and Italian armies.

A Visit to Market.

A visit to any of the colorful markets in this Balkan capital reveals still another significant development. Peasant women spread out their tomatoes, green peppers, eggs and fruit on wooden stands. Housewives bargain skillfully. If an inexperienced shopper is ready to pay an unreasonable price, fellow marketers are likely to pull her sleeve and tell her: "Over there you get it for two dinars less." This is self-defense, to keep prices down.

The remarkable part of this picture is that among the free-enterprise peasants are a few clearly identifeid displays of the state farms. Their prices are fixed. No bargaining—and few customers. The government has agreed to permit private competition, and individual enterprise is winning.

Not long ago a new evening paper hit the streets of Belgrade. The Evening News is a tabloid, much given to old-fashioned gossip and pictures of the cheesecake, sex and glamour type. News coverage, though not straying too far from what is politically acceptable here, is lively and free from labored dialectic. The paper is a success.

All these are merely surface signs of a great chance that has taken place in Yugoslavia during the last two years. The signs, superficial as they may seem, add up to a pattern. The pattern leads to a question: Will Yugoslavia drop Communism?

A decline of rigid Communism in Yugoslavia would not necessarily mean, of course, that the country's new ideology would conform with the ideas of western European nations. President Tito emphasized this last month in his criticism of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as a bloc increasingly aimed, not at military aggression, but at the idea of Communism.

For Yugoslavia, said Tito, an external ideological struggle was out of the question. Internally, although he did not mention it, a struggle already seems to be in progress.

Yugoslavia's trend toward liberalization is only two years old, but the beginning dates back to the break with Soviet Russia and the Cominform in 1948. Evidence indicates that liberal elements are gaining the upper hand and are intent on moving toward further relaxation of the party line.

Collective Farm Failure.

The key to this situation is the Yugoslav peasant. In a country of 17,000,000 people a peasant population of 11,000,000 is a powerful force. Before the break with Stalinism the Russian-model collective farm was pushed actively.

It did not work. Even at the height of "the revolution" only about 20 per cent of Yugoslavia's farms had become parts of collectives.

In 1953, the government announced that anyone who wanted to do so could leave the collectives. Today only about 7 per cent of the farms are collectivized.

Other changes followed. The most important of them was the policy of decentralization. Administrative control was taken out of the hands of Belgrade bureaucrats and placed as close to the people as possible.

Showdown on Status of the Athletics Set for League Meeting Today

Richards Tried To Get Pinky

By John P. Carmichael

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.

WHEN Paul Richards came to the White Sox in 1950, he tried to get Francis Michael (Pinky) Higgins to come along as No. 1 coach. "We offered him," substantiated Frank Lane, "more than he was going to get as a minor league manager."

But Higgins, then in the Red Sox organization, told the White Sox general manager: "I appreciate the offer . . . but I think I'll stick with this outfit. . . . They promised me something good eventually."

So Pinky went to Louisville, a Red Sox farm, as pilot. Then, a few weeks ago, Richards moved to Baltimore. Once more Paul went to Higgins, this time with a proposition to be head coach and eventually manager under Richards.

Now Pinky held the whip hand. He looked the Red Sox in the eye and asked about his immediate future . . . about that "something good." Boston had to fish, or cut bait, as the saying goes, and Higgins has replaced Lou Boudreau as manager of the Red Sox through 1955 and 1956. . . . !

Not too long ago Boudreau was asked about his position for next year for which he has a holdover contract. "I don't know," he said. "I'm signed . . . but they've paid off managers before in the big leagues."

Perennial Bridesmaid.

THE Phillies, as well as Baltimore, were contacting Higgins, a circumstance which helped force Boston's hands. Apparently Terry Moore, who took over the Phils in midseason, hasn't yet been indorsed for '55. It's the only job currently open for Lou, Jim, Fred, or that perennial bridesmaid, "Lefty" O'Doul.

Moore accepted his role with the Phils on the presumption that he would be there next season . . . although it was only a verbal agreement with General Manager Roy Hamey. But then Terry had words with Granny Hamner and some of the other Phils, with the result that relationship was strained the rest of '54. Hamey didn't like that. . . . He sort of thought Terry had "popped off" unnecessarily.

The Phil situation has been a mess for the last few years . . . or ever since they won the 1950 pennant. Hamner had trouble with Owner Bob Carpenter over allegedly being trailed by a private eye in his off hours.

Hamner could, of course, be traded . . . and maybe he will be . . . but that may not help Moore. It's still easier to get a new manager than big league players . . . !

In the excitement over the unexpected twist to the recent world series, the wholesale swap of American League managers hasn't yet been considered in its devastating entirety. Only two men—Casey Stengel and Al Lopez—remain in their old jobs. Eddie Joost, the Athletics' pilot, hasn't yet been removed, pending disposition of the franchise.

But the others: Charley Dressen at Washington . . . Richards at Baltimore . . . Marty Marion at Chicago . . . "Bucky" Harris at Detroit . . . Higgins at Boston represent an impressive list of ruthless changes.

They can hardly fire Lopez for assisting the Indians to a record pennant . . . and Stengel has committed himself to Yankee custody for two more years on his own terms.

Inertia and Stagnation

DRESSEN, at Washington, is the brash young man who will try to disprove the ancient sing-song rhyme: "Washington . . . first in war, first in peace and last in the American League." Here is a franchise which, largely through the inertia of the aging Clark Griffith, has been allowed to stagnate in a city which should be the cross-road of America from the standpoint of fan interest.

No matter what team plays in Griffith stadium, it has home-town fans among the political office-holders and federal employes. . . . Plus the native sons and daughters for whom there hasn't been much to cheer in recent years. Somehow Griff was persuaded that he needed a fire-brand to rekindle enthusiasm.

"I think we'll like Dressen," said Griff at the series. "He lives, eats and talks baseball . . . just like I used to do. . . !"

Cochran Defeated by Navarra in Cue Play

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 12 (AP)—Ezequiel Navarra of Argentina defeated former world champion Welker Cochran of San Francisco 60-37 in the fourth round of the international three-cushion billiard tournament last night.

Juan Navarra, brother of Ezequiel, beat Mexico's Joe Chamaco 60-54 in 62 innings to emain in second place with seven points.

World champion Ray Kilgore of San Francisco turned back Masako Katsura, Japanese woman star, 60-37 in 65 innings and Harold Worst, Grand Rapids, Mich., beat Ray Miller, Jackson, Mich., 60-41 in 64 innings.

Worst is in third place with six points followed by Miss Katsura with four. Kilgore has three, Chamaco and Cochran two each and Miller none.

K.C. Bid Appears The Best

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Who will gain control of the Philadelphia Athletics and where they play in 1955 were the big questions American League club owners hope to decide at a meeting today.

The debt-ridden Macks are almost certain to lose control of the franchise, which has been in their family for 54 years, unless some "angel" pops up with needed cash.

At a league meeting in New York two weeks ago, Roy Mack was given 14 days to raise $750,000 to buy control of the team from his father Connie, and brother Earle. Roy, fighting grimly to keep the Athletics in Philadelphia, hasn't come up with the money.

Arnold Johnson, Chicago business executive, seems to be top man with his $3,375,000 offer to buy the team and move the franchise to Kansas City. Connie Mack and Earle are in favor of selling to Johnson but Roy has opposed them.

McShain Reported Out of It.

Millionaire building contractor John McShain, believed to be Roy's last hope to get the money, said in Philadelphia he has lost interest in backing Roy financially.

Two other offers besides Johnson's are reported to have been made but American League President Will Harridge said yesterday "the only bona fide offer we know about thus far for the Athletics has been made by Johnson."

However, Tommy Richardson, president of the Eastern League and one of the Athletics' directors, maintains he has $3,375,000 in cash to match Johnson's offer. He'll be in Chicago for today's meeting.

He said he wants to give the Athletics another chance in Philadelphia in 1955. A minimum of 750,000 in paid attendance for the season is needed to break even. If this is not forthcoming, Richardson said he plans to shift the franchise in 1956 to one of six cities—Toronto, Montreal, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston or St. Paul. The Athletics' attendance this season was 306,131.

Third Offer Reported.

Another offer was reported made in Washington, D.C., yesterday. Leo de Orsey, attorney, and Joe Tucci, retired plumbing contractor, said they want to buy the team and keep it in Philadelphia.

De Orsey and Tucci said they have made an offer of $2,856,000 which will be submitted at today's meeting by Calvin Griffith, executive director of the Washington Senators. De Orsey said Roy Mack would be retained in an executive capacity if the offer is accepted and efforts would be made to land Lefty O'Doul or Tommy Henrich as manager.

Johnson said yesterday he has been informed by his engineers that they still have time to rebuild the Kansas City Stadium to accommodate 35,000 fans before the season opens in April.

Transferring the franchise requires approval of six of the eight clubs. Washington and Detroit are already on record as opposed to the proposed transfer.

The Kansas City Merchants Association said it had received requests for more than one million tickets for the 1955 season, contingent on the Athletics moving to Kansas City. The requests will be presented to club owners at the Chicago meeting.

Giant Puerto Rican Reception for Gomez

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 12 (UP)—An enthusiastic crowd of 5000 greeted Pitcher Ruben Gomez of the New York Giants upon his arrival at San Juan airport yesterday and cheered the slender righthander for almost half an hour despite a heavy rain.

Gomez, who won 17 games for the Giants this year and was credited with New York's 6-2 victory over Cleveland in the third game of the world series, was presented with the key to the city and driven through downtown San Juan with a police motorcycle escort.

Dodgers Buy Two.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 12 (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers announced the purchase of two minor league players, outfielder Bert Hamric of St. Paul and first baseman Norm Larker of Montreal.

Hamric hit .350 at St. Paul last season. Larker, playing for Mobile, batted .326.

Tigers Get Bucky's Autograph

—United Press Telephoto.

BUCKY HARRIS, only manager ever rehired by Detroit after service with another club, signs a one-year contract to pilot the Tigers. Watching are General Manager CHARLEY GEHRINGER (left) and WALTER (SPIKE) BRIGGS JR., club president. Harris, fired by the Senators, replaces Fred Hutchinson, who quit because Detroit wouldn't give him a two-year contract.

Higgins Had Two Definite Offers To Manage in Majors---Cronin

BOSTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Reports that other major league teams were after the services of Frank (Pinky) Higgins prompted the Boston Red Sox to promote their Louisville farm club manager to a two-year pact as pilot of the Sox, General Manager Joe Cronin said.

Higgins's appointment to succeed Lou Boudreau, whose second two-year pact with the Sox had a season to run, was made yesterday by Cronin at a hastily called press conference.

Cronin was asked why Higgins, groomed in the Red Sox minor league chain for eight years, wasn't called up next year when Boudreau's contract ran out.

"It wasn't so much getting rid of Boudreau as it was saving Higgins for the organization," Cronin answered. "He had three offers to manage other teams—two of them very difinite, one in each league—and it wouldn't have been fair for us to stand in his way for advancement."

Definite Offers Reported.

Those definite offers are believed to have come from the Baltimore Orioles, where in his present status Paul Richards is both general and field manager, and the Philadelphia Phillies.

The decision to bring up the 45-year-old Higgins was made in a long-distance telephone conversation Sunday night between Cronin and Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey—some 24 hours after Pinky's Louisville team of the American Association won the Little World Series from Syracuse of the International loop.

Higgins and Boudreau were informed by phone just prior to the press conference.

Pinky, a third baseman who went to the Philadelphia Athletics right out of the University of Texas in 1930, played on the Red Sox teams with Cronin in 1937 and '38 and saw his last year of active service on the pennant-winning Red Sox of 1946.

Higgins, unlike Boudreau who at 25 jumped right into the role of player-manager at Cleveland in 1942 without previous experience, asked to start his managerial career at the bottom of the ladder. When offered a job at Toronto of the International League in 1947, where Boston then had a working agreement, Higgins told Yawkey he wanted to learn the business on the ground floor.

He spent two years piloting Roanoke, Va., of the Class B Piedmont League where he won the pennant and playoffs his first season, two years at Birmingham of the Class AA Southern Association with two second places and four in Triple A Louisville.

Beat Syracuse 4 to 2.

The Colonels finished second behind Cleveland farm team Indianapolis this year but swept past Columbus and the Indians in the league playoffs, then defeated Syracuse four games to two.

Jimmy Piersall, Harry Agganis, Ted Lepcio and Karl Olson among others, all with Boston this past season, have been tutored by Pinky.

Higgins and his coach, Bo Ferriss, also had a big hand in the speedy development of Lefty Frank Baumann, St. Louis bonus pitcher who was a sensation with Louisville in 1953, winning 16 and losing one. Baumann is in Army, but may be out in time for part of next season. He recently struck out nine New York Giants in going the distance and winning for the Red Sox in an exhibition game.

As Cronin put it:

"I don't believe any man in our system knows as much about our young players as Higgins."

The contract for Higgins is for an undisclosed salary. Cronin said the Red Sox "will meet the obligation" of the second year of Boudreau's contract.

Higgins will fly to Boston in time for a press conference tomorrow afternoon at Fenway Park.

"The boys on the Red Sox are going to be very good men one of these years and I was hoping I'd be with them when they became men. They're going to have a good ball team and I'm sorry I won't be with them."

Boudreau, one of the finest shortstops in baseball, moved to Boston in 1951 and became manager in 1952. Since then the Sox have finished fifth once and fourth twice.

Oddly enough, the man who haunted Boston as an opponent was never as effective with the Red Sox. He invented the Ted Williams shift in midsummer 1946 which was used with such effectiveness against the slugger by the Cardinals in the world series that year. And in the 1948 playoff game, a one-shot affair, Boudreau starred as he did in the ensuing series against the Boston Braves.

Faurot Seeks Reserves for Indiana Game

Faurot said his squad apparently came through last week's defeat at the hands of Southern Methodist without injury of consequence, but he isn't sure that any of his regulars who missed the S.M.U. game will return to active duty before the Indiana contest.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 12 (AP)—Indiana University was without major casualties except red ears under the commentary of Coach Bernie Crimmins as he showed movies of Saturday's Michigan State game.

Crimmins said the Hoosiers played their best game of the year in losing 21-14 to the Spartans, "but our poor tackling permitted them a touchdown they never should have had on a long pass play. And our lack of alertness gave them a home run on the punt return."

The squad ran through an evening workout on defenses for Missouri on Saturday.

In an address to the Chicago Quarterback Club, Crimmins said, "Actually, aside from one incident, it was a very clean game."

"Milt Campbell, our sophomore halfback, told me in the dressing room that someone had twisted his injured knee," said Crimmins.

"I advised him if that ever happened again, to kick his way free. It actually wasn't a particularly rough and certainly not a dirty game," he added.

Llamas Upsets Vic Seixas in Tennis Tourney

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 12 (UP)—Beverly Baker Fleitz of Santa Monica, Calif., won the women's singles championship in the Pan-American tennis tournament yesterday with a 7-5, 8-6, victory over Barbara Breit, Hollywood, Calif.

Mrs. Fleitz demonstrated a more polished and experienced game than the United States junior champion for the fairly easy straight set win. She broke the younger girl's service only twice.

Llamas led the advance to the singles semifinals by trimming Seixas in straight sets, 6-2, 8-6, 6-4. The American, badly off form, never threatened as Llamas ran him all over the court.

Llamas will meet former United States champion Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., in the semifinals. Larsen moved ahead with a sparkling 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 victory over United States Davis Cupper Eddie Moylan.

Swedish champion Sven Davidson plastered United States Davis Cup player Bernard Bartzen 6-0, 6-1, 6-3 to take over the other semifinal berth against Bartzen's teammate Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, O. Trabert advanced when John Barrett of England defaulted because of illness.

Clay Pigeons Fall Like Birdies for Sam Snead

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va., Oct. 12 (UP)—Sam Snead the golfer became Sam Snead the marksman on his first try at trap-shooting yesterday.

Amateur trap-shooters Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Summers of Parkersburg, W.Va., invited the Greenbriar Hotel pro to the Greenbrier Gun Club to test his eye on the clay pigeons.

Snead stepped up and broke 50 straight targets. He only missed twice in his third round of 25, giving him a total score of 73 out of 75.

Gun club manager S. W. Seybold called Snead's performance "very phenomenal for an amateur." Said Seybold:

Eliot Places 272-Pounder on His First Team

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP)—Coach Ray Eliot, seeking a solution to Illinois' weaknesses, yesterday promoted two new players to the first team.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Minnesota football team laid off the rough stuff to nurse a few bruises and take a hard look at the offense Illinois will toss against the Gophers here Saturday.

Ron Smith, first-string end who suffered a shoulder separation in Saturday's 26-7 victory over Northwestern, is uplikely to play against the Illini. Tom Juhl, a sophomore, moved into Smith's flank spot with the varsity, with Phil McElroy, a senior, moving into Juhl's second-team berth.

7 Per Cent Drop in Home Runs; Cards 21 Off Their Total in '53

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Major league home run production last season tailed off almost 7 per cent from its record shattering output of 2076 homers in 1953.

The National League produced 1114 and the American 823 for an aggregate of 1937. The National hit 1197—a new high—and the American 879 in '53.

The World Champion New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers each slammed 186 homers to pace the majors. The Cleveland Indians topped the American League with 156.

The Baltimore Orioles connected only 52 times in their first major league season since 1901 to finish with the fewest homers. Pittsburgh was last in the National League with 76.

Eleven clubs showed decreases with Baltimore winding up 60 homers behind the aggregate of the 1953 St. Louis Browns. Pittsburgh slumped to 23, Brooklyn and the Philadelphia A's 22 each, the Cardinals 21 and Cincinnati 19.

The Giants, Chicago Cubs, Boston Red Sox, Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators were the teams which increased their home run outputs. The Cubs and Red Sox showed the biggest gains — bettering their '53 totals by 22.

Birds Call Up Virdon, Faszholz

Playing put-and-take with their farm club at Rochester, N.Y., the Cardinals today brought up five players from the Red Wings and sent Pitchers Cot Deal and Ralph Beard to the International League club.

The leading man in the intramural dealing is outfielder Bill Virdon, the International League's top hitter (.335) the past season. Third Baseman Ronnie Plaza and three pitchers, Jack Faszholz, Larry Jackson and reliefer Tony Jacobs, complete the Rochester-to-St. Louis traffic.

Gone but without a ticket to any specific place are two Cardinal veterans, Relief Pitcher Al Brazle, and that former hero-in-a-pinch, utility outfielder and infielder Peanuts Lowrey. The Cardinals announced last night that waivers had been asked on Brazle and Lowrey for the purpose of unconditional release.

They could be claimed for $1, but both are 10-year men and have the option of rejecting a club's claim and doing business for themselves as best they can.

Virdon fits the Cardinals' "youth" pattern, and so do most of the other five brought up from Rochester. Virdon is 23, so is Jackson, and Plaza is 20 years old.

Virdon is the first to be called up among the Cardinals supply of wondrous rookies. Pitchers have not been as prominent down on the farm as have been Virdon, and Shortstop Don Blasingame and Third Baseman Ken Boyer at Houston. Such rookies could give the Cards added room to maneuver in deals. Virdon was one of the rookies the Yanks surrendered for Enos Slaughter.

Faszholz is 27 years old and Jacobs is 29. Faszholz is familiar here. He attended Concordia Seminary and he attended the Cardinals once before, too. He was with the team briefly in 1953. He won 18 and lost nine this season and the International League sportswriters voted him the league's outstanding right-hand pitcher. Jacobs was small—5 feet 9 inches and 160 pounds—but mighty enough—13 victories and one defeat—in the bullpen for the Wings.

Was at Spring Camp.

Jackson trained with the Cardinals last spring. His record at Rochester was 12-and-7 this year but the part of his case history Cardinal officers prefer to dwell upon is his 1952 record at Fresno, Calif.—28 victories, four defeats, 30 complete games and 351 strike-outs.

Plaza was at Allentown, a Class A club, and hit .261 this past season. He has been praised as a defenseman. In the outward-bound crew, Deal is a veteran used often for the final innings of lost causes, and he won two, lost three. Beard was one of the rookies the Cards brought forth during the season when their pitching was at its worst. He didn't win a game, and lost four, but was inclined to handicap himself by worrying in advance of his starts. Once he can calm his nerves, Manager Eddie Stanky believes, Beard has prospects.

Brazle Had 5-4 Mark.

Brazle thought near the end of his 5-and-4 season this year that he had prospects of several more years in the majors, by adding a pitch to his repertoire. Failing that, he has said he would resign himself to a few years in the high minors as a finisher to his playing career.

Brazle has a major league record of 97 victories, 64 defeats, and 39 birthdays. He will have another birthday next Tuesday. He takes with him the Cards' record for the number of games appeared in, 60, and games-finished, 33.

Lowrey joined the Cards late in 1950, on waivers from the Reds. He set a major league record in 1952 with seven consecutive pinch hits, and made 21 pinch hits in 1953. This year, 36-year-old Lowrey hit .115, which wasn't Peanuts, as the Cardinals had known him.

3-Year Renewal Of Orange Bowl Pact Approved

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 12 (AP)—The Orange Bowl Committee voted yesterday in favor of a three-year renewal of its contract with the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast conferences to provide the football teams for its New Year's day games.

Approval by the two conferences is believed certain.

The present two-year pact will expire after the game next Jan. 1. Last New Year's day, the pact produced the country's top bowl game between Maryland, the No. 1 team of the nation in the A.P. poll, and Oklahoma, the No. 4 team.

James L. Knight, Orange Bowl president, said the tieup with the two conferences was "the best possible deal we can make."

He said Orange Bowl revenue from television and radio contracts will increase under such a setup because advertising sponsors will pay more for "a known quantity" than they will if they have to buy a game on speculation.

Oklahoma Still No. 1 in U.P. Ratings; Wisconsin Now Ranks Second

Minnesota Ninth, Up 7 Places

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (UP)—Oklahoma, which surmounted its biggest obstacle toward an undefeated football season Saturday, retained the top spot in the United Press ratings today with Wisconsin moving up to second place.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners received 26 first-place votes from the 35 leading college coaches who make up the United Press Rating Board.

Oklahoma, playing without first-string quarterback Gene Calame, beat a tough Texas team, 14-7, for its third straight victory this season. The Sooners begin quest of their seventh consecutive Big Seven Conference championship Saturday against Kansas. Of their conference rivals, only Colorado (rated thirteenth this week) is given much chance of providing trouble for Wilkinson's men.

17 Points from "Perfect."

The Sooners attracted a total of 333 points this week—only 17 short of a perfect score. Wisconsin, 13-7 conqueror of Rice for its third victory of the year, had four first-place votes and 274 points.

(Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for a second and so on down to one for a tenth place vote.)

Other first-place votes were distributed as follows: Two for U.C.L.A. and one each for Ohio State and Purdue, which ranked behind Wisconsin in that order; and one for Colorado. The Big Ten Conference thus placed three of the top five teams this week, as well as the ninth-ranked team, Minnesota.

Duke, Notre Dame and Mississippi occupied the sixth to eighth ratings in order, with Penn State regaining tenth place after dropping to twelfth last week. Minnesota and Penn State were this week's newcomers among the top 10, replacing Iowa (which dropped to fourteenth) and Southern California (twentieth).

U.C.L.A., which beat Washington, 21-20, last Friday night for its fourth win in a row, dropped one place to third with 240 points. Ohio State had 188 points, Purdue 180, Duke 137, Notre Dame 128, Mississippi 108, Minnesota 76 and Penn State 48.

Gophers Advance Biggest.

Minnesota made the biggest advance among the top 10, vaulting seven places to ninth; Ohio State moved up six places to fourth; while Wisconsin, Notre Dame and Penn State each improved two places over the previous week.

The two service schools, Navy and Army, led the second 10 group in that order, with Colorado and Iowa next. Rice, Arkansas and Georgia Tech followed; Texas and Michigan State were tied for eighteenth, and Southern California (eighth last week) was twentieth.

Others among the 33 teams that received points in this week's voting were: Wichita, Maryland, Texas Tech, Tennessee, Cincinnati, West Virginia Miami (Fla.), Alabama, South Carolina, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Virginia Tech and Florida.

Sooner Coach Is Congratulated

Kutis Club Seeking Manpower; Six Chicago Teams, One From Milwaukee to Be Played Here

By Dent McSkimming

Now that he has lined up six Chicago clubs and at least one Milwaukee team for a series of intercity soccer matches, Manager Nick Jost of the Kutis club is concerned about strengthening his own squad.

Jost had only 11 players on his team in Chicago last Sunday. The game there with Slovaks was rained out and he thereby escaped the penalty that might have fallen to him if one of his starters was injured.

The Slovaks had laid careful plans to whip the team from St. Louis. Their star center forward, Irish-born Eddie Murphy, had traveled to Chicago from Ft. Leonard Wood where he is on military duty. Other stars had been borrowed from rival clubs. When the Slovaks come here for a game, Murphy will be in the lineup, the Chicagoans said.

"Playing at home," Jost explained, "we will have no trouble filling our bench, but I will certainly be looking for a chance to strengthen my team."

Milwaukeeans Here Sunday.

Following that game, Kutis will be host to Chicago's Viking, Sparta, Hansa, Slovak, Schwaben and Rangers clubs. Precise dates have not been announced, but Jost has leased the Stadium for the next 12 weeks and plans to have a game there every Sunday afternoon.

"By the time we get through our schedule with Chicago and Milwaukee clubs, it will be time to swing into later rounds of the national cup tournaments," said Jost. "The experience we gain from playing with these teams composed of European-trained players should make us a much stronger contender for the U.S. Open and U.S. Amateur titles. And last season we missed the Open Cup by only one game."

As to his chances of adding strong local talent to his roster, Jost was optimistic but would name no names. Many players would relish a chance to play with Kutis in these games against out-of-town clubs, but few are unattached.

Bill Looby Lured Away.

He had Bill Looby working out with his team in pre-season games but Bill was lured away by the St. Philip Neri club.

The club has signed Joe Carenza, former Spica back.

Ted Kirchhoefer, a valuable reserve player last season, has retired from competition and is now available for a coaching berth, preferably with a school team. Ted has coached junior teams and is well qualified. He is a school teacher by profession.

Canadian Grid Leaders Win

MONTREAL, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats are practically certain to qualify for the Big Four football playoffs again, but it's anybody's guess who'll qualify for the Western Conference finals.

The Big Four was pretty well settled yesterday when the Tiger-Cats racked up their fifth straight win by rallying for a 22-13 victory over the Toronto Argonauts on Ed Songin's brilliant passing.

Montreal, which lost to Hamilton in the Big Four playoff last season, strengthened its hold on first place by whipping the last-place Ottawa Rough Riders 24-6 for the team's eighth victory against one defeat.

In the Western Conference, the Calgary Stampeders trounced the British Columbia Lions 42-6, and the Saskatchewan Roughriders beat the Edmonton Eskimos 12-2. The Roughriders' win moved them into sole possession of first place over the Winnipeg Blue Bombers by two points. Calgary is tied for third place with Edmonton, which has four games to play against only two for the Stampeders. The first three teams after their 16-game schedules advance into the playoffs.

700 Bowlers to Hold Tourney Oct. 30-31

One of the city's most exclusive bowling tournaments, for members of the mythical "700 Club," will be held at Sweeney's Recreation, 720 Washington avenue, Oct. 30-31. The meet will be open only to St. Louis area bowlers who have rolled a three-game series of 700 or better in league or registered tournament play.

Gus Temperli, secretary of the Greater St. Louis Bowling Association, which will sponsor the event, said that 225 men will be eligible to compete. The meet will be on a handicap basis, with bowlers permitted to shoot twice if they wish. There will be six squads on both days, starting at 2 p.m., and with the final squad at 8:30. Entry fee is $5.25.

Entries should be mailed to Temperli, 4935a Delmar. His phone number is FOrest 7-6321.

Piggy Bank Bowl Game.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12 (UP)—John Ferro, president of the Pop Warner Football Conference, announced that Meriden, Conn., will be the site of the 1954 Piggy Bank Bowl game for 100-pound 12-year-olds from the East Coast. Four of the junior teams will compete Nov. 27 and 28 for the title.

Wichita Now Favored to Win Its First Title

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 12 (UP)—Coach Jack Mitchell's undefeated Wichita Shockers today ruled as favorites to win their first Missouri Valley title as a result of a 22-13 victory over Oklahoma A.&M. in the conference opener.

The Cowpokes fought back from a 7-6 halftime deficit Saturday to take the lead on "Earthquake" Earl Lunsford's second touchdown of the night, but J. B. Whitworth's crew still had to face Wichita Sophomore Quarterback Jack Conway and a double-scoring situation.

Wichita's young but eager line, averaging just 195 pounds, broke through to trap Ken McCullough for a safety late in the third period. That was two points.

Then on the ensuing kickoff, Conway raced back 75 yards for the decisive marker.

The Wellington, Kan., signal-caller also passed for another six points. Jim Klisanin scored once to tie with teammate Jim Sippy for the M.V.C. lead in points, and Frank Brannen notched his second credit in the touchdown column.

Wichita earned a chance to rest on its laurels next weekend, but Oklahoma A.&M. may find this Saturday just as tough.

The Cowpokes play Houston, which lost its opener, rested two weeks and found itself Saturday against Texas A.&M. The Cougars, pre-season co-favorites with the Oklahomans, beat the Aggies, 10-7, on Senior Guard Verle Cray's field goal from the 11-yard line with four minutes to play. Ronnie Emberg made the Cougars' touchdown.

Tulsa, whose staggering sophomores must face a good Kansas State team Saturday, dropped its fourth straight, 40-0, to Alabama.

The Hurricanes failed to cross the mid-field stripe more than twice and when it got to the Crimson Tide's 10-yard line in the final period on a pass interception, Alabama held for downs.

Bull Dog, Sire of Bull Lea, Is Dead

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 12 (AP)—Bull Dog, 27-year-old imported thoroughbred stallion which sired winners of more than $5,000,000, died Sunday. The horse had been ailing for some time and old age was principally responsible for his death.

Bull Dog has 52 stakes winners, among them Bull Lea, Our Boots, Occupation, Occupy, Coldstream, Tiger, Miss Dogwood, Bull Reigh, Eternal Bull, Miss Mommy, Noble Impulse, and Whiffenpoof. Some of his offspring here were top producers, headed by Bull Lea.

The stallion gained the leading sire list in 1935 and was on the roster 13 years.

Meaux Has Had 360 Mounts at Cahokia Meet

Clarence Meaux, the Abbeville (La.) apprentice jockey, who has come into the winner's circle 72 times since the Cahokia Downs meeting opened, July 27, has a .20 winning percentage. He has had 360 mounts.

His closest rival for rider honors, Howard Craig, has a better percentage, .22, since he has had only 265 mounts and 59 winners.

Meaux and Craig, who started riding here about a month later than his rival, have made a runaway race of the riding honors.

When more than $464,000 passed through the mutual windows on "Derby Night" it brought the total for the first 56 nights to $13,503,921, an average of $241,088 a night.

Bryan H. Wise, one of the track's top owners and trainers, has sent Alaric and Lieutenant to Chicago. . . . Lieutenant held the track record for the one mile and one-sixteenth route, until Endon bettered the figure in the St. Louis Derby. . . . Alaric won two races at the East Side course.

A seven-furlong sprint will feature tonight's program. . . . Eternal Sam, a three-time winner at the track, will probably be the favorite. . . . Other entrants are So True, Wise Needle, Grace Morse, Colorado Miner, Fair Sleep, I Froo and Double Barrel.

Washington U. Football Broadcasts Indefinite

Plans to resume radio broadcasts of Washington U. football games are indefinite, Athletic Director Blair Gullion said yesterday.

"There is no chance for the game this week," Gullion said when asked about a report that the Saturday game with Western Reserve may be broadcast.

Broadcasting of Washington football was discontinued this fall when a brewery dropped its sponsorship. Gullion said that there are prospective sponsors for games later this season and for the basketball season.

DICK BUTLER, who has signed a two-year contract as president of the Texas League.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 12 (UP)—Directors of the Texas League yesterday imported 42-year-old Dick Butler as the nineteenth head of the Class AA professional baseball loop, which began operating in 1888.

Butler, who has been head of the South Atlantic League for the last two years, succeeds John L. Reeves, who headed the Texas League for less than a year. Reeves yesterday got only three votes for re-election and immediately submitted his resignation, which was unanimously accepted.

Butler got a two-year contract at $12,000 a year, and was named secretary and treasurer of the league as well as president. Reeves had no contract, but was given $16,000 a year out of which to run the league office, hire help and pay himself.

Greasy Neale to Tutor Stydahar for One Week

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (UP)—The Chicago Cardinals announced that Earle (Greasy) Neale, former head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, will tutor Joe Stydahar for one week as an adviser.

Neale, who directed the Eagles to three eastern division titles and two national football league crowns in 10 years as coach, saw the Cardinals in their 31 to 7 loss to Cleveland Sunday and today studied movies of past games.

He is to observe their regular drill today and be active as a coach for the remainder of the week.

Neale was Stydahar's first college coach at West Virginia in 1933. He has been a coach for 46 years in college and pro ball.

Neale, now living in New York, was to work first in correcting the Cardinals' pass defense. He later will assist on offense.

Phantom Lady Equals World Pace Record

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 12 (AP)—Phantom Lady, a 3-year-old pacing filly owned by Walnut Hall Farm, yesterday equaled the world's record of 1:58 3-5 in a time trial at the Lexington trots track.

Driven by Frank Ervin, Phantom Lady's mile equaled the time for age and gait set here a year ago by Pleasant Surprise. Phantom Lady recently was a heat winner in the Little Brown Jug Stake at Delaware, Ohio.

Colorado Has Gained a Total Of 1525 Yards

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 12 (AP) — Colorado's single wing football team, manned by sturdy sophomores in the line and seasoned seniors in the backfield, is ticking off touchdowns and victories so fast their dizzy fans are dreaming of a trip to the Orange Bowl in Miami.

The unbeaten Buffaloes have thundered to four decisive victories with a crushing ground game that is first in the nation. They tacked on 421 yards rushing against Arizona last Saturday night to boost their total to 1525 yards—an average of 380 yards per game.

With Oklahoma ineligible, the second place team in the Big Seven will go to the Orange Bowl if the Sooners win the conference title. Colorado's chances of finishing No. 2 are good—and a championship for the Buffaloes is not an impossibility.

Colorado romped over a strong Arizona team at Tucson Saturday, 40-18, after which Coach Warren Woodson of Arizona commented: "I thought we had a real tough line and I still think so. I can't get over the way Colorado ran right over us. They have a great ball club."

Colorado's other triumphs this year were 61-0 over Drake, 46-0 over Colorado A&M and 27-0 over Kansas.

Coach Dal Ward is cautious and close-mouthed about this Colorado team but he's admitted the backfield of tailbacks Carroll Hardy and Homer Jenkins, wingback Frank Bernardi and fullbacks Emerson Wilson and John Bayuk is as good as there is in the Big Seven—which includes Oklahoma.

Ward has added quite a few T formation plays to the basic single wing he learned at Minnesota under Bernie Bierman.

Seniors Hardy and Bernardi are starred in the first backfield unit. Hardy, who has been used sparingly in the non-conference tune-up games, has carried the ball from scrimmage 17 times for 154 yards—a 9.1 yard average. On four punt returns he's averaged 20 yards and has averaged 25 yards on three kickoff returns. He's placekicked 10 of 11 tries for points after touchdown. He's carried two pass interceptions 75 yards and completed 2 of 4 passes for 35 yards.

Bernardi, southpaw passer extremely effective on reverses, has a 13.8 yard average in 23 carries. He's completed 3 of 6 passes for 36 yards and has caught two touchdown passes.

Colorado's biggest asset this season is depth—both in the backfield and in the line. There are three first-rate tailbacks, two topflight fullbacks and two excellent wingbacks. And these are adequate replacements behind all of them.

Restore Platoon Plan, Princeton Coach Suggests

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (UP)—Charley Caldwell, coach of Princeton's undefeated team, has made another pitch for the return of two-platoon football.

"I believe we should have free substitutions again," Caldwell said at the Football Writers' luncheon. "I'm as rabid for the return of free substitutions as Col. Earl Blaik (Army coach), and you know how rabid he is on the matter."

Caldwell said Princeton, which had been an enthusiastic user of the two-platoon system when it was in effect, probably would require more than three years to adjust to the current limited substitution rule.

"It takes a team about three years to adjust to the single platoon game," he said. "It may take us longer because we went overboard on the two-platoon game."

Caldwell said most colleges were trying to make their squads at least "two deep" at most positions and that the limited substitution rule has forced many coaches to keep offensive stars on the bench a good deal of the time.

"It's impossible for a boy majoring in education to play 60 minutes of football. He's got to have help. Most squads try to develop a "second player" for each position," Caldwell said. "A lot of good boys now are sitting on the bench because they cost more points than they get for you."

Marshall Paces Royals To 92-to-86 Victory

HOULTON, Maine, Oct. 12 (AP)—A well-balanced Rochester Royals club hung a 92-86 defeat on the Boston Celtics here last night in the opening contest of a National Basketball Association exhibition tour.

The game was the first to be played under the new N.B.A. rule which requires the offensive team to shoot within 24 seconds after gaining possession of the ball. Observers said the rule appeared to speed play up considerably.

Dick Marshall, a rookie from Western Kentucky, paced the Royals with 13.

Patterson Winner Over Ferdinand, Will Meet Gannon Next

Dykes Is Victor in Olla Bout

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, picking his way toward a shot at the light heavyweight championship, has disposed of his sixteenth opponent in 17 pro fights. Esau Ferdinand of San Francisco was the latest to bow before the former Olympic champion on a unanimous decision in eight rounds last night at St. Nicholas Arena.

Patterson, inactive for two months, steps up the pace by moving into Madison Square Garden for the first time Oct. 22 to box Joe Gannon of Washington, a Rocky Marciano sparring partner.

Ferdinand, 169¼ to Patterson's 166¼ pounds, threw the best punch of the fight, a right to the jaw in the last round that drove the Brooklyn Negro to the ropes. But Patterson came back fighing to earn the votes of all three officials, Referee Ray Miller 7-0 with one even, Judge Joe Eppy 7-1 and Judge Americao Schiavone 7-1 The A.P. card agreed with the judges.

Bobby Dykes, the Miami, Fla., string bean, won a unanimous decision over Milwaukee's Ted Olla in a 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway.

On the strength of the victory, Matchmaker Teddy Brenner is trying to pair Dykes with Ralph (Tiger) Jones Oct. 25. Jones knocked out Dykes earlier this year in the tenth round after trailing all the way.

The lanky Dykes, 159¾, used his long left to keep off Olla, 161, a busy body puncher, although he tired down the stretch. In the last round, a long right to the head staggered Dykes.

Judge Joe Agnello had it 7-3 and Judge Harold Barnes 5-4-1, both for Dykes. Referee Mark Conn scored it 4-4-2, but Dykes 8 points and Olla 6. The A.P. card was 6-4 for Dykes. The crowd of 1050 agreed with the decision.

'Ridiculous,' New York Chairman Says of the Olson, Giardello Bout

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Bobo Olson-Joey Giardello middleweight title match, announced for San Francisco, Dec. 15, has drawn sharp criticism from Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

"Ridiculous," said Christenberry last night at St. Nicholas Arena. "They made a match with a man (Giardello) in the hospital. I will have more to say about recognition of the bout when the world championship committee meets in London next month."

Christenberry obviously referred to pictures in the morning paper showing Giardello in a wheel chair after an operation to remove a torn cartilage in his left knee at Philadelphia. His surgeons, however, said he should be able to start roadwork in a month.

The New York chairman also is head of the world committee, organized within the past year to clarify such matters as international recognition of championship bouts.

Christenberry had only a "no comment" answer when asked if he was disturbed by the International Boxing Club's plans to stage its next three title bouts outside of New York state.

Kid Gavilan will defend his welter crown against Johnny Saxton at Philadelphia Oct. 20, Paddy DeMarco is to risk his lightweigh title against Jimmy Carter at San Francisco Nov. 17 and now the Olson-Giardello match is set for San Francisco.

Movies Showed Officials Cost Cornell a Score, Athletic Director Says

ITHACA, N.Y., Oct. 12 (UP)—Robert J. Kane, Cornell director of Athletics, said Cornell would complain to the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Officials that it unfairly lost a touchdown because of an official's ruling during last Saturday's 13-12 loss to Harvard.

Kane said motion pictures showed that Halfback Dick Jackson caught a pass in bounds, then took two steps before going out of the end zone.

"We aren't taking any credit away from Harvard," Kane said. "We naturally will register our complaints. But we recognized it as an honest mistake."

Cornell had a 12-7 lead and had the ball on Harvard's 30-yard line early in the final period when Quarterback Billy Degraaf passed to Jackson. Field Judge Raymond A. Boll ruled Jackson was out of the end zone when he made the catch.

A touchdown would have given Cornell an 18-7 lead. Harvard then drove 77 yards on the ground to produce one of Saturday's major surprises.

Illinois Prep Notes

Benton Back Gains 144 Yards on 14 Tries — Strom, Alleman Star, Counts Five Touchdowns.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP)—A five touchdown outburst by one player and some dazzling ground-gaining achievements by several others topped individual exploits in weekend action on downstate Illinois prep football fields.

Cliff Strom, Alleman of Rock Island fullback, came up with one of the season's best scoring productions by counting five times in a 54-6 rout of Notre Dame of Quincy. The Quincy players got an idea of what was in store when Halfback Lennis Pecautof, Alleman, streaked 85 yards to score with the opening kickoff.

Bob Salata of Waukegan, Dick McDade of Urbana and Carroll Sanders of Benton piled up some fancy yardage in sparking their teams to decisive victories.

Salata averaged 17.8 yards in eight carries against Niles and scored on a 68-yard dash. Teammate Ray Castillo scored twice and passed to End Dave Uimari for another as Waukegan captured a Suburban League triumph over Niles, 34-19.

McDade, a kev performer in Urbana's four wins to date, enjoyed a big afternoon against Mattoon with a 16.6 average in 15 attempts. Urbana amassed 425 yards rushing in rolling over its Big 12 opponent, 40-0.

Sanders, speedy Benton halfback, put on an all-around exhibition of passing, kicking and running to smash Eldorado's three-game win string, 32-6. He carried the ball 14 times and totaled 144 yards.

Other standout individual performances: Halfback Jim Brown tallied four times to gear Mendota's powerful attack against Geneseo. The Mendota eleven was held down for three quarters but exploded for five touchdowns in the final to notch a 41-7 victory, its fourth straight this season.

Halfback Les Frith of Dwight, on his way to downstate individual scoring honors, added seven points against Normal and boosted his season total to 68. Frith's 65-yard kickoff return was Dwight's only counter and Morris took a 20-7 verdict.

Halfback Dick Snowden of Industry clicked off 90 yards with the opening kickoff for a touchdown. But on the following kickoff, Ray Pensinger of Bushnell rolled 90 yards for a score. After that exchange, Bushnell went on to a 31-21 win.

Jim Bretag shone for Ottawa against Dixon by scoring twice, tossing a pass for another touchdown and totaling 103 yards in 11 carries. Ottawa won, 32-13.

Resilient Triumphs in Canadian Title Race

TORONTO, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Killian Farms' Resilient got up in the last strides to win the seventeenth running of the $30,300 Canadian championship, richest horse race in Canada, at Long Branch yesterday.

King Maple, Canada's horse of the year in 1953, set most of the pace in the mile and an eighth race but lost by a nose. Marked Game was third.

In picking up the purse of $23,072, Resilient stepped the distance in 1:54 and paid $11.90, $7.30 and $5.10. King Maple returned $11.70 and $5.70 and Marked Game, a field horse in the betting, $4.30.

Vote of Confidence For Tulsa's Coach

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 12 (UP)—Tulsa University's board of trustees gave Football Coach Bernie Witucki a vote of confidence and squelched rumors that he is about to be replaced by Glenn Dobbs, Tulsa All-American back of the early 1940s.

Pontius said the trustees agreed the Tulsa coaching staff has been doing a "fine" job.

Earlier, there had been published reports that the university was considering a replacement for Witucki, who has been head coach since January, 1953. Dobbs was mentioned as the likely successor. Tulsa has had a dismal season thus far, losing to Hardin-Simmons 21-14, Arkansas 41-0, Cincinnati 40-7 and Alabama 40-0.

Keed Goes Six Rounds.

SUMMIT, N.J., Oct. 12 (UP)—Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan sparred two rounds each with Rocky Tomasello, Andy Figaro and Isaac Logart yesterday and said he would have no trouble in making the weight limit for his Oct. 20 title defense against Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia. The champion weighed 150 pounds before the workout.

Quick Chief Too Quick.

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—Quick Chief from the Farmstead Acres of Brookville, N.Y., equalled the world record for two-year-old pacers over a half-mile track last night in easily winning the $18,975 Twin Futurity pace preview at Yonkers Raceway.

With Billy Haughton, the nation's leading driver, handling the reins, Quick Chief stepped the mile in 2:03. At the end he was seven lengths ahead of Adora, champion two-year-old filly with a record of 2:03.3. Meadow Lo, coupled with the winner and Reed's Knight in the wagering, was third in the field of 11 sidewheelers.

Quick Chief paid $4, $2.70 and $2.80 in picking up $9487.50 to run his year's earnings to $29,168.

Hard Bargaining Indicated in Deal by Which Soviet Union Will Supply More Credit, Build Additional Heavy Industrial Projects for Its Ally.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst.

THE Moscow announcement of a new agreement with Red China is an event of great significance. Among other things, it hints at the existence of strains in Moscow-Peiping relations and efforts to ease them.

Since the Russians are notoriously unwilling to get out of any place once they have a foot in the door, the announcement that they are leaving Port Arthur by next June can only be viewed with suspicion. Perhaps the Red Chinese politely insisted on the departure.

But there was compensation for this, from the Soviet point of view. The communique announced that a railway will be constructed from Alma Ata, capital of Soviet Kazakhstan near the China frontier, through remote Sinkiang to Ulan Bator, the capital of Outer Mongolia. (See Pages 2 and 5, Post-Dispatch Atlas section of Sept. 12.)

Both Sinkiang and Mongolia appear to have figured largely in strains between Moscow and Peiping. It seemed highly significant that Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, on his way home from the Geneva conference, chose to stop off at Ulan Bator.

Chinese Territory.

Outer Mongolia once was Chinese territory. Russians infiltrated it for many years under both czars and commissars. The Soviets caused it to secede from Chinese rule. First Nationalist and then Red China were forced to recognize the permanent separation of Outer Mongolia from China. But the Chinese never lost interest in the area, now designated a "people's republic" by the Russians.

It is also likely the Chinese are not overly happy about gradual Soviet domination in China's Sinkiang province, which the Russians have been draining economically for some time. It is a rich area, twice the size of Texas, with many natural resources, including uranium.

The Russians apparently want to continue exploiting both those rich areas. To placate the Chinese they agree (1) "to get out of Port Arthur, (2) to increase the number of heavy industrial projects they are helping the Chinese to build from 141 to 156 and (3) to extend a long-term credit of $130,000,000.

The Soviet Union also will transfer its share in joint Russian-Chinese companies to Peiping, but this is no giveaway, any more than the economic help is. Both are paid for by what the communique calls "items of usual export" from China. That means more export of what the Chinese can least afford—food.

Russians, both under the czars and under Communists, long have had territorial ambitions in China, and also for a long time have eyed longingly the warm water ports of Port Arthur and Dairen.

Special Rights.

Just two years ago the Russians arranged matters so they could stay on indefinitely in Port Arthur, which they were supposed to quit then under their 1950 treaty with Red China. They first got their feet in the door after World War II under the Yalta agreement giving the Russians special rights in the ports.

In 1950 Mao Tse-tung journeyed to Moscow and stayed two months while negotiating the treaty. There was some hard bargaining, in the course of which the Russians promised to get out of Port Arthur by the end of 1952. But in September 1952, the Russians negotiated a new agreement instead, permitting them to stay on until Japan signed a peace treaty with the Communist powers. The excuse was that there was still a threat of Japanese aggression.

Then, as now, there was no mention of Dairen. Apparently the Russians will stay on there indefinitely.

This time in Peiping, as four years ago in Moscow, there seems to have been more very hard bargaining. Ostensibly to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the Chinese Communist rule, Moscow sent a large and important delegation headed by the shrewd chief of the Soviet Communist party, N. S. Khrushchev. The real reason for their journey now comes out, and the reason for the Port Arthur deal seems to be to convince the Chinese that in the long run Soviet intentions are honorable.

The new treaty shows that the Moscow-Peiping axis still is in working order, because it is to the benefit of both sides. But in the background are the words spoken there in a speech by Premier Chou En-Lai, bringing home to his distinguished Soviet visitors that Red China sets great store by its territorial integrity and sovereignty. For the benefit of the visitors, he repeated many of the things he said when he was touring South and Southeast Asia after Geneva, spreading the doctrine of "Asia for the Asians" and indicating he did not exactly consider Muscovites as Asians.

The new treaty shows that things are still pretty much of a matter of hard and watchful bargaining between the two big Communist allies. It gives a broad hint that there are more strains between the two than appear on a surface overlaid with tremendous propaganda about their "unbreakable friendship."

Red China Decision to Use Diplomacy, Not Force, Reported

By EARNEST HOBERECHT
TOKYO, Oct. 12.

COMMUNIST China has decided it cannot whip the United States on the battlefield, but believes it can get the upper hand in a diplomatic tussle.

This is one conclusion that qualified diplomatic observers here have drawn after careful study of the joint declaration by Communist China and Russia.

They believe the surprise declarations along with the recent charges by Chou En-lai contain sufficient evidence to indicate Communist China, with Moscow's concurrence, has reached the following conclusions:

1. It is impossible to take Formosa so long as the United States is willing to go to war to defend it.

2. If Formosa is to be invaded, some way must be found to insure that United States forces wil not interfere when Communist units launch their attack.

3. It may be possible to keep the United States from intervening in the "civil war" if a way can be found to get America's allies to pressure it to take a hands-off position.

Diplomatic observers here believe that the propaganda offensive by the Communists is designed to achieve the third point—to maneuver the United States into such a diplomatic position that it will have to stand by and not interfere when the Communists launch their invasion of Nationalist-held Formosa.

It was generally agreed that the Communists feel they have a far better chance by diplomatic means than by the direct military approach.

In preparation for their diplomatic efforts, the Communist Chinese got the Russians to agree to giving up Port Arthur. This was a bit of "house-cleaning" which was necessary.

The Communists could not make propaganda of America's efforts on behalf of Nationalist China so long as the Russians held special rights on Chinese Communist territory.

The fact that the Chinese Communists were able to secure Russian agreement to such a plan was taken here as an indication that the Chinese Communists today are in a much more stronger bargaining position with their Russian big brothers than they were even two years ago.

Russian withdrawal from Port Arthur, at least on the surface, appears as a major Russian concession.

Of course, as was pointed out in some quarters here, the Chinese can always let the Russians use Port Arthur, and nothing was actually said about the total withdrawal of Russian armed forces or the thousands of Russian "advisers" from Communist China.

The Communists call for an international conference on Korea was taken as an indication the Reds hope they can get a favorable deal on that problem now, perhaps along the lines of the Geneva agreement on Indochina.

The whole tone of the joint declaration showed the Communists felt their diplomatic efforts, at least at this stage of the game, were paying off and that they had a better chance at the conference table than on the battlefield.

U.S. TO SHIP FLOOD AID FOOD TO EAST REICH, YUGOSLAVIA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Foreign Operations Administration got approval yesterday to begin shipping butter, grains, and other foodstuffs to flood stricken areas in East Germany and Yugoslavia.

These programs are part of a relief plan set up for peoples on both sides of the Iron Curtain who suffered from disastrous floods of the Danube river earlier this year. The supplies are coming out of Agriculture Department surplus stocks.

The State Department said today the necessary negotiations with East Germany and Yugoslavia have just been completed. It is estimated that in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 worth of foodstuffs will go to East Germany and a somewhat larger amount to Yugoslavia.

Printing Speeches Never Made By Congressmen Is Costly

By DREW PEARSON
(Copyright, 1954.)
WASHINGTON.

SUBSIDIZED eloquence of Congress doesn't end with adjournment. It goes on and on in the form, this year, of three extensions to the Congressional Record.

If a member of the House or Senate thinks of something he should have said, but didn't, while Congress was in session, he can still get his unspoken thoughts printed in the Record, up until ten days later, just as though he actually had made a speech on the floor.

Probably because this is an election year, there has been more of this "oratory" extended in the Record than ever before.

Extensions follow three main themes: 1. Republicans defending the Eisenhower legislative record; 2. Democrats belittling same; and 3. Individuals of both parties singing their own praises.

It still costs the taxpayers about $50 a page to print these after-the-bell effusions. In addition, taxpayers shoulder the mailing costs of reprints, being distributed by the thousands in this campaign year.

Champion purveyor of the unspoken political word is G.O.P. Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan. Hoffman has cost the taxpayers about $1040 for the post-adjournment extensions in the Record. He also holds the record for the longest single extension, a 20-page blast at his G.O.P. colleague, Congressman George Bender of Ohio, who led a revolt against Hoffman's handling of a House probe of labor racketeering.

Others who have inserted a lot of free campaign advertising in the Record include:

G.O.P. Congressman Harold Hagen of Minnesota (17 pages, at an approximate cost to the taxpayers of $850).

G.O.P. Congressman Ralph Gwinn of New York (11 pages—$550); Democratic Congressman Abe Multer of New York (13 pages—$650). Democratic Congressman Barratt O'Hara of Illinois (11 pages—$550). Democratic Congressman Michael Feighan of Ohio (9 pages—$450). Democratic Congressman Olin Teague of Texas (9 pages—$450). G.O.P. Congressman Clifford Hope of Kansas (9 pages—$450).

WASHINGTON PIPELINE—The courts-martial of the two corporals who were coaxed back from the Communist side of Korea—Edward Dickenson and Claude Batchelor—are only the beginning. The Army is preparing to court-martial 30 more men, narrowed down from 200, all accused of aiding the enemy while they were prisoners. The Justice Department has been given the case histories of a dozen other men, now civilians. . . . The recent Soviet H-bomb test showered Japan with much more radioactivity than that registered after the American tests, yet the Japanese press was so busy stirring up anti-American frenzy over the death of fisherman Aikichi Kuboyama, the so-called American H-bomb victim, that it hardly mentioned the Russian-caused radioactivity. . . . Actually Kuboyama did not die of radioactivity poisoning but of yellow jaundice which he picked up from infected blood after a transfusion. This was why American doctors were never permitted to examine him. . . . Chairman Charles Wolverton has warned the White House that his House Commerce Committee will investigate the plan to transfer ten top Railroad Retirement Board staff members from civil service to the patronage rolls for job-hungry Republicans.

GALLUP

3 Out of 4 In Poll Favor Armed Reich

Majority Also Thinks Bonn Should Be Given Its Independence.

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.
(Copyright, 1954.)
PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 12.

SECRETARY of State Dulles's stand at the London Conference in favor of rearming West Germany has the overwhelming indorsement of the American public. Three out of every four "informed" voters questioned (76 per cent) said they favored permitting West Germany to establish its own army now if it agrees to fit into a Western European plan.

The survey also finds that a majority of informed voters think the time has come when West Germany should be given its independence.

In this latest survey, each person was first asked:

"As you know, Germany today is divided into two zones. Can you tell me what the zone controlled by Russia is known as?"

More than half (54 per cent) was able to answer correctly: "East Zone."

To this "informed" group, reporters then put two questions. The first:

"1. Do you think the time has come when West Germany should be given its independence?"

The vote:

Yes	53%
No	34
No opinion	13

G.O.P. voters are somewhat more in favor than are Democrats and Independents, as the following breakdown of the vote by party affiliation shows:

	Rep.	Dem.	Ind.
Yes	58%	51%	50%
No	29	36	40
No opinion	13	13	10

The second question:

"2. Should West Germany be permitted to establish its own army at this time if it agrees to fit into a Western European plan?"

The vote of the informed group:

Yes	76%
No	17
No opinion	7

The vote by party affiliation:

	Rep.	Dem.	Ind.
Yes	78%	72%	81%
No	15	20	13
No opinion	7	8	6

Of interest is the fact that people 50 years of age and older —those who have lived through two world wars — are more in favor than are younger people of giving West Germany independence and allowing it to rearm.

FLEESON

Husband-Wife Team Pressing Hard for Oregon Senate Seat

By DORIS FLEESON
(Copyright, 1954.)
PORTLAND, Ore.

WASHINGTON, Hollywood and Oregon itself are intensely curious about the "Adventures in Politics" of Dick and Maurine Neuberger that may perhaps send an Oregon Democrat to the United States Senate for the first time in 40 years.

The Neubergers are the husband-and-wife team in the State Legislature that decided that the veteran Senator Guy Cordon was running out on the power and conservation policies vital to the state's growth and prosperity. Dick Neuberger won the Democratic nomination, and Maurine has been sharing the work in a campaign which has raised more questions about what goes on in Washington than Oregon has heard in decades.

There is deep curiosity about how much of a dent they are making among people normally resistant to change. If it is a real dent and they can attract to the polls the many newcomers who followed the New Deal public power dams to the state, the job is done and the effect on national power policy will be immense.

Hollywood, anyway, has made a post-election date to discuss the just-published "Adventures" book by Dick. And he has shattered the renowned Cordon complacency which has rebuffed publicity and even conversation about his activities.

Cordon a Conservative.

Senator Cordon, a lawyer from Roseburg, is conservative in aspect and action. He sincerely feels he is only adapting himself to the political realities when he supports the Eisenhower partnership power policies and when he led the fight to give the marginal sea oil to the coastal states.

There is evidence that he could not at first take seriously the progressive young Neubergers, who attacked him as a "give-away Senator in a give-away Administration." The charge comes with more force as Neuberger has been one of the Northwest's most prolific writers on power, conservation and related subjects.

Cordon scoffs that he is running against "a Sir Galahad with a worn-out fountain pen." He says defiantly that his record ought to elect him. In fact, he gives the impression that he thinks there is something not quite cricket about the Neubergers' fluency and ability to dramatize the issues.

For example, even his friends admit Cordon has neglected his home fences, and Neuberger will often ask an audience: "Will anyone who has actually seen the senior Senator from Oregon please rise and tell us where?" Especially in audiences where women and young people predominate, there is seldom a taker.

The Eisenhower partnership envisages that for its investment in dams the Federal Government will retain navigation, flood control and similar phases while private utilities get the power to sell. Neuberger claims this resembles a department store partnership in which one partner gets the decorations, elevators and powder rooms while the other gets all the sales counters.

McKay Senses Peril.

One man to sense the G.O.P. peril in all this is Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, an Oregonian who enunciates the Eisenhower policy. McKay's salesman instincts are shown in the fact that he has that rare money-making business, an automobile agency allowed to sell both Chevrolets and Cadillacs. He has been beating the bushes hard, addressing small groups and putting all his considerable knowledge of the Oregon character into the fight. He is reported to have told Cordon to "get the lead out of your pants and get going."

Besides the state's voting habits, Cordon probably has an asset in the slogan that "Oregon can't afford two Morses." The reference is to the stormy junior Senator, a progressive elected as a Republican who now proclaims himself an Independent. Morse and Neuberger are together on power and other issues, and Morse is campaigning for the challenger.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Business in the State

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

We have had a disturbance in our state prison that will cost several millions. Among other things, the license plate division was put out of operation.

Our progressive Missouri government now gives the order for Missouri plates to a firm in Pittsburgh. Is this considered keeping it in the family?

We need all the business we can get in Missouri, I think we should let our state officials in on this secret.

JAMES BIONDO.

Peanut Butter for the Pages

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The Veiled Prophet of Korassan has come and gone. But I wonder if he realizes that with his departure he has left some very unhappy little pages in his court of love and beauty!

I have taken it upon myself to write in behalf of the 14 little pages and their parents who expressed their dissatisfaction to me about the dinner which the children were served at the Hotel Jefferson amid all the wealthy extravaganza.

These little pages who were, perhaps, the best publicity agents for the "royal" subjects—so to speak—were the most forgotten after their services were rendered at Kiel Auditorium.

While the queen and her royal subjects sat at a table lavishly set with delicacies, the pages, on the other hand, were shoved off and served do you know what? Yes—the following:

How elated those little girls must have felt when they walked away at 1:30 a.m. and announced later to their friends that they had a "Royal Peanut Butter Sandwich" at the Jefferson.

I certainly would like to know what the rest of the readers think of this meal. I know how the pages feel and also my friends who have heard about it.

I suggest that next year the V.P. "budget" be arranged so that it will not be quite a sacrifice to treat these little youngsters to what could have been an unforgettable dinner to them. F.P.

Carol Is a Good Girl

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Most men know that some women are hard to get along with, but is it necessary to give female names to those hurricanes which periodically wreak destruction on inoffensive people?

Granted there have been humdingers in the lists of famous women, but we cannot recollect a Carol, or an Edna to have been among them.

What has happened to that overstimulated sense of gallantry and that mammy complex with which Americans have been endowed for so many years? JOSEPH S. KIRK.
San Francisco.

Missouri Was Twelfth

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Oct. 21 will be the anniversary of Missouri's secession from the Federal Union on that date in 1861. It was in old Masonic Hall on Spring street in Neosho, that the legal government of our state, having been driven from Jefferson City by the unlawful provisional government, supported by the Unionist military forces, met and by the General Assembly enacted the Ordinance of Secession.

Incidentally, it may be interesting to readers whose knowledge of our Commonwealth has been derived from almanac histories and clearing-house statistics to know that Missouri was twelfth, followed a month later by Kentucky, to enter the Confederacy.

Had the resources of Missouri been secured to the Confederacy, there might not today confront us the present vexatious questions in our political and social economy.

GEORGE WILLIAM TUCKER,
Historian, Sterling Price Camp, No. 145, Sons of the Confederate Veterans.

Change in the County?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It has been said that the Clayton Courthouse clique has controlled St. Louis county for countless years. If ever the citizen-voters of the county have had a chance to remedy this situation, now is the time.

This is particularly exemplified in the race between Candidate Williams and Incumbent Matthews for the top spot on the county ballot, that of County Supervisor. Having heard both men speak and having observed for the past eight years the actions of one of the men, it is my opinion that now indeed it is time for a change. JOHN D. MAINS.

The Guns Are Silent

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

This is the hour. Now we must speak or be forever silent. "H" bombs, germ warfare and guided missiles are but three of the horrors to follow unless we quickly stamp out these last flickering flames of war upon the island of Amoy.

From 1914 to 1954—for 40 years—we who are now old—have known war, war and still more war. Each horror was to end war but it was war which prospered. The decay was in our culture, in civilization itself.

Detroit. STANLEY UDALE.

Steals That Kicked Back

There are times when only the integrity of the Judges of a State Supreme Court stands between the people of a state and some bare-faced partisan steal by unscrupulous politicians. The attempted raid on the electoral process that has just been defeated in Nevada recalls the role of the Missouri Supreme Court 13 years ago in defeating the Democratic "governorship steal" trickery after the election of Republican Forrest C. Donnell in 1940.

Democratic bosses in Missouri were so determined to take over the governorship in 1941 that they brazenly kept the legally elected executive, Mr. Donnell, out of his office for 38 days. They tried one stratagem after another, but in the end were completely scotched by the Missouri Supreme Court.

The stealers counted on the fact that the high bench consisted of seven Democrats to help them out. It was a vain hope. The seven Democratic judges decided unanimously against the Democratic bosses.

James M. Douglas of St. Louis, then on the State Supreme Court, wrote the decision in which he said: "In our Government the origin of all political power is vested in and derived from the people; it is a Government of laws and not of men." Joining with him were six other Democrats—Judges Gantt, Tipton, Hays, Clark, Ellison and Leedy. Public morality took precedence over party affiliation.

The Republican fiasco in Nevada provides a parallel with the parties reversed. After Democratic Senator Pat McCarran's death, the Republican Governor, Charles H. Russell, appointed a Republican, Ernest S. Brown, to the vacancy. In the hope of keeping a Republican in the seat for the next two years by appointment, Gov. Russell and the G.O.P. leaders set out to block a special election coincident with the Nov. 2 congressional and state election.

Nevada Democrats, demanding an election, took the issue to the courts. When they lost the first round by a District Judge's ruling, they immediately appealed to the State Supreme Court. With two Republicans and only one Democrat on the State Supreme Court, the Republicans presumably enjoyed an advantage.

But party affiliation cut no ice. The three—Chief Justice Eather and Justices Merrill and Badt—were both unanimous and prompt. They relied on the Seventeenth Amendment and quoted its words that "the office of United States Senator shall be filled by the election of the people" subject only to temporary appointments good until the next election.

Concerning the recklessly partisan stand taken by the Republican Governor, the Nevada Supreme Court said: "We can conceive of no more direct opposition to the clear intent of the Constitution."

This makes it the more imperative that the role of "the White House" in the Nevada blunder be brought out into the open. For The New York Times quotes Gov. Russell as explaining that "White House spokesmen, including Vice President Nixon, had urged him to appoint a Republican for the unexpired term and to wage an all-out legal battle for that right, in order to give Nevada two Republican Senators."

If that is Mr. Nixon's idea of fair play in politics it betrays a partisanship that knows little if any bounds. The lesson for the independent voter is clear: He cannot trust implicitly any political party or those who wear its label. He will need to be on guard for his own best interests as the Democratic fiasco in Missouri in 1941 and the Republican fiasco in Nevada in 1954 make only too plain!

Box Office Attraction

The question of what to have a movie star do at a personal appearance has been solved—neatly, we think—by the Twentieth Century-Fox people. All too frequently a personally-appearing star has been no better prepared to sing, dance or tell jokes than to act, and it has presented a problem. Now the beautiful Miss Elaine Stewart, appearing in person at the Globe Theater in New York for the showing of "The Adventures of Hajji Baba," will sell tickets.

It would be pleasant indeed to buy a ticket from Miss Stewart, looking, meanwhile, at her through the grillwork. (Or maybe they will remove the grillwork for this one special ticket-selling performance.) Later on, at subsequent personal appearances, fans might be able to look forward to surrendering their tickets to Gregory Peck, buying their popcorn from Marilyn Monroe, and being shown to their seats by the firm of Mata and Hari. It could be just what the movie industry is looking for—and can television do it?

Calling the Turn in Coffee

Thanks largely to the dogged determination of Congresswoman Sullivan of Missouri and Senator Gillette of Iowa, the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange is being called to taw for the inflation in coffee prices. The Federal Trade Commission charges the exchange, four of its officers, eight of its member firms and the New York Coffee and Sugar Clearing Association, Inc. with engaging in illegal trade practices.

For months the country had heard repeated protestations that coffee at $1-plus a pound was the result solely of weather-damaged supply and increased demand. Then the FTC after months of investigation blew that alibi out of the water. Its report on "unreasonable restrictions" in the market to "limit competition in interstate and foreign commerce" has become the basis of the complaint it now brings.

If the charges are substantiated, FTC will be in a position to issue an order requiring the exchange to cease the practices in question. But this, as any housewife can see, will only be locking the pantry door after the coffee can has been stolen. Stricter Government supervision of the exchange, to prevent abuses such as now alleged from ever occurring, is indicated. The consuming public does not want to pay a heavy tribute in inflated prices again before something can be done about it.

Service on the Perimeter

With the start of its north side park-and-ride run, Public Service Co. has expanded the perimeter parking idea threefold, and that is all to the good. In addition to the North Broadway park-ride, it also is operating a run from the northwest and the pioneer line from Forest Park.

The key word to the success of these experiments is "service." If the company provides frequent service, with seats for everyone, the park-ride lines are bound to attract patronage, thereby combatting downtown traffic congestion. The company should bear in mind, however, that those who use the park-ride do so voluntarily.

When service deteriorates—as it did Monday night on the Forest Park run, and alarmingly so—the customers are going to be tempted to take up the old habit of driving their own machines all the way downtown. In other words, they can afford to be independent—which is exactly what Public Service can't afford.

Reply to the Governor

To Gov. Donnelly's request for federal action to relieve unemployment in Missouri, President Eisenhower has sent a generalized, and noncommittal, reply.

The answer is, in short, that the President expects "further" economic improvement in the months to come, and that his Administration will "continue" to follow policies which stimulate economic growth and create job opportunities.

Missouri and every other state will hope that the President's sanguine outlook is justified. The hope would be stronger if his assurances were expressed in rather more specific terms.

For example, unemployment today would be much worse than it is were it not for a high level of activity in heavy construction. Consistently this summer and early fall, the volume of heavy construction has exceeded that of a year ago while manufacturing and transportation have generally lagged behind 1953 levels. For the "further" economic improvement which the President promises, sustained activity in heavy construction is essential.

Yet only a few days ago the Associated General Contractors of America, meeting in St. Louis, warned that the volume of Government expenditures for heavy civil works is rapidly going down. Heavy work awards for the first seven months of 1954 were 30 per cent below those for 1953, said the contractors, and virtually no new starts of major projects are now being made.

The association urged that appropriations be made to assure an adequate number of new starts on major public works next year and in succeeding years. If this is not done, it warned, the industry may be unable to expand rapidly in case of future need.

Here is a specific field of action where the Administration's intentions can be tested. The Administration has backed an expanded highway program for future years, but does it agree with the contractors that greater public works expenditures are needed immediately? If not, on what other factors does it rely for sustaining a high level of heavy construction?

The Red Flag Goes Up in Hanoi

The gold-starred red flag of the Vietminh has replaced the tricolor of France which had flown over Hanoi, Indochina's largest city, for most of 71 years. Under Geneva armistice terms, the defeated French troops have marched out and the victorious Communist troops have marched in.

It was in 1948 that the post-war tide of Communism ran full with Prague being dragged behind the Iron Curtain. Just six months later the red tide began to surge through Asia. The corrupt Chiang Kai-shek and his inept generals drove their bewildered pings—as Chinese soldiers are called—up against the tough pings of shrewd Mao Tse-tung and his fanatical generals. Mukden fell—Peiping, Nanking and finally Shanghai in early 1949. The Korean War broke and held the spotlight for three years. It ended and a year ago the seven-year war that had been dragging along in Indochina was intensified. Dien Bien Phu marked the collapse of the French and their Viet Namese allies.

Now Hanoi, once a bright jewel in the French colonial empire, is behind the Bamboo Curtain and Haiphong, the second largest city in Indochina, must be handed over to the Vietminh this January. The third largest city in Indochina is Saigon, capital of the State of Southern Vietnam, and already the Vietminh have their eyes upon it. The government and the defensive forces of Southern Viet Nam are, to say the least, very shaky. The puppet emperor, Bao Dai, who sat out the war on the Riviera, continues to thrive from his profits on gambling and prostitution in Southern Viet Nam, apparently indifferent to the Red menace. How long will it be before Saigon goes the way of Hanoi?

In Three States

Down in Arkansas the Democratic party has placed three Negroes on its state committee. This is partial fulfillment, pending the consideration of other prospective Negro members, of the pledge of Arkansas Democrats to put six Negroes on the committee. No such attention has been paid to Negroes in Arkansas politics since the Civil War.

From New York comes the news that the Metropolitan Opera has signed a contract with Marian Anderson, surely one of the greatest vocalists of our times. She will be the first Negro to sing in Metropolitan productions.

In Delaware race-hatred fomenter Bryant Bowles is under arrest for conspiring to break the state's public education law in his rabble-rousing fight on the Supreme Court's anti-segregation decision.

Every day that passes marks progress in the battle to make the United States the land of equal rights and equal opportunity envisioned by the Founding Fathers.

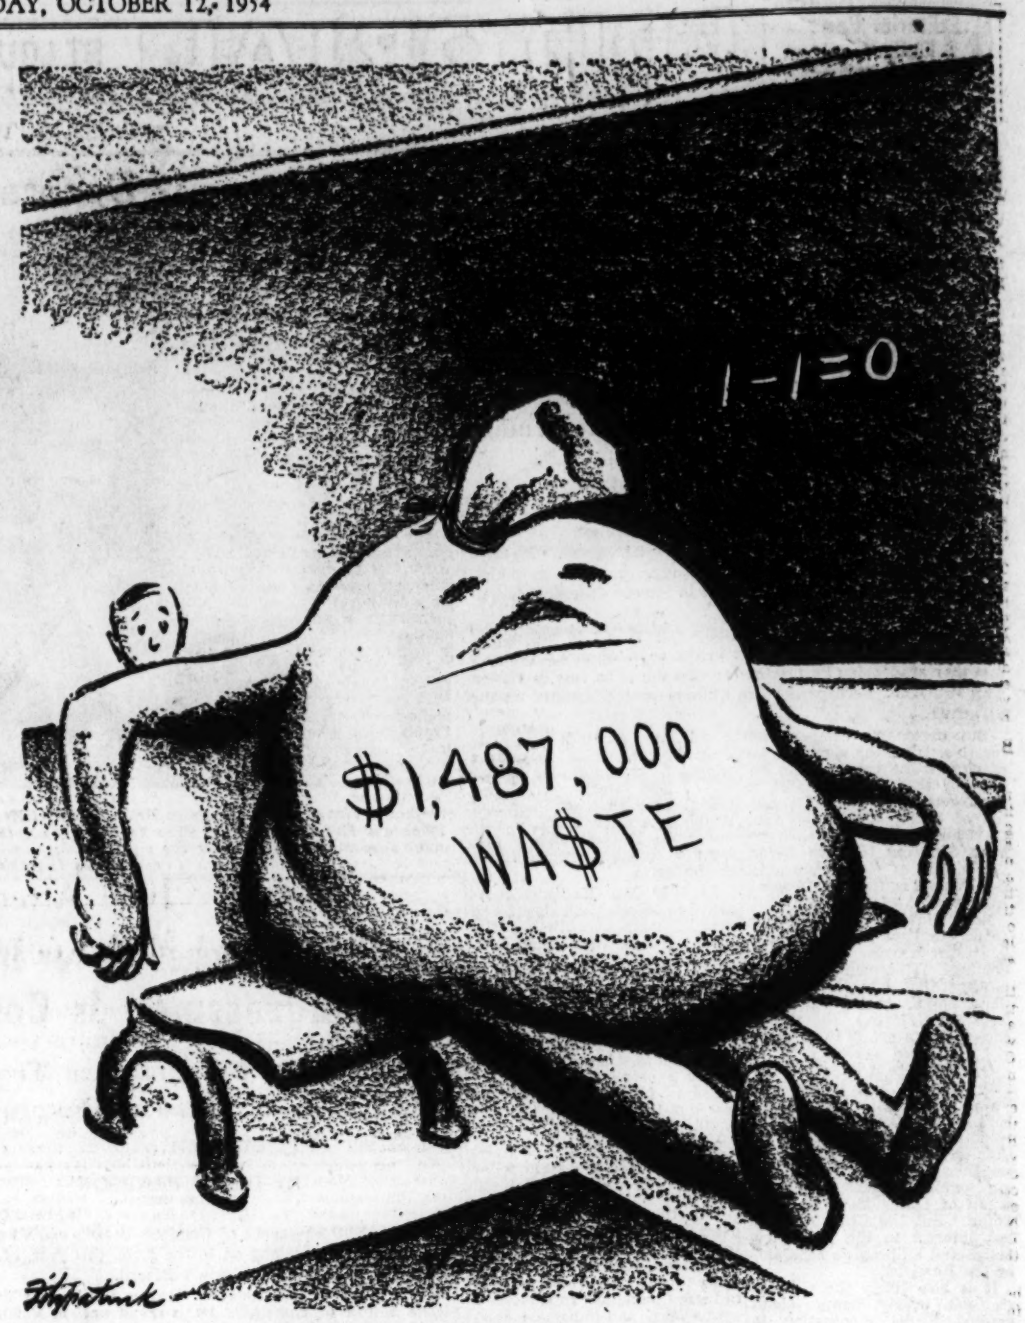
Indianapolis Next Stop

President Eisenhower, doubtless on the advice of his political aids, has selected Indianapolis as the scene of his next campaign speech. He will stop there Friday night on his way back to Washington after eight weeks in Denver and vicinity. His theme, so it is announced, will be the G.O.P. Administration's farm policy.

But why, when he can make only a few major addresses at best in a congressional campaign, should the President choose a state that does not elect a Senator this year? Why, since Senators Capehart and Jenner are holdovers, make a big stop in Indiana when Congressman Martin, the Republican nominee for the Senate in Iowa against the popular Democratic incumbent, Guy M. Gillette, would give almost anything to see The Columbine coming in for a landing at Des Moines?

The answer is that there are too many places where the President is urgently wanted to appear with 1954 senatorial candidates. If he appeared with Nominee Martin in Iowa, then Senator Ferguson would have a claim on him for Detroit, Senator Cooper for an appearance at Louisville, Congressman Bender for a meeting in Cleveland, Senator Saltonstall for a visit to Boston and so on and on. And that would be midterm campaigning such as no President has ever before done.

It was not an oversight when Indiana, which elects neither a Senator nor a Governor this year, was chosen for the President's farm speech. It probably was one of the most deliberate, careful choices yet made for Mr. Eisenhower.



THE SCHOOL BOARD'S PROBLEM CHILD

Columbia, the Gem of Columbus

Contributed by Avis B. Rigg of Eau Claire, Wis.

It is characteristic of Americans to see that every fellow gets his just due. It has always seemed to them that Christopher Columbus got gypped after his pains to discover this continent of ours. The velvet jacket he received, along with some lucre, with a title thrown in, might have seemed greater recompense if the donors had not later added chains in a dungeon.

To celebrate the sighting of the unknown destination by Columbus's small fleet, the Society of St. Tammany, or Columbia Order, 300 years later arranged for the first Columbus day, on the twelfth of October, with a dinner and elaborate ceremonies in New York City. As part of the temporary decorations, a monument is said to be the first one erected in the United States to the honor of Columbus.

After another hundred years, the World's Fair in Chicago gloriously marked the quadricentennial of the important discovery. The annual recognition of Columbus day, established in 1909 in the state of New York, is now listed as a holiday in 40 of our states. Indiana and North Dakota designate it as Discovery day, while Wisconsin realistically calls it Landing day.

A Name for Everything

A survey of the map shows that the name of Columbus occurs widely. Together with its derivative, Columbia, it runs a close parallel with Washington as a place name. Besides the state of Washington and the District of Columbia, nearly a hundred of each appellation mark cities, towns, villages, post-offices, townships, counties, lakes, rivers and creeks.

The name of the Great Discoverer has been given to a university and a religious fraternal organization; to seats of learning of the states of Missouri and South Carolina; to a radio broadcasting system and a World's Fair; to barracks and hospital; to parks and streets; and to commercial products as diverse as shock absorbers and rum. All these in addition to usual memorials of coins, stamps, statues and monuments.

Two places, however, bearing the name of Columbus were frankly designated with political intent. The Quaker John Wright had settled in Lancaster, Pa., in 1726 and established a ferry across the Susquehanna river. More than 60 years later, when Congress was considering this location for the seat of the national government, the name of Wright's Ferry was changed to Columbia as having greater appeal for the matter at hand. Now that lively competition, which came very close to making the town our capital city, is as much forgotten as the vigorous campaigns of men who might have been elected President.

Iron Banks That Was

More than a quarter of a century later, still another town was given the name of Columbus as a bid for the national capital. This was at a time when Congress was contemplating a move to a less vulnerable site than the city of Washington had proved to be in 1814.

"Iron Banks" early French settlers had called red bluffs on the Mississippi river. Here in 1784 when Virginia had granted lands to its Revolutionary War veterans, Gen. George Rogers Clark's men had taken up rights on these Kentucky shores and built a block house. At the time of the Burr conspiracy federal troops were sent to the military post there. With the purchase of the Louisiana Territory in 1803, there seemed reason enough for promoters to proclaim this site of Iron Banks the approximate center of the United States.

Among the earliest records of the town are found the plans that engineers laid out for the city that might become the national capital. For an additional incentive to such an honor, the name of Iron Banks was changed to Columbus. Although the town did not realize its ambitions, the new name remained. It was from this bluff that during the Civil War Gen. Leonidas Polk caused a mile-long chain, each link weighing 15 pounds, to be stretched across the Mississippi in an attempt to prevent Union gunboats from moving farther south.

It will be recalled that military history was made at another town by the name of Columbus, when in 1916 Gen. Pershing set out from the border town in New Mexico to punish the raids of the Mexican Pancho Villa.

One of Ten Thousand

As early as 1786, when South Carolina planned a more centrally located capital than Charleston, it gave the new site the name of Columbia. In 1812 the Legislature of Ohio adopted the name of Columbus for its new capital. In a spirit of enthusiastic admiration for the Great Discoverer, Ohioans may point to Columbus Grove in Putnam county; Columbia Park in Hamilton; Columbia in Stark county, and another Columbia in Williams, not to mention Columbia Stations scattered variously around the state; Columbia Center; Columbia Heights; Columbia Hill Corners and Columbiana in Columbiana county.

In a lesser spurt of zeal, Alabama comes up only with Columbus; Columbus City; Columbia, and Columbiana. Texas has found room for a town named Columbus, which displays in civic pride a rusty anchor, relic of the old river steamboat that carried cotton to Galveston. In Wisconsin is the town of Columbus in the rugged county of Columbia. That state calls one of its numerous lakes Columbus. Minnesota, the state that boasts "10,000 lakes" on auto license plates as its people drive around the nation, has labeled one of the 10,000 "Columbus Lake."

Not the National Anthem

Wyoming has Columbus creek. Oregon has Columbus gorge; Montana, Columbus marsh and Columbus valley. In Columbia bay, Alaska has its Columbia glacier, named by the Harriman expedition when the first scientific description was given to this "grandfather of glaciers," which had been a marvel to explorers since 1794. The state of Washington has its giant Douglas fir named Columbus tree, which even back in 1492 was large with a 250-year growth. Washington also possesses Columbia City and Columbia plateau, sufficiently extensive to be shared with Oregon and Idaho.

And then there is Columbia river! But only indirectly can that turbulent boundary lay claim to the great sailor's name, for it was named to honor a ship, when Capt. Gray of "The Columbia" spied the huge stream. If his ship had borne a cognomen like "The Sacred Cow," one can only surmise what the river would have been called!

Two states almost became namesakes of the great Christopher. Just missing was the state of Washington. Because Mr. Stanton of Kentucky moved to amend a bill by striking out the name "Columbia" and inserting "Washington." In the list of suggestions of names for the new territory of Colorado "Columbia" had stood high.

In fact, "The United States of America" came very close to being "Columbia." Recently this writer was present at a public gathering when memory played a mean trick on the chairman, who announced, "The meeting will be concluded by singing our national anthem, 'Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean.'"

Awakening Continent

THE HEART OF AFRICA, by Alexander Campbell. (Alfred A. Knopf, 467 pgs., $5.)

"The late nineteenth century crashed into the deserts and jungles of a Stone Age Continent. White men of the new machine age came face to face with black men still naked, or wearing skins and carrying spears. And the white men, inevitably, brought ideas as well as guns and rock drills. Inside Africans' skulls those ideas are now exploding with far greater force than a deep-level mine rock burst. . . . The African Negro who has emerged from the tribal life does not want to go back to it. . . . He wants bread, a home, education for his children, and some degree of security. Above all, he wants to be regarded as a human being in his own right."

These are the words of Alexander Campbell, a Scot by birth, a journalist by profession, a resident of Africa for 17 years, and now the Johannesburg Bureau Chief for Time and Life magazines. Many Americans will remember his direct and prophetic comments in the issue which Life devoted to Africa several months ago. Campbell writes well, using a narrative style to carry his theme.

Alexander Campbell

Incident after incident suggests a whole continent in turmoil. One hundred and thirty-four black millions live south of the Sahara, and so do less than three million whites of which 90 per cent are in the Union of South Africa. Inevitably the many will at least be equal to the few. Yet the whites fiercely insist on a status quo of superiority-inferiority, a relationship which even now cannot be maintained without violence.

In South Africa, the Boer nationalist government of Dr. Malan has adopted Hitlerian myths and tactics to deal with the situation: ". . . I had watched the Boer nation being won over to Malan by well-tried methods. Malan's Nationalists stayed home and studied Nazism while Smuts's armies were away helping to fight the Fuhrer."

Perhaps Campbell did not intend a parallel, but he has described the African continent in much the same way as America might have been described one hundred years ago. There is work to be done, progress to be made, fortunes to be won, and a fundamental human issue to be settled. The atmosphere is tense, and a feeling of change is everywhere.

The highly readable "The Heart of Africa" is an excellent book, both entertaining and informative. It is well worth the reading time and deserves wide attention. R. R. HACKFORD.

Guide Book for Parents

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF CHILD CARE AND GUIDANCE, edited by Sidonie Matsner Gruenberg. (Doubleday, $7.50.)

Parents never had it so good in the old days. When you see the way the young fathers and mothers of today are pampered with aids, gadgets and counsel—to say nothing of this excellent, all-encompassing guide to parenthood—you wonder how earlier generations ever came to do as well as they did. This encyclopedia is an enormous tome of more than a thousand pages, covering every conceivable aspect of parenthood. It is written in clear, readily understandable language that even the most harassed or timid of parents can grasp. The major portion of the book is an alphabetical treatment of child care running to over a thousand entries. The rest consists of some 30 chapters in which experts deal with major aspects of child care at considerable length. It all adds up to a big bargain for parents, especially those who like to bring up their babies by the book. This big one obviously has a long and useful life ahead of it.

THOMAS L. STOKES

Halloween Comes Early This Year

DES MOINES.

MOUNTING Republican anxiety over the congressional elections leaves its clues all over. Perhaps one of the most significant, because it seemed somehow so out of character, was the way Secretary of Agriculture Benson dragged Alger Hiss, Harry Dexter White and Lee Pressman into a speech on the farm problem at Algona, Ia., where Republicans are admittedly hard-pressed in senatorial and gubernatorial races.

When the serious-minded Secretary of Agriculture finds it necessary — or someone in Republican headquarters finds it necessary for him—to exploit the "Red issue," then Republicans are in a quandary. The campaign is taking on a Halloween aspect a little early in the season.

Ezra Benson.

Hitherto the Communist issue has been left, on the national level, to Vice President Nixon who is parroting over and over, as he travels up and down the land, the long-exploded hoax of "thousands of subversives" being fired by the Eisenhower Administration.

Bad News Arrives.

The Republican worry thus manifest in the hobgoblin issue is reflected also in the recent gloomy reports to President Eisenhower by a succession of official scouts about the chances of the Republicans keeping control of Congress. That information precipitated the conference of Republican congressional leaders that the President called at Denver last Friday.

First of the bearers of bad tidings to arrive was Representative Charles Halleck of Indiana, House Republican leader who was on his way east from California. He gave the diagnosis—"we are in a hard fight"—which was echoed by the others as the best way to phrase their dilemma: Representative Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, who was on his way east on a tour of the country; National Republican Chairman Leonard W. Hall and, finally, the Vice President.

The President apparently is to become somewhat more active for the wind-up of the campaign, but he still refuses to stick his neck out and risk his prestige further by campaigning for hard-pressed individual Republicans. He couldn't do that, however, even if so minded—there are too many of them.

Not Enough Appeal.

Representative Halleck put his finger on a failure of a major part of Republican campaign strategy, at least as the President himself envisaged the strategy. This was emphasis on the Administration "program."

Mr. Halleck complained about the difficulty of arousing interest in that "program" and he confirmed to the President what anybody who moves around the country—such as this reporter—finds to be true.

Despite all the promotion of the Administration program, it was obvious to anyone who had been around Washington a long time that the "program" lacked the dramatic appeal to voters generally which, for example, was found in other times, under far different conditions, in the programs of the Roosevelt era.

Flop as an Issue.

That was pioneering and lifting a nation off its back at one and the same time. The Eisenhower program, so far as enactments by Congress are concerned, thus far offers nothing new or alluring. It is merely continuation and duplication.

It has been a flop as a positive issue for the Republicans. Yet, negatively, it is being used by Democrats, and effectively in some areas. For instance, many farmers don't care for the part of the program that gave them flexible price supports.

Democrats also are making headway with attacks on the tax law as a rich man's tax law. Likewise, people in the west and southwest are reacting to Democratic criticism of Administration public power, REA and conservation policies.

In view of all of that, it is easy to understand the shift of emphasis to the "Red issue"—and it is really emphatic when they get Secretary Benson into the act. He said at Algona—and doubtless will say again and again:

"The Alger Hisses, the Harry Dexter Whites and their fellow travelers no longer occupy high offices. There are no longer the Lee Pressmans in agriculture. This Administration has been moving forward continuously and aggressively in its campaign against traitors, subversives and security risks."

White Collar McCarthyism.

In his campaign, the Vice President is following the carefully planned strategy revealed by this reporter weeks ago when the Administration finally decided to keep Senator McCarthy out of the campaign. That was to use the Vice President for "high level" or "white collar" McCarthyism in the final stages of the campaign.

He is proceeding according to plan in his repetition of the exploded hoax of "thousands of subversives." He sandwiches this into attacks on Democratic candidates as "leftists," "Trumanites" and so on. Always he yanks out the much-abused ADA, Americans for Democratic Action, as a straw man to kick around whatever platform he is occupying.

QUEST'S ART EXHIBIT IN WEBSTER GROVES

His First Solo Show Here—30 Museums Own His Work.

By HOWARD DERRICKSON

Charles Quest, Washington University art teacher whose prints have been bought by 30 European and American museums, opened his first St. Louis area one-man show yesterday at the Monday Club, 37 South Maple avenue, Webster Groves.

In an age when over-confident hobbyists clamor for solo displays after a few years' Sunday daubing, Quest is indeed a rarity. Now 50, he has been a dedicated, fulltime artist, sculptor and print-maker for 30 years, intensely hard-working and notably withdrawn from the art world's social whirl.

Steadily declining invitations to exhibit here, he did consent to a solo show in 1951 at Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. He is represented in collections now circulating in France, Italy, Sweden and America.

A great reader of current art publications, he unwaveringly has maintained his originality whether working in representational or abstract vein. The new show illustrates how he has been guided by his own well-recognized, personal exploitation of resources of the materials and tools he uses.

Print Owned by 6 Museums.

This absorption with craft marks his best-known work, "Still Life With Vise," of which two out of the artist's three remaining impressions are in the show. Thoroughly representational, this composition has relationships of mass and tone which give that rightness of feeling sometimes experienced in a hardware store by a man who loves to work with well-made tools.

Of this wood engraving the Museum of Modern Art bought five impressions. Single prints of it are owned by Sweden's National Museum, Stockholm; Israel's National Museum, Jerusalem; the British Museum and Victoria and Albert Museum, and the Brooklyn Museum.

Similar sensations are given by "Still Life With Grindstone," purchased by five public collections, including the Library of Congress and Bibliotheque National, Paris. The national library of France, as well as two English museums, owns the gently rhythmical, wonderfully lyrical "Break Forth Into Singing and Cry Aloud."

The show, consisting of 40 prints, covers Quest's production from 1947 to date. His latest work is in color and utilizes as many as eight blocks, as in the realistic, clamorous-hued "Railroad Crossing." In all, 13 of the prints are in color.

Demarcation between abstraction and representation is hard to draw in such deliberately ambiguous, subtly orchestrated compositions as the seven-block "Fish Nets" and the six-block "Ascending Forms," in which a carefully chosen section of the wood's natural plank grain adds textural richness.

Museum Lecturer's Talk.

Fully abstract is "Prometheus," a recent work that is in the collection of Perry T. Rathbone, director of the City Art Museum. Bringing of fire to mankind is symbolized by flaming reds and yellows against warm and satisfying earth tones.

Miss Jaquelin Ambler, assistant supervisor of education at the museum, gave a lecture on the artist's tools, techniques and achievements yesterday at the opening of the show. Quest's invariable rule is to print enough impressions to be able to select an edition of 15 or 20 perfect in every detail, then to destroy all the others and cancel the blocks.

The exhibition will run through October, being open to the public whenever the club is in use for its usual round of activities.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's seventieth birthday was marked by a dinner of 1000 political, welfare and civic leaders at the Hotel Roosevelt here and by an outpouring of birthday greetings which swamped her secretary.

Some of the messages from world leaders and humble admirers in all parts of the globe were bound in a huge volume, which was presented to Mrs. Roosevelt at the dinner last night.

Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York, speaking at the dinner, called Mrs. Roosevelt "first lady of the world," and a "symbol of compassion and humanitarism."

"No woman in modern history," he said, "has achieved what you have achieved in the way you have achieved it. You have moved mountains in the long struggle for human equality and equal rights of all people regardless of race, creed or color.

Mrs. Roosevelt's energies at the moment, the Senate continued, were centered in her efforts for the American Association for the United Nations, of which she is chairman of the board. He described her purpose as being to "secure for the United Nations, men's last and best hope for peace in the world, the increasing confidence of peace-loving people here and abroad."

Mrs. Roosevelt was seated on the dais between U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, and New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner. Edward R. Murrow, radio and television commentator, was master of ceremonies.

Others at the dais were Trygve Lie, former U.N. Secretary-General; Ralph Bunche; John D. Rockefeller III; Bernard M. Baruch; Henry Morgenthau Jr., chairman of the dinner committee; Gardner Cowles, Dr. James Shotwell, and John Mason Brown.

Three of Mrs. Roosevelt's four sons, James, Franklin D. Jr. and John were present with their wives. Also present from California where she now lives was Mrs. Roosevelt's daughter, Anna, now Mrs. James A. Halsted.

By the Associated Press.

Hammarskjold praised Mrs. Roosevelt's work as former U.N. delegate, and chairman of the U.N. Commission on Human Rights, and her recent tireless efforts to enlist support for the U.N. among Americans.

He added that she deserved thanks, too, for "simply being herself."

"Millions of people all over the world think of Mrs. Roosevelt as their friend," he said.

Other notables voiced similar sentiments. And Andrei Visinsky, Soviet Union delegate with whom she often sparred at U.N. sessions, showed up with his wife and, beaming, wished her a happy birthday.

Messaged tributes came from President Eisenhower, former President Truman, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Indian Prime Minister Nehru and many other famous men who had known her during her long public career at the White House or at the United Nations.

The President said he and Mrs. Eisenhower wished her "many more happy birthdays," adding:

"Since 1933, when she came upon the national scene as the wife of the President, she has carved out for herself, by her own multitudinous activities, a prominent place in our country's life."

While the thousand guests sang "Happy Birthday," she cut a four-foot-high birthday cake—with U.N. flags instead of candles. The cake was prepared as a tribute from members of a bakery workers union.

Near the end of the long, crowded but somehow intimate party, Mrs. Roosevelt said a few words herself.

She said the country was strong, and should now look for a spiritually stronger base for democracy. Americans should, she said, "take hold of ourselves, look at ourselves."

"And," she added, "cease being afraid."

Mrs. Roosevelt, who had her family birthday celebration at her Hyde Park cottage Sunday, went to the formal dinner after her usual busy day.

CHIEF JUSTICE PAYS TRIBUTE TO JACKSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren and his seven remaining associates today paid tribute to the memory of Justice Robert H. Jackson at funeral services in Washington (Episcopal) Cathedral.

Scores of Government officials, jurists, prominent lawyers and friends joined the justices and relatives in mourning for Justice Jackson, who died Saturday of a heart attack at the age of 62.

Justice Jackson's body, clothed in his black judicial robe, lay in state in a funeral home until noon. Then his casket was placed in a central point in the great cathedral wrere only 13 months ago rested that of his friend—Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

The Supreme Court Building was closed at noon, and the court put off all its business until Thursday, the day after Justice Jackson is to be buried at Frewsburg, N.Y., near his home at Jamestown, N.Y.

The cathedral service was conducted by the Rev. Alfred St. John Matthews, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church in McLean, Va., which Justice Jackson attended.

The eight Supreme Court justices were honorary pallbearers. Active bearers were members of the court's police force.

There was no indication in Washington as to President Eisenhower's choice of a successor to Justice Jackson.

Acting Gov. Charley Johns of Florida disclosed he had wired the President yesterday urging the selection of "some outstanding jurist who might be sympathetic to the South's views on the matter of segregation." Johns said he had sent telegrams to other Southern governors asking them to second his suggestion.

Chief Judge William Denman of the United States Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco urged "serious consideration" for Judge William Henry Hastie, a Negro who now sits on the Third Circuit Court at Philadelphia. He wired Mr. Eisenhower that Hastie's selection would "help eliminate the sense of racial inferiority which their prior slavery continues in many of the colored people."

Ignoring Politics Urged in Naming Jackson Successor.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (UP)—Senator John C. Stennis (Dem.), Mississippi, has urged President Eisenhower to ignore "political" factors in selecting a successor to the late Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson.

The prestige of the high bench has dropped in recent years, he said yesterday, and cannot be restored "so long as there is evidence of political considerations" in naming judges.

Stennis, a former judge, mentioned no names but urged the President to chose a new justice with "wide judicial experience." He said he wanted to raise the issue of experience "before personalities became involved." But he asserted "I shall vigorously raise it on the floor of the Senate."

The need for an experienced successor to Justice Jackson is heightened by the fact that only Justice Sherman Minton of the remaining eight members has had judicial experience in the lower courts, he said.

UNITED LUTHERANS REVISE AUTHORITY

Board Given Veto Power and Oversight in Church Matters.

TORONTO, Oct. 12 (AP)—The United Lutheran Church convention today authorized broad, new orders for its executive board to guide over-all church activities.

The board was bested with "veto powers" and "general oversight" over all of the church's national officers, agencies, auxiliaries and committees.

This was a victory for leaders who have maintained the church, largest Lutheran body in America, needed more central supervision. Before today, convention votes—although closely divided—had generally gone against plans to bolster the board's authority.

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the church, said the new policy provides "just about as much" power for the executive board as was proposed in an original plan. However, the original version would have given the board, the Church's interim governing body, "all the powers" of the convention — with some exceptions—in the period between conventions.

As revised, the plan spells out specific new prerogatives for the board, chief of which is power to "review the actions" of all national church agencies, such as missions, education, publication and other boards.

The directive added:

"This power of review and responsibility shall be interpreted as the power of veto of any program or enterprise of any board, agency or auxiliary which shall conflict with or be hurtful to the total program of the church."

In the past the board has been largely limited to administrative matters.

SQUADRON AT SCOTT AIR BASE PLANS OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY

The second annual open house will be held by members of the Eighty-fifth Fighter-Interceptor Squadron Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Scott Air Force Base. The squadron's mission is to protect the St. Louis area in the event of an enemy air attack.

Tours will be conducted to acquaint visitors with its over-all operation, and representatives will answer questions. On the ground, there will be displays of the F-86D Sabrejets and T-33 jet trainers along with equipment required to keep the planes in the air.

In addition, the F-86 flight simulator will be on display. During the open house pilots will make "scramble" take-offs on practice interceptions. The squadron, re-activated in November 1952, participated in the North African campaign and the invasion of Southern Europe in World War II.

PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA OPENS DELAYED SEASON

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Orchestra, its musicians wearing street clothes, opened its delayed concert season last night in a half-filled Academy of Music.

A wage dispute, which had caused postponement of the weekend's opening concerts, was settled late yesterday. The musicians moved immediately into rehearsal under Conductor Eugene Ormandy and were unable to take time out to don formal attire.

The wage settlement, approved 76-17 by Local 77 of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, provides for raises of $2.50 over the old $140 weekly minimum. Similar raises are provided for next year and the following year in the three-year agreement.

2 KILLED, 3 INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

St. Louis Area Residents Are Victims in Crashes in Southern Missouri.

Two St. Louis area residents were killed and three others injured in automobile accidents in southern Missouri.

Mrs. Minnie Waller Helling, 6747 Roberts avenue, Pagedale, was killed Friday night when the truck in which she was a passenger collided with an automobile on State Highway 21 near Ironton, about 70 miles south of St. Louis.

Driver of the truck was Frank B. Waller, 6735 Raymond avenue, Pagedale, Mrs. Helling's divorced husband. Waller, 65 years old, suffered a fractured right foot and injuries of the arm, chest and head. He was taken to Jewish Hospital.

Waller, a foreman of night watchmen for Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney department store, and Mrs. Helling were on their way to Lesterville, Mo. Mrs. Helling was 65 years old.

Driver of the automobile, Phillip E. Oliver, 5821A Dewey avenue, suffered bruises and lacerations of the scalp. Oliver, a salesman, was treated at St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton. State highway patrolmen said the two vehicles collided head-on.

Crawford McCurdy, 918A North Twenty-first street, was killed Saturday night when an automobile in which he was a passenger struck a car and truck on Highway 61 near Cape Girardeau. He was 38 years old.

Matt Lewis Jr., 2931 Laclede avenue, driver of the car, was injured. Lewis, a Negro, was taken to a Cape Girardeau hospital. Highway patrolmen said his machine struck the car and truck as it started to pass them.

Driver of the other car was Earl H. Crites of Cape Girardeau. Howard E. Crites, also of Cape Girardeau, was the truck driver.

BRITON IS SEIZED WITH PAPERS AFTER FLYING TO BELGIUM

MONCHEAU IMBRECHIES, Belgium, Oct. 12 (AP)—A Royal Air Force mechanic landed in a small trainer plane near this village today with a suitcase full of documents.

Air Ministry officials in London said he was Ian Dickson, who flew off from Swanton Morley airfield in eastern England before dawn. They refused comment about the documents, but said Dickson is "all right as far as we know" and will be flown back to England tomorrow.

Dickson, who landed with only a pint of gasoline left, was held by gendarmes until British security officers rushed from a British air base in Belgium to interrogate him.

The British embassy in Brussels said "the man has been placed under arrest and is being taken in custody to Germany, from where he will be returned to Britain."

A villager who saw the plane land said Dickson, in civilian clothes, was carrying a lot of papers when he stepped out of the plane.

SCHOOL MERGER PLAN IN COUNTY ASSAILED

Superintendent in Hazelwood District Challenges Consolidation.

The proposed consolidation of three North St. Louis county school districts — R-1 (Hazelwood), R-2 (Ferguson-Florissant) and District No. 17 (Scudder)—was attacked by Clifford Kirby, superintendent of schools in the Hazelwood district, at a meeting last night at Ferguson High School.

Kirby charged that the St. Louis County Board of Education, although including the Hazelwood district in the proposed consolidation, had failed to give him any reasons for the consolidation and had ignored his requests for information.

Asserting that the Missouri State Board of Education twice had disapproved the consolidation plan, Kirby said: "I do not intend to make my people the guinea pigs of St. Louis county."

The meeting, sponsored by the R-2 Alliance, a school patrn's organization, to discuss the proposed consolidation, was attended by some 400 persons from the three districts concerned.

The consolidation proposal is one of two school district merger plans on which the county Board of Education has scheduled special elections for Oct. 19. The second proposal is the merger of the R-7 (Kirkwood) and Huntleigh Village districts. The Hazelwood and Huntleigh districts have petitioned circuit court at Clayton to enjoin holding of the special elections.

Proponents of the merger of the three districts in the northern part of the county contended at the meeting that the probability of increased tax rates in the Hazelwood district was the actual basis of opposition.

Virgil C. McCluer, school superintendent in the Ferguson-Florissant district, conceded the tax rate in Hazelwood, now lower than in the other two districts, undoubtedly would be higher under the consolidation plan. But, he said, "pride or pocketbook should have no bearing on education of children."

He added that industries in the Hazelwood district, which have been enjoying low tax rates, would bear about 50 per cent of the tax increase.

Other proponents of the merger asserted it would afford a more complete range of subjects in the schools, better facilities for physically and mentally handicapped children, savings in transportation costs and the possible establishment of a vocational training school.

Elzy R. Smith, principal of the Fairmount School in the Scudder district, strongly favored the merger as a solution to his district's problem of providing high school education for residents of the district which has no high school of its own.

He explained the district has a heavy Negro population and had been sending high school students to Webster Groves. As a result of the United States Supreme Court ruling on segregation, this practice no longer would be feasible, he said, adding that neighboring districts have indicated they will not take Scudder's high school students. Facilities would be provided under the proposed consolidation, he said.

GOVERNMENT'S PRIVATE FIELD OF MARIJUANA RAIDED

BELTSVILLE, Md., Oct. 12 (AP)—The Government's private marijuana patch has been raided.

Police disclosed this today in reporting the arrest of Rollin Webber, Washington construction worker, on a charge of cutting the stalks at the Agriculture Department experimental farm. He waived a preliminary hearing and was held under $1500 bond. The formal charge is wilful depredation of government property.

The patch is used in department research program in development of hemp—also known as marijuana — used in rope manufacture.

TV FILM CONCERN SUES MACARONI FIRM FOR $13,260

Suit to collect $13,260 from V. Viviano & Bros. Macaroni Co., 1022 North Seventh street, for television programs which were not used was filed in circuit court today by ZIV Television Programs, Inc., Cincinnati, O.

The petition said Viviano & Bros. contracted in April, 1953, for a half-hour weekly film program entitled "Times Square Playhouse" at $300 per program. ZIV said the film was furnished, but the program was not telecast, because Viviano Bros. contended an option in the agreement permitted the company to reject the film.

Now! Gulf takes out the cupful of trouble in every gallon
...to bring you the new Super-Refined No-Nox Gasoline that gives more power-with-protection than you've ever known.

This lamp is burning the "DIRTY-BURNING TAIL-END" of gasoline which GULF refines out

3 Here's the pay-off for you! Both pistons (above), from Gulf test engines, ran the same number of hours under the same conditions. Clean piston, held by girl, is from engine using new Gulf NO-NOX. Note the deposits on other piston, held by Gulf technician, from engine using the "dirty-burning tail-end" that Gulf refines out.
What's more, besides giving your engine more complete protection, new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives you extra gas mileage in the short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most . . . no knock, no pre-ignition . . . stall-proof smoothness . . . instant starts and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

STOCKS DECLINE ON DIMINSHED VOLUMNE

Late Afternoon Improvement From Lows—Tobaccos Under Moderate Pressure.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—The stock market declined today, but buying support appeared late in the session and cut the losses.

Tobacco shares were under fire and were heavily traded at lower prices. Losses throughout the list went to around 2 points at the most while gains in a few key instances went to between 1 and 3 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down .5 of a point at 135.9. The industrial stock index lost .9, rails .1, utilities .2 of a point, respectively.

(Dow-Jones average of 30 industrial stocks at the close was 1.86 points lower at 359.57, and the 15 utilities .49 off at 59.90, while the 20 rails advanced .02 to 116.93).

The market narrowed 83 issues from yesterdays at 1142 issues. There were 608 losers, 267 gainers, 267 unchanged. There were 25 new 1954 highs and seven new lows.

Trading was down to an aggregate 1,620,000 shares with Columbus day credited with a great portion of customer apathy. Yesterday's total was 2,100,000 shares with the market declining.

Weakness in tobacco shares was the outstanding feature of the market. They started out in large blocks at lower prices and then slipped still more. They steadied themselves in the afternoon at the lower levels.

Brokers cited renewed statement linking lung cancer and cigarette smoking as a cause for the selling.

While most major divisions were lower, many individual issues were higher at times including Montgomery Ward, Royal Dutch Petroleum, Glenn Martin, and Kennecott Copper. The motors resisted the general decline with General Motors and Chrysler steady to higher. The new Chrysler line was shown yesterday in a press preview and Chevrolet today.

CHINESE STILL THERE, BURMESE COMPLAIN IN U.N.

Rangoon Says 5500 Troops Are Getting Financial Support From Anti-Reds.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 12 (AP) — Burma has charged that Chinese Nationalist troops still within its borders were being financially aided and reorganized by "misguided individuals and organizations" from abroad.

James Barrington, permanent Burmese representative to the United Nations, yesterday urged the Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee to speak out against assistance to the Chinese Nationals.

A report sent to the Secretary-General by Barrington on Sept. 27 said "certain so-called anti-Communist Chinese organizations of Singapore and Bangkok have decided to allocate 600,000 United States dollars to maintain these troops in Burma."

Approximately 5500 "Kuomintang troops" have been evacuated to Formosa, Barrington said, but the same number still remain in Burma. He charged that the departing Chinese had turned in only one-fourth of their weapons and concluded that most of the remaining arms still were in Burma.

Barrington praised the work of the Thailand and the United States representatives who had served on a special U.N. joint military committee to take charge of the evacuation.

The Chinese delegate, Chih-Mai chen, countered that the troops in Burma were "irregulars" and no part of the Nationalist army. He claimed they sought refuge in Burma entirely on their own volition.

DOGS TO SEARCH FOR LOST URANIUM HUNTER IN ROCKIES

ASPEN, Colo., Oct. 12 (AP)— Bloodhounds were ordered into a search today for a wealthy sportsman who disappeared in the high, heavily wooded country about 20 miles northeast of here Sunday. Missing is Leonard Thomas, 43 years old, of Aspen and New York, the son of writer Michael Strange who was the second wife of the late actor John Barrymore. Thomas is a half brother of actress Diana Barrymore.

Sheriff Lorain Herwick said Thomas, who owns and operates an Aspen swimming pool, and three Aspen men went to a hunting camp site in the 9500-foot Hunter creek area Sunday. After a tent was erected Thomas told his companions he was going to explore the area and walked away with a geiger counter. The others started a search when Thomas failed to return after a half hour. A six-inch snow covered the region Sunday night. Ground parties and a search plane covered the area yesterday without discovering any trace of the missing man.

ONE OF TWINS DIES SHORTLY AFTER SEPARATION SURGERY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 12 (AP) —Little Claudette Miller rested quietly in her crib today. Her twin sister Constance died last night a few hours after separation surgery.

The 5-month-old Negro twins, were joined at the forehead. Twins joined at the skull have never long survived separation surgery. In a much publicized similar case, the Brodie twins were separated in December of 1952. Rodney, the stronger, survived. Roger died 34 days later after the surgery.

SOFT-FALLING RAIN IS YEAR'S SECOND HEAVIEST FOR CITY

The gentle, penetrating rains of the 24 hours ended at 7 a.m. today were the second heaviest of the year for St. Louis, measuring 1.51 inches. Heaviest was the 4.18 inches which fell Sept. 19-20.

Warsaw, in west central Missouri, was the wettest place in the state with a fall of 2.62 inches in the past 24 hours and 5.50 in the past 48. Clinton had two inches, Columbia 2.22, Belleview 2.30, Mountain Grove and Webster Groves, both 2.05, and Salem 2.32.

Across the river, Dupo had 1.42 inches of rain in 24 hours. Wahlgren said recent showers probably did lawns and crops more good than the heavy September downpour, relatively speaking, because "the rain didn't come down so fast this time."

W. C. LOCHMOELLER CHARGES DEMOCRATS MISRULE CITY

William C. Lochmoeller, Republican nominee for prosecuting attorney in St. Louis, charged the local Democratic administration with "inefficiency and misrule" in a talk before the Second Ward Regular Republican Club last night.

"Evidences of Democrat corruption in municipal government were continuing to mulitply until we Republican candidates for city-wide offices started our series of campaign talks," Lochmoeller said. "Since that time, there seems to have been a feeble effort at window dressing.

"One definite thing we Republicans are accomplishing in this campaign is that we are turning the spotlight of publicity on Democrat activities and, at least, may have contributed something toward checking this trend toward misrule and corruption on the part of the Democrats."

FLORISSANT COUNCIL BACKS COUNTY POLICE PROPOSAL

The proposed amendment to the St. Louis county charter to provide for establishment of a county police department, superseding the present sheriff-constable system of law enforcement, was unanimously indorsed last night by the Florissant City Council.

A resolution giving official support to the proposal and urging residents of the municipality to vote for it at the Nov. 2 general election was adopted at the request of Mayor E. J. Hussey.

The council passed a bill annexing three undeveloped tracts of land bordering its present limits. The tracts, totaling 74 acres, are southeast, west and northeast of the city. Plans are under way for development of them as home sites.

BENSON ANNOUNCES BOOST IN PRICE SUPPORT FOR WOOL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP) —Secretary Benson announced today an increase of about one-sixth in the Agriculture Department's price support for next year's wool crop.

Growers will be guaranteed an average return of 62 cents a pound, grease or raw basis, compared with 53.2 cents for this year's crop.

This boost will not be passed along in consumer prices of woolen products. In fact, it is possible that prices which manufacturers pay for wool will go down and that corresponding reductions may show up in woolen products.

A new wool act passed by the recent Congress authorizes the department to use production or incentive payments as a means of assuring growers the promised price. Market prices of wool will be free to move up and down under influence of supply and demand.

OWEN LATTIMORE PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO NEW CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (UP) —Owen Lattimore pleaded not guilty today to a new perjury indictment charging him with lying when he denied following the Communist line or promoting Red interests.

Lattimore entered the plea when arraigned before Federal Judge Bolitha J. Laws, who set Jan. 10 as the tentative trial date. Laws continued the $2000 bond set under an earlier indictment.

Both indictments stem from Lattimore's testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee during its 1952 investigation of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

AUTHOR ORDERED FREED IN FLORIDA CONTEMPT CASE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 12 (AP) — The Florida Supreme Court found today there was some doubt whether William Bradford Hule, author and lecturer, was legally held in jail at Live Oak on a contempt of court conviction and ordered him released immediately on $2500 bond.

Huie was sentenced Saturday by Circuit Judge Hal W. Adams to pay a $750 fine or go to jail for six months on a contempt citation growing out of his alleged statement to Dr. Frank A. Fernay that Judge Adams was connected with a numbers gambling ring in Suwannee county.

SECOND FHA INQUIRY WITNESS IS INDICTED

DANVILLE, Ill., Oct. 12 (UP) —A second witness before the Senate committee investigating federal housing loans has been indicted.

Suppressed details of a federal indictment charging Vernon L. Gillespie, Sanford, Fla., formerly of Champaign, Ill., with conspiracy to violate FHA rules were disclosed today following Gillespie's arrest.

The indictment, returned last Thursday, named Gillespie, Paul A. Rexroat of Rantoul, Ill., and Maurice S. Bauman of Champaign. Indictment of Rexroat and Bauman previously had been announced.

The grand jury charged that the three worked together in a scheme that involved lining up "straw men" to apply for FHA home improvement loans, the proceeds of which went to Bauman.

The indictment said Rexroat got signatures of "straw men" on blank loan applications, which Bauman then bought from him for $25 each.

Bauman then took the applications to Gillespie, then manager of the Mercantile Mortgage Co., Champaign, who processed them, the indictment said. It said Bauman paid Gillespie $50 per loan.

Gillespie and Bauman both testified about the alleged practices before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, which has been investigating the Federal Housing Loan program.

Gillespie admitted he accepted a total of $3350 from Bauman at the rate of $50 a loan but insisted he did not do anything irregular.

A United States marshal arrested Gillespie at his Florida home Monday. Gillespie has been working in the credit department of an Orlando, Fla., department store.

3 PERSONS ROBBED IN PARK, TWO YOUTHS ARE ARRESTED

Three persons seated in a parked automobile on Government drive, in Forest Park, last night were held up by two men armed with a revolver and a knife. A short time later detectives arrested two youths and said the prisoners were identified as the robbers.

Ural Ent, 6521 Wise avenue, was robbed of $10, and Frank Durmant, 1509 West Billon avenue, was robbed of $25. The robbers took the purse of Miss Shirley Deck, 3015 Brent avenue, Maplewood, but it contained no cash.

The suspects, both Negroes, arrested when loitering near an ice cream store at 4800 Page boulevard, were armed with two knives and a revolver. They made no statement, police reported.

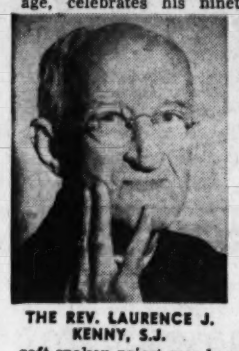
'Mr. Chips' of St. Louis U.

Father Kenny at 90 Has Optimistic View

By Mary Kimbrough

THE Rev. Laurence J. Kenny, S.J., of St. Louis University, whose life span has stretched from the Civil War to the atomic age, celebrates his ninetieth birthday today "just praying and hoping for the best." As a priest, he has a deep faith in the future of the world and of the human race. As an historian, he admits he sometimes has his fears.



THE REV. LAURENCE J. KENNY, S.J.

A member of the Jesuit order for more than 70 years—he entered St. Stanislaus Seminary in Florissant in 1883 and was ordained in 1900—the white-haired, soft-spoken priest was born when Abraham Lincoln was President, and his earliest memories are of the times following the Civil War. Too young to recall Lincoln's death, he does remember how the children chanted, "Hang Jeff Davis to a sour apple tree," and that his mother wept as she told of Mary Surratt's conviction for conspiracy against Lincoln's life.

He remembers the stories told by veterans of the war and how Ulysses S. Grant once came through his boyhood home town of Zaleski, O., where he was born Oct. 12, 1864. He can recall the Hayes-Tilden presidential campaign ("everyone knows that Tilden really won!")

"Some things about today's world are better than the world into which I was born," Father Kenny says. "Some are worse. But if we keep our minds on the good things, we have reason to be optimistic."

THE WORLD of Father Kenny's boyhood was simple and happy, he recalled. There were no automobiles, no airplanes, not even a dream of the atom bomb. He didn't see his first automobile until he was a mature man, but as soon as he saw a half-dozen of the strange vehicles chugging down Chicago's Michigan boulevard, he predicted that it wouldn't be long before men would accomplish another wonder and fly through the air.

"But I wasn't prepared for the jet age," he laughed. "I guess I'm a little slow for that. I knew men would fly, but when someone said they would fly faster than the speed of sound, I thought that was too silly."

EVEN AS A YOUNGSTER he followed political trends, inheriting that interest from his father who was perennially elected town treasurer, and when he was 12 he read avidly all the newspaper accounts of the Hayes-Tilden presidential election.

"I remember when word finally came that Hayes had been elected, the Republicans sent over to Cincinnati for a cannon so they could celebrate," he said. "We all went out to see them shoot it off. Something went wrong the first time and they had to bolster it with fence posts. The second time they fired it, the fence posts blew up. The third time, the cannon blew up. It just disappeared.

"I remember, too, when Grant came through our town and because I had heard so many political speeches against him I recall wondering, 'Why doesn't somebody shoot him?' But since then, I've heard other stories showing that he really was a fine person and a gentleman, so I feel much better about him."

★ ★ ★

HE DOESN'T RECALL when he decided to become a priest, but as a member of a devout family had always been interested in the church. He studied for awhile at a school in Bardstown, Ky., and later in Cincinnati, before coming here to enter St. Stanislaus Seminary. He recalls riding the streetcar to the end of the line at Grand avenue and a narrow gauge railroad the rest of the way to Florissant.

He was ordained in St. Francis Xavier (College) Church and served first as the university's registrar before becoming a teacher in history. With the exception of a six-year stay at the University of Detroit, he has remained at St. Louis University ever since.

But his devotion to the priesthood hasn't prevented his taking a lively interest in everything going on in the world. At the Chicago World's Fair of 1893, and the St. Louis World's Fair of 1904 he was a daily visitor. It was at the former that he marveled at a contraption which "looked like a hearse, only it had steam pipes in the back and you could pay a dollar to sit up beside the driver and ride around the grounds." At the latter, he saw his first blimp race and heard Theodore Roosevelt as the President spoke to a St. Louis University World's Fair gathering.

HIS "BOYS" INCLUDE some of the outstanding men of the St. Louis area, among them Joseph Desloge, the late Mayor Joseph Darst, Representative Melvin Price and the late Representative John B. Sullivan. With each new generation of students he had gained more friends and more legends have grown up around his name. They call him "Mr. Chips" and love to tell about how he used to depend on student assistants to grade papers—then raise the grades 10 or 15 points.

He retired three years ago from the classroom but he is still erect and agile and his eyes sparkle as he recalls the years that "have been happy and good and without a single regret."

"I don't get around as fast as I used to," he said. "But I can still run a good race. Especially when the dinner bell rings."

The Dean

Speaks Up

The Timetable of Grief

By Adele Starbird

"I LAUGH in order not to weep," says the Figaro of Beaumarchais. He might have said, and more truly, "I laugh because I have wept." For it is only when one has made the trip to the bottom of the pit and back again that one really laughs.

DEAN STARBIRD

Grief has a timetable of its own, a habitual rhythm which can be recognized. When it strikes without warning, sorrow is accompanied by shock which last about two weeks. During that time one is unable to fix the attention on anything; diversion is impossible, and oblivion comes only with sleep.

Each morning when one awakens one faces a fresh grief, as if the blow had just that minute fallen; one has to accept it anew each day, it is a part of the immediate present.

And then there comes a time, usually after the lapse of two weeks, when the loss is part of the past. The morning light brings with it remembrance and old sorrow, but no shock. The event has been accepted as something which did happen; it is no longer happening.

★ ★ ★

IT IS THEN that one can lose oneself for brief periods of time. A magazine article or a short story can hold the attention. The visit of a friend gives comfort. One's thinking becomes clearer; the haze seems to lift. A long walk with the dogs in the country brings a grateful fatigue insuring sleep. The healing process has begun.

Healing requires patience, it cannot be hurried. Given its own time, it will finally close the deepest wound, leaving only a bit of scar tissue to show where the hurt was.

Grief itself is normal. Instead of evading it or denying its existence, one should accept it honestly, and give it expression.

JOSHUA LIEBMAN TELLS of the Jewish timetable for mourning. "Seek not to comfort thy neighbor while his dead still lies before him." After returning from the burial, the mourner was to remain in the house for seven days, receiving his friends, lamenting his sorrow, eulogizing the deceased, and reading the book of Job. Deep mourning was worn for 30 days.

The author of "Peace of Mind" points out how psychologically sound was this program. The Jews made provision for the expression of grief, they stimulated it and set aside the time for it. Thus was the mourner restored to mental health. Grief that is repressed or denied takes its revenge in later years in many disguised forms.

A famous American woman has been told by her physician, equally famous, that she will never be well until she has wept for the child she lost. Her picture is in the paper from time to time, and I wonder when I see it whether that stone loveliness has yet found the relief of tears.

"Give sorrow words: the grief that does not speak

THE STRANGEST ALCHEMY is that by which pain, purified and transcended, is transmuted into joy, the joy that follows wisdom. But that happens only when one has passed through the necessary stages. It was a Greek who best and most beautifully described the process:

"God, whose law it is that he who learns must suffer. And even in our sleep, pain that cannot forget, falls drop by drop upon the heart, and in our own despite, against our will, comes wisdom to us by the awful grace of God."

Do's and Don'ts

By Frances Ilg, M.D., and Louise Ames, Ph.D.
Of the Gesell Institute of Child Development

TOYS alone, nor any amount of material advantages, are not—as most of you realize—enough to insure happiness for your child. Most of you have seen totally uncreative children, surrounded by an abundance of things to play with, still whining fretfully that they have nothing to do. Others, more creative, can always keep themselves happy and busy regardless of how much or how little physical equipment is available.

Though there are many different ways of expressing creativity, ont of the most enriching for the growing child is the whole field of artistic expression. Most children, even those with only a moderate endowment of artistic ability, can enjoy themselves in artistic expression, and can grow as they express themselves—if they are provided with even a minimum of necessary equipment, and if they are not too much inhibited by some adult who is trying to get them to draw or paint a "pretty" or "accurate" picture.

SOME OF THE THINGS which you can do effectively to help your child enjoy his own artistic expression and to grow through it, and some of the things which you should avoid doing, are listed very succinctly in Viktor Lowenfeld's excellent book, "Your Child and His Art" (Macmillan, 1954).

Here are some of Lowenfeld's more interestings Do's and Don'ts. We suspect that after reading them you will be eager for the greater detail which you will find in this attractive and excellently illustrated publication. (However, remember that not all children are equally creative or responsive to even the best Do's in the world).

Do's for Parents:

"Do appreciate it if the child has succeeded in expressing his experience.

"Do realize that 'wrong' proportions most often express an experience.

"Don't 'correct' or 'help' the child in his work by imposing your personality.

"Don't regard the final product as significant.

"Don't correct wrong proportions.

Wife of Maine's Governor-Elect to Move From Cottage to Mansion

By Olga Curtis

WATERVILLE, Maine, Oct. 12 (INS).

She's the wife of Maine's Democratic governor-elect, 33-year-old Edmund S. Muskie, and her title becomes official the minute her tall, handsome husband takes the oath of office on Jan. 3, 1955.

By that time, Mrs. Muskie may be used to the idea of moving from her simple yellow clapboard house in Waterville to the 27-room Governor's mansion in Augusta.

But today, the slim young woman who was voted "prettiest girl in the graduating class" by Waterville High School in 1945 admits she's still stunned by her husband's election as Maine's first Democratic Governor in 20 years.

"We thought the election would be close," she said, "but we didn't think we'd win. Why, we spent the summer building two extra rooms into our attic!"

And the Muskies did the "building" themselves—the six-foot-four governor-elect acting as carpenter, and his five-foot-five, size 13 wife doing the painting.

After seven years of marriage, the couple most Maine residents know as "Ed and Jane" felt they needed more than a four-room Cape Cod house to live comfortably with their growing children, Stephen, 5½, and Ellen, 4.

"We were going to do over the downstairs and make a dining room this fall—but it looks as if we won't have the time," Mrs. Muskie smiled.

Instead, the Muskies will be using two dining rooms in Blaine Mansion — the formal dining room, and the family dining room. Instead of four rooms and an expansion attic, they will have four bedrooms and two studies on the second floor of the gubernatorial mansion for their private use.

"They will also have three servants and a cook, as provided by the Governor's budget.

"I've never had a servant before," said the future Governor's lady. "In fact, I've never been in the Governor's mansion!"

The girl who will soon be the youngest first lady in any state was born and raised in Waterville, sixth largest city in Maine. She finished high school and took a job as bookkeeper in a dress shop as a stopgap until she could fulfill her plan of attending school in Boston.

THE man she married already had attracted attention as a rising young lawyer. Muskie, son of a retired tailor who came to the United States from Poland, was born in Rumford, Maine, but moved to Waterville soon after World War II.

He hung out his shingle after acquiring a college degree, a Phi Beta Kappa key, and a year's experience as a high school teacher. Wartime service as a Navy lieutenant on destroyer duty in the Pacific interrupted his law career, and in 1946 Muskie began his political rise with election to the Maine Legislature.

In 1947, he lost out in a bid to become mayor of Waterville, but was re-elected to the Legislature in 1948 and kept climbing in Democratic party ranks.

Then, only 18 months ago, near-tragedy threatened Muskie's rise. The lanky attorney was doing carpentry work on the same second story of the house that he finished this summer when he fell and broke his back. From months of hospital care and months of wearing a brace, Muskie made a spectacular comeback.

He covered 20,000 miles in five months of campaigning after the Democrats made him their candidate for Governor. He told the people: "Maine needs a change."

BUT while she looked the same on the outside, Mrs. Muskie readily admits she's worrying "inside" about the future.

"I may have to send Ellen to nursery school in Augusta," she pointed out, "because there will be so many things for me to do. Stephen will just transfer to another public school—he's in pre-primary (kindergarten) now."

Because she is determined to keep her family's life as simple as possible, she may set some sort of record in official housekeeping. For one thing, she may be the first Governor's lady to do her own cooking.

"I'm going to try to continue cooking," she promised, "because I'm the one who knows what my family likes. The children love escalloped potatoes with tuna or ham, and Ed loves macaroni."

But she may have to give up her own theories of home decoration, and her plans to try sewing clothes.

Furnishings in Blaine Mansion are quite different, formal, historic and a bit ornate. But there's plenty of garden for the children, plus a tennis court.

"I'm sure we'll be able to adjust to life in the governor's mansion," Mrs. Muskie said. "Things may be a little hectic for me, but Ed will keep me from making mistakes. He's been in politics a long time, and he knows his way around."

My Day

Evening With Shakespeare

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

LAST Wednesday evening I went to see "A Midsummer Night's Dream." My feeling was that it was a very enjoyable evening but that the Metropolitan Opera House was too big for the musical presentation of Shakespeare's play by the Old Vic company of London. I was fairly close, in the sixth or seventh row, and I could hardly hear some of the familiar and charming light lines that cannot be said except in moderate tones.

★ ★ ★

I DID NOT FIND as much variety and fire in the ballet as one would hope for in such a good company but perhaps I am not a good judge of ballet. On the whole, I felt that the company at the City Center, which I had seen perform a short time ago, danced with more fire and that their ballet as a whole had more imagination. The evening was a pleasant one, however, and I am very glad I had the opportunity to see "A Midnight Summer's Dream" so charmingly staged and acted.

★ ★ ★

I HAVE JUST SPENT nearly an hour of my precious daytime hours crawling around New York City streets in my little car. What can be done about the traffic.

I don't know the answer but I do know that unless something is done about it shortly, I would not blame anyone for saying they would never come to New York again.

I CANNOT REMEMBER if I mentioned to you before a book entitled "A Guide to Politics," published by Dial Press and edited by Quincy Howe and Arthur Schlesinger Jr. The contributors, except for myself, are all men who should know something about what they write, and when you see what goes on in our present campaigns you will feel that all of us need a little instruction.

We have to practically beg the voters, in this city at least, to go and register in order that they may vote, and you read daily that everyone is worried throughout the country at the apathy being shown by the average citizen in this campaign. What has happened? This is a time when everywhere there are questions of interest in the lives of people to be solved and the election of the representatives who handle these questions is of prime importance to every citizen in the country. One longs to cry from the housetops, "Wake up, you good people, this is your Government!"

How It Started

By Jean Newton

The Door 'Ajar.'

OUR correspondent's question is whether "ajar" as in the expression "leaving the door ajar," is the same word as the "jelly jar," and if so, she asks, "How come?"

The word which serves as a synonym for "open" has no relationship with the other "jars." Ajar has a story of its own; it is an intriguing mite of a word.

Its derivation is from the Anglo-Saxon cerr, cyrr, meaning turn, and having kinship with other Teutonic roots with the same sense, whence comes, for example, the German "kehren," to turn. Out of this came the Old English on char, on turn. And what could be more definitive, better descriptive of an open door than "on turn?" And does this not apply as well to the further use of the expression "ajar" in allusion to discord, as in the allusion to one who is "ajar with the world?"

1. WHO BECOMES ANGRIER AT SEEING OLD PEOPLE RIDICULED—MEN OR WOMEN?
MEN ☐ WOMEN ☐
2. CAN PARENTS AND TEACHERS ALWAYS RECOGNIZE CHILD PRODIGIES
YES ☐ NO ☐
3. THINGS ARE NEVER QUITE THE SAME AFTER YOU LIE TO A PERSON.
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

Answer to Question 1

WOMEN, according to a study of "sex differences" by psychologists Terman and associates. Over 600 boys and girls, men and women (equal numbers of each sex) were asked whether they would feel angry—"very much," "much," "little," or "not at all"—at boys making fun of old people. Calculations showed women would become twice as angry as boys or men. What ornery brutes we mortal boys are when we make fun of things people can't help!

Answer to Question 2

Not half of them. In a study, each of 1000 teachers was asked to pick out the brightest child in her room, and also the youngest. The youngest—whom the teacher often thought a dullard—proved the brightest 53 per cent of the time. Psychologist Jack Dunlap set up a "quiz kid" contest in Rochester, N.Y. Only one child in 100 passed; often that one had been thought ordinary — even slow.

Answer to Question 3

True. A lie sets up a barrier between you and another person. As Alfred Adler said, "It would be ridiculous to lie if you did not fear to tell the truth." But once you have lied, you are still more afraid of being found out. In the words of Sir Walter Scott: "What a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to deceive."

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha:

OUR daughter ran off two years ago and married a man of whom we disapproved. He had been married twice before, he drinks and is such a shallow, worldly person that we couldn't bear the thought of her caring for him.

But she defied our wishes and eloped. We were naturally terribly hurt and upset and her father told her that since she had chosen to marry this man she was no longer welcome in our home. She didn't even seem to care and we haven't seen her since that time. However, we have now learned through a friend of hers that this man deserted her and that our daughter is ill and has no money. The friend said she was too proud to come to us. What can we do, Martha? We felt she had taken herself completely out of our lives, that she no longer wanted to be a part of our family. Is it our place to go to her now? For all we know, she may refuse to see us.

MOTHER.

If she ever needed your love and forgiveness, she needs them now and my suggestion is to get to her as quickly as you can and ask her to come home. If she refuses, you will have done all you could, but I can't believe that as good parents you would be willing to shut her out completely even though she apparently wanted it that way when she eloped. But this one further suggestion: if she does come with you, if you feel that she has learned a terrible lesson and is willing to admit she was wrong, don't keep it hanging over her head. She has had enough trouble without being made miserable by the constant reminder that she was foolish. The kindest thing you can do for her is to help her forget.

Dear Martha:

YOU ASKED ME TO LET YOU KNOW about our progress in "Messengers of Hope" from time to time. As you know, this is an organization of mothers of handicapped children. A few months ago one of our mothers needed a walker for her 15-year-old cerebral palsied son to learn to walk and she simply could not buy one. She wrote me about it and when I mentioned it here and there, the money was given within a few weeks. The mother says this boy now goes over the house and yard and we are praying he soon can walk by himself and someone else can use this walker. We need a mimeograph. The correspondence is too much to do by hand and too, we think a newsletter would be interesting. Also we would gladly have wheelchairs, hospital beds, etc., to be used wherever needed, as well as some typewriters. We have accomplished far more than we ever dreamed and hope to continue helping when and where we can. We are always open for members. Anyone interested should write me at 5327 Geraldine avenue.

GWEN FALKNER.

Dear Martha:

TO THE "MOM" who wrote she is worried about her daughter not going out, I'd like to tell her she doesn't realize how lucky she is. At the age of 10, my daughter slipped off, went to a show with a boy; at 12 and 13 she was dating, and now at 16 she wants to get married. I just wish I could trade problems with "Mom."

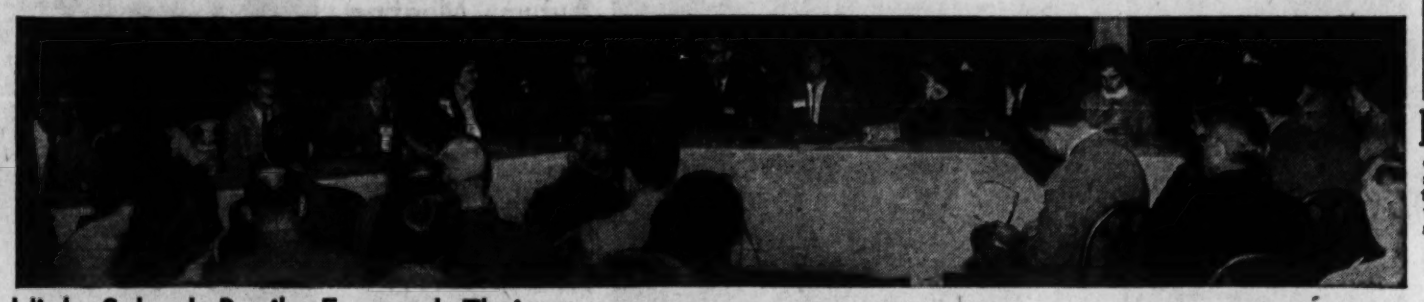
The Teen-Agers Talk About Themselves



TEEN-AGERS GIVE THEIR VIEWS ABOUT THEMSELVES—AND ADULTS—DURING PANEL DISCUSSION AT THE RECENT CONGRESS OF THE NATIONAL RECREATION ASSOCIATION HERE.

High School Pupils Expound Their Views in Panel Discussion--They're 'Rugged Individualists' Who Want to 'Give Something Back' to Leaders

By Mary Kimbrough

WHAT do today's teen-agers think of themselves? And what do they think of their elders?

Here are some of the answers:

They like to be known as "rugged individualists." They want amusement, but they aren't just party-goers. They want to "give something back" to their leaders. They want more adult leaders who will take an interest in them. They enjoy quiet talks with their families.

They want to have their opinions respected. They don't like bossy adults who don't play fair. They realize that a few of their number hurt the reputations of all and think a little less freedom might help.

And, "just so you treat us as human beings, we don't care what name you tack on us."

We sat in on a panel discussion the other day as delegates to the National Recreation Association's Thirty-sixth national congress fired questions at the teen-agers themselves. Five young people, with their leader, Virgil Border, central regional director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, supplied the answers.

On the panel were Wendell Barber, 15, 9220 Niles Place, Affton, Affton High School; Westelle Gaines, 16, 2527 North Spring avenue, Vashon High School; Patricia Brandon, 16, 9507 Lydell avenue, Affton, Affton High School; Ira Dorsey, 18, 1209 Missouri avenue, Vashon High School; Erwin France, 16, Olive Street road, Chesterfield, Clayton High School.

Wendell started the ball rolling.

"Teen-agers," he said, "are rugged individualists. So we can't speak of the average or typical teen-ager. In the field of recreation, we want fellowship, a good time. One way to get this is through physical exercise. But we also need mental exercise.

WESTELLE GAINES . . . "WE LIKE TO TALK WITH OUR FAMILIES."

"There's nothing a teen-ager likes to do better than to talk. Back in the old days, adults thought children should be seen and not heard. I hope you don't think so anymore.

★ ★ ★

"WE want amusement, but we aren't just a bunch of party-goers. We also want to give service. We don't want everything done for us. We want to give something back to the leaders who serve us.

"There are four things that teen-age groups want: leadership . . . and there is a need for this not only in our own community but throughout the world; a meeting place; help in planning—remember, we don't have the vast experience that you adults have; and co-operation in getting the things we need."

Westelle, speaking about recreation in the home, said that parents face a "major problem in trying to find something to suit every member of the family."

"Don't overlook the quieter activities," she said. "We like to talk with our families. To discuss family problems gives us a close feeling of unity. We believe that the ability to co-operate with members of the family and the chance to develop leadership at home helps us in later life."

Ira Dorsey, conceding that there is a definite need—often neglected in today's world—for planned recreation within the family, pointed to the teen-ager's need for community activities as well.

"Teen-agers," he said, "gain much in organized activity. It helps develop character. Athletics, for instance, are a source of teamwork, similar to the good citizen's role in the community.

"But in addition to physical activity, we like avocational clubs, such as chemistry, photography and music. We need guidance in these activities, but we don't always want to be told exactly what to do.

"A teen-ager likes to have his opinion respected. He feels he is adult enough to suggest what he wants to do."

Pat Brandon, whose subject was camping as a widening recreational field, declared that "nothing can ruin a camping trip more than to have two or three sissies along who are scared by a bug."

Of the leaders she said:

"The trouble with some of them is that they are afraid to give the kids responsibility. Teen-agers hate bossy, dictatorial people who are always telling them what to do. Nothing will unendear you to them more than that.

"They want you leaders to be broadminded, imaginative. They want you to insist on fair play. If your team wins because the referee has cheated, all the glory is gone from the victory."

Erwin France said that "in a democracy, it is the right of every child to have an opportunity for good recreation, and there is no justification for the adults' failure to provide that right.

"Teen-agers like to work with adults in planning activities. That very planning will strengthen them. We need more and more trained leaders to help us use our leisure time wisely."

* * *

IN answer to the adults' questions as to the necessary qualifications for leaders, Westelle said:

Pat urged them not to "get childish."

"Don't act silly. Some adults think they're teen-agers when they really aren't. They show up in sox and saddle shoes. Be young in heart but for heaven's sake, don't be juvenile."

Wendell asked that they be "co-operative and amiable. Be with us. Draw us out. Try to get our viewpoint. You can't be good leaders if you do something for kids that doesn't interest you. Leaders should have a good time, too."

Another adult asked:

"Have we gone too far in giving teen-agers freedom? Are we too democratic?"

"I see adults in three groups," said Westelle. "Too strict, too lenient, and just right. My mother tells me to use by own judgment about a problem. I know that means for me to sit down and think about it. And when I think about it, I find I do what she wanted me to do in the first place.

"Sometimes, I think it would be good to take away a little of the freedom that young people enjoy. In our home, a definite time, say Sunday afternoon or Sunday evening, is set aside for family recreation. We are free to come and go as we wish the other days, but we are expected to be at home with the family at this time. Then we take a vote on what we want to do and the majority rules."

In answer to a question from the floor as to whether teen-agers preferred qualified recreation leaders or school teachers to be in charge of leisure-time activities, the teen-agers came up with these statements:

Pat: "We want someone who has specialized, but we don't want recreation crammed down our throats."

Erwin: "It depends on the individual. A teacher can be a leisure-time leader if he remembers he's no longer in the classroom."

Ira: "Either is fine, just so he knows his job and loves it."

Then an adult said:

"Do you prefer to be called teen-agers or youth groups?"

Answering for the group, Pat said:

"So many writers have pictured us as gum-chewing silly people. If that's the conception of teen-agers, we don't want to be called that. But treat us as human beings and we don't care what name you tack on us."

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

IT was not easy for East-West to bid the slam they could have made in the following deal, but their failure in this respect was relatively unimportant. It was East's defense that was so incredibly bad, and so insulting to his own partner.

	♠9853 ♥Q9872 ♦AK84 ♣—
	♠Q ♥KJ1064 ♦J9732 ♣108

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1♣	1♥
1♠	2♥	3♣	Pass
4♣	Pass	4♠	Pass
Pass	5♥	Dble.	Pass
Pass	Red'ble.	Pass	Pass
Pass

East might well have shown a little more enterprise, but it is only fair to observe that it became rather inconvenient for him to cue-bid his heart ace, which was more or less necessary to sound slam investigation. However, a forcing pass over five hearts would have been more sensible than the actual double. At worst, West would have bid five spades; at best, he might have risked a six-club bid.

It is also fair to point out that North's redouble of five hearts was scarcely astute. The opponents migth easily have been spurred to a successful takeout, and then North would have had to save at the six-level, or concede a game if not a slam.

On defense against the actual redoubled heart contract, West thought for a long time, then selected the diamond queen. Dummy won and a low trump was led. East, in with the blank ace, laid down the ace of spades. He stared fixedly at the deuce his partner played on this trick—then led another spade! Declarer gratefully ruffed, drew West's other trump and spread the hand, scoring 600 below the line and 50 above.

It may well be that players should comfort themselves with decorum at all times, but this observer is not inclined to blame West for his biting words across the table. It was dangerous enough for West to open the singleton diamond, and when he made that choice—which, incidentally, was the only lead that could defeat five hearts—it was outrageous for East to hold out the diamond return when West put the deuce on East's ace of spades.

Electric Sanders

AFTER you have worked for three or four hours sanding down a wood surface you begin to get the idea of why electric sanders were invented. Sanding can be dull work but it's darn important whether it's preparing an old surface for another coat of paint or prior to finishing a piece of fine furniture.

There are a good many different kinds of electric sanders in use these days and probably the most common type is the one that consists of a round disc of sandpaper and a rubber disc that can be attached to one of these little ¼ inch electric drills.

This type sander is fine for rough work and for jobs like smoothing off an old painted surface prior to repainting. They are not too hot for furniture refinishing and fine final sanding operations because they are likely to create swirls which is the result of their whirling motion.

For fine work you can use an oscillating type of sander where a rectangular sanding surface moves back and forth and sideways. The smaller types of these sanders can be obtained without a motor and can be used with the ¼ inch power drill.

The large types have their own electric motor. These sanders can be used on all sorts of fine work. For floors, you use a floor sander which is a heavy duty piece of equipment designed for this particular purpose.

Unless you do an awful lot of shop work you may not wish to invest in a good electric sander which is a wise idea. On the other hand, as this sort of equipment can be rented from hardware stores it's sort of foolish not to take advantage of them the next time you have a big sanding project.

The 'Easy' Way

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

"GOING STEADY" in high school, or even in college, can be very tempting for a girl, but it has some serious pitfalls. In fact, just about every argument advanced in favor of it breaks down on examination. For example, going steady is a guarantee of an escort for practically every occasion; there is no necessity for observing the amenities too closely or striving to be at one's best; one doesn't even have to worry very much about personal appearance. It's the easy way, all right. But let Mrs. G. tell how it worked out in her case.

"I know you have expressed yourself from time to time as opposed to going steady," she reminds me. "I'd like to add my own testimony since I can look back from the ripe old age of 23 and as a married woman, and perhaps my experience will be useful to some of the girls who are still studying this problem. During the last two years of high school I went steady with a boy in my class who intended to enlist in the Navy as soon as he graduated. He did so and I have never seen him since. I just went with him because other girls were going steady and it was easier to drift along that way. It certainly simplified my life, but in every other way it harmed me, and I think it will harm any other girl in my circumstances."

SHE CONTINUES: "I didn't take as much part in affairs at school or at church after I began going steady with Hank. I just sat around holding hands with him when I should have been joining some new groups and making myself useful.

"Then I didn't cultivate the acquaintance of other people, even though I knew that Hank would never marry me. When we graduated, I really had no men friends who were worthwhile. In fact, I didn't have many friends even among my own sex, because I had stopped being sociable.

SHE CONCLUDES: "For all these reasons, I certainly did not develop as good a personality as I should have done. I just let down because I didn't think I had to make any effort, I didn't try so hard to keep myself looking attractive or making a favorable impression on other people or going out of my way to be helpful. Hank would invite me anyhow, so what difference did it make? I know now that it made a whole lot of difference and that it will take many years to make up for lost time.

"Fortunatetly I got a job in a place where there was a young man, whom I married. I've a perfect husband, but I would be a better wife for him if I had spent more time learning how to get along with other people and make friends. Tell the girls who read your column, Dr. Popenoe, not to go steady until they are seriously considering marriage."

ORSON BEAN, who is a very droll fellow, and who can transform an ordinary newspaper into the darndest eucalyptus tree you ever saw, served a hitch as "answer man" for a small-town newspaper during a summer vacation from college. Orson, who identifies himself as "Harvard '48, Yale 0," was almost caught out on a limb by the correspondent who demanded, "Where can alligators be found?" rallied at the last moment to reply, "Alligators are never lost." Another reader inquired, "Do you consider Hannibal one of the greatest generals in history?" Orson answered cautiously, "It is beginning to appear so."

Secrets of Charm

Application of Rouge

ROUGE CAN MAKE OR MAR YOUR BEAUTY.

BEAUTIFUL blush or feverish flush—which is the pink of your cheeks to be?

Applied rightly, rouge enhances your natural coloring. Applied wrongly, it can add years to your age. Subtlety is the key to proper use of this (or any other) cosmetic.

Whether you prefer cream, fluid or dry rouge, it should never be applied directly to the skin. Blend cream or fluid color over and into your foundation. Powder first if you use dry (cake or compact) rouge; then powder again, lightly. Because of the difference in application, cream or fluid rouge is best used at your dressing table; that smoothed on over-powder is a wonderful touch-up.

AFTER DECIDING on type, you must choose the right shade, one that picks up and emphasizes your underlying skin tones. For the fair skin with blue undertones, that means a rouge containing the same blue tone: orchid, violet, magenta, purple. For the creamy skin, a rouge that contains yellow is best: tangerine, Chinese, true-red, coral, russet.

Wherever you place rouge, you are creating a shadow, a kind of depression that will, if you follow the rules, play up the point of greatest animation in your face—your eyes. To find the right place for rouge, smile. Your accent area is where the puff occurs. Apply color on a diagonal, hitting the highest point of the checkbone, blending into nothingness toward the upper tip of the ear (avoid the temple area), and lightly downward on the cheek.

★ ★ ★

NEVER let rouge slip into the eye socket; the circles that will result are aging.

Never place it below the nose line (you can establish this by placing your forefinger on a diagonal line just below the nose and across the cheek toward the tip of your ear). This makes the mature woman look older, the teen-ager excited.

Never extend rouge inward beyond a direct line with the pupil of the eye as you look straight ahead. Placed nearer the nose, rouge has the effect of broadening or lengthening it, and of making the eyes seem closer together.

★ ★ ★

NEVER apply rouge as a circular dab of color—this looks artificial. Far better is the soft, widening triangle that blends without any line of demarcation whatsoever.

HOLLYWOOD to ST. LOUIS!

BY ANNE CULVER

ANOTHER WAVE OF OSCAR-ITIS! BRIGADOON has Hollywood peering into its crystal ball for the telltale glint of those golden statuettes. Why? Simple case of adding one and one. Folks out here remember M-G-M's An American in Paris won the last Academy Award earned by a musical. For BRIGADOON, M-G-M reassembled the same grand-slamming team. Along with Gene Kelly—an American in Scotland now—the "Paris" alumni includes the same writer, director, and producer. What with songs of the best Broadway quality, lightning could strike again. Gene dances with explosive brilliance, Cyd Charisse is a dream as his smooth-stepping vis-a-vis, and Van Johnson plays Gene's wise-cracking buddy. Result is a musical so fresh and sparkling audiences can almost sniff the heather. Coming soon—BRIGADOON!

Television Notes and Gossip

BOB HOPE, who will visit England within a few weeks, will film one of his television shows while overseas. Maurice Chevalier and Orson Welles are expected to take part in the program.

Most libraries now report that television is increasing, rather than reducing, children's interest in books. And in many localities, children in the third and fourth grades are asking for books that formerly were considered seventh-grade fare.

* * *

The National Broadcasting Co. plans a three-and-a-half hour program of election coverage on the night of Nov. 2, with special pickups from various parts of the country. The program will be carried by 142 stations, the largest TV hookup the network has ever undertaken for a special event.

* * *

Milton Berle and Mitzi Green will appear in a special "Friars' Frolic" saluting the famed Friars' Club of New York, as part of the Comedy Hour program next Sunday.

* * *

A New York firm called Video Vittles has built up a flourishing business supplying prepared foods for use in television commercials. The company has four full-time cooks, and calls in others when there's an especially heavy demand for its services.

* * *

* * *

* * *

Kukla, Fran and Ollie will observe their seventh anniversary as a television team tomorrow. The Kuklapolitan players have won 54 national and regional awards during their years on the air.

* * *

The American Theater Wing has decided to offer a special program of instruction this fall for actors who wish to get jobs in television. An NBC-TV director and an advertising agency official will serve as "professors."

* * *

Stage and screen star Celeste Holm is so busy with her new TV series, "Honestly, Celeste," that she's decided to accept no offers for stage or night club work this season.

CHAPTER 31.

FOOTSTEPS sounded on the porch, and the door opened. Behind me Eileen gasped, "Papa."

When I looked up, she was in the embrace of Jake Fortune.

I stared at him stupidly. His heavy red face beneath the cream-colored hat held a sober and serious look as he gazed at Earl Seltzman on the floor. Then his gray eyes, wide-spaced, like his daughter's, met mine over her shoulder, and silently asked a question.

"I had to hit him," I said. "He pulled a gun on me, and he was jittery and ready to shoot. Thanks for slamming your car door. It gave me a chance to jump him." I stood up wearily.

Jake Fortune frowned. "Earl pulled a gun on you? Why?"

"Papa," Eileen sobbed. He patted her shoulder.

"You may as well know," I said. "He shot Ralph Hollis—on purpose—and he killed Rex Bishop, because the old man caught him shooting at me."

His frown deepened. "But I thought that Judy—"

"She's out of it," I said, and I looked around for the telephone. "I've got to get the sheriff out here."

Eileen left her father's arms and knelt beside Earl Seltzman. Her fingers caressed his thin, slack face as she murmured, "It's all right, darling, don't you worry."

"I'll tell you about it later. Where's the phone?"

"In the kitchen." He took his head and swore softly.

"Watch him," I said.

He nodded.

The phone was on a shelf above the kitchen sink. I asked for Sheriff John Morissy and got him almost immediately.

"This is Jim Bennett."

"Yes," he said quietly.

"Haven't you gone to bed yet?"

"End of the hunt," I said. "It was Earl Seltzman. You can forget about going to Cleveland. Earl will have a rifle some place, and it'll match the bullet I dug out of the tree, and the bullet in Rex Bishop. I've got Earl out here at Jake Fortune's place."

The line was dead for a moment, and then I heard him sigh. "I see," he said in his grave, quiet voice. "I'll be right out."

"Thanks." I hung up and looked at the gun I'd taken from Earl Seltzman. It was a .25 caliber Colt. The clip was full, with a cartridge in the firing chamber. I put it in my overcoat pocket, along with my own .38, and went back to the living room.

* * *

SELTZMAN was sitting in a chair, leaning forward with his forehead in a palm. There was a bluish spot on the side of his jaw, and it appeared to be swelling. I rubbed my knuckles reflectively. Eileen was standing beside him, a hand on his shoulder, a maternal, tender look on her face. Jake Fortune hadn't moved from his spot by the door. He said, "It's cold in here. I'd better go down and stir up the fire." As he moved across the room, he said to his daughter, "Eileen, make us some coffee." He went out through the kitchen, and I heard him going down some steps. Eileen left Seltzman's side and moved into the kitchen. She didn't look at me.

"Earl," I asked, "where's the rifle?"

He didn't answer.

"The rifle, Earl."

"I don't have a rifle," he muttered.

"You may as well tell me," I said. "We'll find it anyhow, and you'll save the sheriff a lot of trouble. Just tell him the whole thing, Earl. It'll be easier that way—for you, for everybody."

"You can't arrest me," he said sullenly.

"Yes, we can."

"I want a lawyer," he said.

"All right."

"I'll talk to him," he said, "and nobody else. Franklin Hoffman, in Cleveland."

"The sheriff will get him for you. I'm sorry I had to hit you again, but you shouldn't have pulled a gun on me."

He took a deep breath. "I—I didn't know what I was doing. Between the two of you, Eileen and you, I—I lost my head, I guess. I didn't intend to shoot you. I just wanted to scare you, to keep you away from me. I wanted time to think about what you said, and what Eileen said, and—oh. . . ." He began to sob a dry, rasping sound.

* * *

DIMLY below me I could hear Jake Fortune shaking the ashes out of the furnace. Eileen was making domestic sounds in the kitchen. Presently I smelled coffee brewing, and Eileen came into the room. She went past me, paused long enough to rest a hand gently on Seltzman's head, and then went up the stairway. Seltzman, quiet now, took off his glasses and began to wipe them with a handkerchief. His thin face looked naked and pinched, rodent-like, and he avoided my gaze. I heard Jake Fortune come up the basement steps, and his voice came from the kitchen, "Coffee's ready."

"In a minute," I said.

I heard a car stop outside, and I got up and opened the door for the sheriff. His grave eyes glanced at Earl, and then at me directly. "I'm taking your word for this."

"I'll be responsible," I said, handing him Seltzman's little automatic. "Assault with intent to kill. That's enough to book him. I'll be down later. He wants his lawyer—a man named Franklin Hoffman in Cleveland."

Morissy nodded and spoke gently to Seltzman, "Come on, Earl."

"Can you handle him alone?" I asked.

"He won't cause any trouble. I've known Earl all my life."

From the kitchen Jake Fortune said quietly, "Hello, John."

The sheriff nodded, tight-lipped, said, "How are you, Jake?" and laid a hand gently on Seltzman's shoulder.

Earl got slowly to his feet, picked up his heavy red coat from the chair, moved to the door, not looking at any of us. The sheriff said, "Better put on your coat, Earl. It's cold out."

Obediently Seltzman hunched into the coat. Morrissy opened the door. Eileen Fortune came down the stairs. She was wearing the bluish tweed suit with the frilly white blouse, and was carrying a coat over her arm. She had applied lipstick to her small, thin-lipped mouth, her blond hair was smoothly combed, and she looked quite attractive, in spite of the red puffiness of her eyes. She said to Morrissy, "I want to go with him."

"I'll send somebody for it." The three of them went out, Eileen and Earl first, the sheriff following. I closed the door and went into the kitchen.

Fair, Autumnal Weather on Way Back

After a balmy weekend and a wet wash day yesterday, fair weather and autumnal temperatures should return to St. Louis tonight, Weatherman Harry F. Wahlgren predicted today. Showers and thundrestorms were in prospect today, however, for rain-soaked Chicago.

Chicago officials said the city's sewers could handle the new rains, unless they turn into a downpour. The runoff was too much for northern Illinois and Indiana rivers, some of which still were spilling over their banks. Other parts of the nation also were plagued with weather troubles. Two persons were injured and 30 homes damaged by a tornado at Franklin, in central Indiana. High winds forced evacuation of a hospital at Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma City.

Low temperatures in Missouri today ranged from 58 at Farmington to 65 at Malden. St. Louis had 62. Elsewhere, morning minimums varied from a subfreezing 30 at Elko, Nev., to a steamy 80 at Galveston, Tex.

Uncle Ray's Column

SALZBURG, Austria.

THIS city is famed as a center of music, and also as the place where a mighty fort towers above the rest of the buildings.

When I call the fort "mighty," I am thinking of days gone by. One bomb could wreck the place today, but things were different a few hundred years ago. At that time the fort was too high and strong for any enemy to attack with success.

Salzburg, "city of salt," was formerly important for the production of salt. It is in a valley in the midst of a mountain area, the valley of the Salzach river. The stream flows through the city, which is the home of more than 100,000 people.

THE FORT is on a mass of rock near the river. On a cable car, I went up the extremely steep slope and reached the summit of the rocky hill. From there I had a fine view of the river, the valley and the city.

Salzburg has been called "one of the most beautiful towns in Europe and surely the most beautiful in Austria." Its fame for beauty rests in part on the sight which can be seen by a visitor looking from the fort.

SOON after I arrived here, people began to tell me about Wolf Dietrich. He was an archbishop who lived 350 years ago. The high castle was built long before his time, but he ordered palaces to be reared in the city.

We are told that he decided to have the palaces built after he visited Italy, where he saw the richly ornamented structures of Florence and Rome.
